ADOLPH DIAL RESIGNS, JOHN ROBERT JONES ELECTED AT MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS

Pembroke-Adolph Dial, after casting his votes for John Robert Jones who was nominated from the floor by stockholder Henry A. Smith, surprised the Annual Stockholders Meeting of Lumbee Bank by resigning his seat on the Board of Directors Wednesday afternoon.

John Robert Jones was elected in his stead.

Re-elected, along with Jones, were incumbent directors C.W. Maynor, re-elected as chairman; Martin L. Brooks; Larry T. Brooks; Lycourous Lowry; Arnold Locklear; Carl R. Jones; Redell Collins; and James Hunt who also serves as President of the predominately Indian-owned bank.

Jackie Jacobs named to Public T.V. Post

Jackie Jacobs

Pembroke State University and Lumbee Regional Development Association, Inc. announced today the appointment of Jackie Jacobs as Promotion and Resource Director of the new public television station under construction. This station at Pembroke State University was made possible through a U.S. Department of Commerce grant and a significant equipment gift from WECT-TV 6 in Wilmington.

In the initial stages Miss Jacobs will work on a format for program development and be available for speaking and performing dates with community organizations.

In making this announcement, Mr.

Kenneth R. Maynor, Executive Director of Lumbee Regional Development Association said, "We are pleased to share in this announcement about the appointment of Miss Jacobs as Promotion and Resource Director. We are very excited about this joint effort between Pembroke State University and Lumbee Regional Development Association. We believe the expansion and further development of the university into the field of telecommunication is of vital importance not only to the university but also to this community and region in N.C."

"I am very excited. I feel honored to go out and say to all audiences, here are some ways that this television station can enrich your lives.

The only way public television can work is for the people to use it. It's only a medium. The messages--folklore, the music, the farm talk, family heritage, well, all the programming--have to come from the real people," stated Jackie Jacobs.

Dr. Matt Morrison, PSU Director of Radio and Television Communication said, "We are fortunate to have someone with Miss Jacobs' public relations and performance skills to work with us. I think we will see the community and the university in close harmony as together we catch the vision of what public television can mean to all the citizens of southeastern North Carolina."

Jackie Jacobs may be contacted in the Old Main Building, Room 223, phone 521-4214, Ext. 378.

Pembroke firemen honor John Scott

The Pembroke Rural Fire Department honored Mr. John Scott by participating in his funeral services Wednesday, March 17, 1982 at Harper's Ferry Baptist Church.

Mr. Scott, an original member of the Fire Department, served for many years as a member of the volunteer organization.

His coffin was transported from Revels Funeral Home to the church on the fire truck, escorted by members of the Pembroke Rural Fire Department who also served as pall bearers.

Fire Chief Ray Hunt said, "This was our way of showing our respect to a man who served his community well as a fireman."

Chet Jordan to direct 'Strike at the Wind!' again

The 7th season of "Strike at the Wind!" the exciting outdoor drama of southeastern North Carolina, will be directed by Dr. Chet Jordan of the Pembroke State University Communicative Arts Department. This will be his third year with the drama located at Lakeside Amphitheatre just outside of Pembroke.

A native of New York City, Dr. Jordan has taught and directed at Pembroke State University for the past three years. His recent production of "Cabaret" ranks with his past directorial contributions of "Godspell," "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown", and other productions at PSU. He also supervises the Theatre Area program of historic characters, student actors who portray important Americans and present their characterizations to elementary school students in the area.

Dr. Jordan received his Ph.D. from Bowling Green State University and has taught at James Madison University and Sul Ross State University. During the four years prior to his arrival in North Carolina, he served as Artistic Director/General Manager of the summer repertory theatre, The Theatre of the Big Bend in Alpine, Texas.

Of his experience with "Strike at the Wind!", Jordan says, "This production is one of the most realistic of the North Carolina outdoor dramas. The structure of the show is strong, and the actors from the Pembroke, Lumberton, Fayetteville, Red Springs, Laurinburg and three county area, are among the best with whom I've had the privilege of working. One thing our audience can never know is the pleasure of the fine working relationship of the cast and technical crew of "Strike at the Wind!" The value of any theatre production is only as strong as the people involved; that's why I was pleased to be invited to direct the show again."

Jordan says of changes he would like to make this year, "I'd like to return to more of the original script, to add more of the original music, and to aim at greater historical accuracy in the show."

Auditions for the 1982 season of "Strike at the Wind!" will be held on Saturday and Sunday, April 3 and 4, from 1 to 5 p.m. both afternoons at Lakeside Amphitheatre on the grounds of the Riverside Country Club, 3 miles west of Pembroke. Everyone from 8 to 88 is invited to audition for one of the 64 roles or twelve technical positions with the show. "If you are free to join us, and would enjoy a pleasant summer experience," says the director, "please attend the auditions. No experience is necessary, only the willingness to try."

In case of rain, the auditions will be held in the ERDA annex on Route 711 just east of Pembroke. For more information, please call the "Strike at the Wind!" general offices at 521-3112; or Chet Jordan, the director, at 521-4214 Ex. 289.

Again, "Y'all come to the auditions on Saturday or Sunday, April 3 or 4, between 1 and 5 p.m.

Ex-Police Officer Pleads Guilty in Bribery Case

Lumberton-A former Lumberton policeman on Monday was sentenced to six years in prison after pleading guilty to accepting a bribe from a man in return for dropping a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

James Edward Hunt, 31, also pleaded guilty to two obstruction of justice charges stemming from the bribery incident in 1980.

Carl Samuel Stoker, Jr. who claimed that he bribed Hunt with $500 to drop a DUI charge, received an 18-month sentence in a separate plea-bargaining arrangement.

In sentencing Hunt, Superior Court Judge Charles Winberg indicated that he may consider reducing the sentence to five years, which would make Hunt eligible for a work-release program. Hunt is married and has two children.

Robeson County District Attorney Joe Freeman Beitt said he was satisfied with the outcome and would not oppose work-release for Hunt if it is recommended.

Hunt was found not guilty in January of a separate DUI charge. That incident was alleged to have taken place while Hunt was an officer with the Rowland Police Department.

Hunt was suspended from the Lumberton force last April after he was indicted on the Stoker charge. He resigned from the force in August.
