vote and elected the board of directors there and by the democratic process. This writer says the denial of the petition means it probably will be decided by a judge, and it is difficult to find an objective arbiter who can rule on a decision as this is. Not only does this writer and the Robesonian in my opinion, disapprove of the democratic process of legal elections, they do not trust the judicial system either. Are they typical American citizens?
This writer of the Robesonian states his opinion, that because the board of directors turned down the two petitions for a recall election, the directors may have unintentionally sent a message to the membership that any petition effort cannot succeed. I can tell you that any and all petitions will fail, in my opinion, if they are as crude and stupidly drawn as these two petitions were.
This writer of the Robesonian says to "create a policy that in anyway reduces the voices of the members would be a tragic mistake." I agree with this one hundred percent. But you do not destroy and/or delete the votes of those member consumers cast last October 19th, 1982 when they elected these board directors to serve the membership. To destroy the membership voices by destroying their votes would indeed be tragic.

This writer of the Robesonian states and I quote—"we are not questioning the board's refusal of either of the previous two petitions. The decisions were within the boards scope."—unquote. You can call it scope, I call it what it is, intelligence on behalf of the board of directors and respect for the member consumers who elected them to serve and they are serving very well.
In my opinion, writer of the Robesonian, you should have printed the last quote as your one and only paragraph, because the more you wrote, the more ridiculous it reads.
P.S. Did you mail your subscription to Bruce Barton for the Carolina Indian Voice, Voice? You will enjoy reading both sides of any and all issues.

Bruce, I just read of the LREMC Action Group dropping their suit against the LREMC Board of Directors. You and I called this shot a month ago. I have told you all the while that truth and time will give us the answer to any and all issues. God gave us the time to bring out the truth pertaining to the LREMC Action Group.
This writer of the Robesonian should join the Action Group. In my opinion, their thinking is very similar, the elite of Robeson's illiterates.
