MARTIN AND HELMS WIN GOVERNOR AND SENATE RACES

PRESIDENT WINS LANDSLIDE

President Reagan, riding roughshod over Democrat Walter Mondale in 49 out of the 50 states, won re-election in a record landslide that brought new Republicans to Congress and prompted Reagan to boast to cheering supporters: "You ain't seen nothin' yet!"

Once considered out of step with mainstream America, the 73-year-old apostle of conservative thinking captured 49 states Tuesday to clobber Mondale in the GOP's biggest electoral victory ever. Mondale led only in his home state of Minnesota and the District of Columbia.

The landslide victory was as true in North Carolina as it was in the rest of the country. With 2,242 of 2,354 precincts reporting or 95 percent, Reagan had 1,255,519 votes (61 percent) to Mondale's 787,660 (39 percent).

At 7 a.m. EST, with 98 percent of the vote counted nationwide, Reagan had 51,780,290 or 59 percent to Mondale's 35,903,848 or 41 percent. Reagan won 525 electoral votes from 49 states. Mondale captured 13 electoral votes by winning his home state of Minnesota and the District of Columbia.

SEN. HELMS BESTS HUNT

In a victory billed as symbolic for conservatives everywhere, Sen. Jesse Helms on Tuesday overcame Gov. Jim Hunt's challenge and won the nation's most costly Senate race ever Tuesday.

Republican Helms, who took 52 percent of the vote to his Democratic opponent's 48 percent, told supporters the win "sent a signal throughout the country that North Carolina is a God-fearing conservative state."

REPUBLICAN MARTIN WINS GOVERNOR'S RACE

Republican congressman Jim Martin breezed past Democratic gubernatorial rival Rufus Edmisten Tuesday night en route to becoming North Carolina's second Republican governor of this century.

Martin defeated Edmisten by the suprisingly wide margin of 54 to 46 percent, winning most of the state's western and Piedmont counties. Figures this morning showed that with 96 percent of the state's precincts reporting, Martin had 1,144,620 votes to Edmisten's 968,089.

CONGRESSMAN ROSE WINS HANDILY

Democratic incumbent Charlie Rose defeated Republican state Rep. Thomas Rhodes in the 7th Congressional District despite tremendous GOP victories in other state and national races.

By midnight Tuesday, Rose led 59 percent to 41 percent with 106 of 176 precincts counted, a commanding lead he never surrendered.

Contacted around midnight, Rose said he was "very happy with the results I've seen so far. I feel good about it, although I'm disappointed about what's happening in my party generally."

ROBESON COUNTY

Unopposed candidates in Robeson County for four county commission seats, four school board seats and the post of Register of Deeds were easily elected to office Tuesday.

Incumbents Carl Britt, Jack Morgan and H.T. Taylor will resume their seats on the board of county commissioners and newcomer Henry Douglass will be with them.

Winning the four school board seats were incumbents Pete Clark, David Green, and newcomers Catherine Leach and Marion Rice.

Joe Freeman is still Register of Deeds.

BOB JORDAN IS LT. GOVERNOR

Lt. Gov. elect Bob Jordan, soon to be the state's highest ranking Democrat, says he'll work with Republican Gov. elect Jim Martin but maintain "certain allegiances" to the Democratic Party.

Jordan handily defeated businessman and political newcomer John Carrington on Tuesday, surviving the state GOP's best showing in a dozen years that claimed as victims Democratic Gov. Jim Hunt and Attorney General Rufus Edmisten.

With 2,169 or 92.1 percent of 2,354 precincts reporting unofficial returns Wednesday morning, Jordan had 1,057,989 votes or 54.8 percent to 872,703 votes or 45.2 percent for Carrington of Raleigh.

Jordan, a four-term state senator and lumber executive from Montgomery County, will preside over a Senate on which Martin will rely to help enact his programs—including proposals to eliminate the inventory and intangible taxes and the sales tax on food and some drugs.

DEMOCRATS SWEEP BALLOTING FOR COUNCIL OF STATE POSTS

Some got off to shaky starts, but when the Election Day smoke had cleared, every incumbent in the Council of State had won and the remaining spots had been filled by Democrats.

Lacy H. Thornburg, a former Superior Court Judge from Webster, defeated Republican attorney Allen Foster of Greensboro to replace the Attorney General Rufus Edmisten as attorney general. With 78.7 percent of the vote counted, Thornburg led 54.4 percent to 45.6 percent in the race to replace Attorney General Rufus Edmisten.

In the race for insurance commissioner, Jim E. Long, a former Democratic state representative and council to House Speaker Liston Ramsey, defeated Pinehurst Republican Richard T. Morgan. Long had 54 percent to 46 percent with 1,852 of the precincts counted. That broke down to 620,609 votes for Long and 537,842 for Morgan, replacing John Ingram who dropped out to make a losing run for governor in May.

Secretary of State Thad Eure, 84, beat Republican Patric Dorsey of New Bern 55.7 percent to 44.3 percent, keeping the job he has held 48 years. With 1,871 of 2,354 precincts reporting, Eure had 932,127 votes to 732,584 for Dorsey.

Labor Commissioner John Brooks won a third term over Margaret F. Plemons a Republican from Winston Salem leading 54.6 percent to 45.4 percent with 1,829 precincts counted.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Craig Phillips defeated Gene S. Baker in his bid for re-election. Phillips had 55 percent to 45 percent for the elementary school principal from Wayne County after 77.7 percent of the votes had been counted.

Democrat Jim Graham, state agriculture commissioner since 1964, won another term by defeating Republican Leo Tew of Raleigh. With 1,852 of 2,354 precincts reporting, Graham had 58.6 percent, or 946,402 votes to 41.4 percent, or 743,225 for Tew.

State Auditor Ed Renfrow won a third term against Republican James E. Hicks of Conover. With 79.4 percent of the votes tallied, Renfrow had 862,483 votes for 54.1 percent while Hicks had 730,612 for 45.9 percent.

State Treasurer Harlan Boyles was unopposed for re-election, as were Democratic Appeals Court judges Gerald Arnold of Fuquay-Varina, Charles Beeton of Durham.

"A New Day Dawning" at Pembroke's First Baptist

Rev. Charles Locklear, wife Gwendolyn H. Locklear and their one year old son, Jonathan.

by Connee Brayboy

"A New Day Dawning" has been adopted as the theme of First Baptist Church, Pembroke. "This theme," explained Rev. Charles P. Locklear, has been indicated in part by the new commitment to full-time ministry. Rev. Locklear became full-time pastor at that church October 1, 1984. "The new commitment is further demonstrated by the attitude of the people," Rev. Locklear continued. "We are developing new programs to prepare us to deal with new members and prospective members, as well as ministering to the needs of the community."

Rev. Locklear became spiritual leader at First Baptist Church with an impressive background in the ministry. He was ordained and licensed to preach at Island Grove Baptist Church. Afterwards, he served as pastor of New Bethel Baptist Church in Clinton, NC for five years. Following his tenure there, Rev. Locklear was called to South Broadway Baptist Church in Baltimore, MD following the demise of Rev. James M. Dial. Rev. Locklear served in that capacity for one year before accepting the call to First Baptist Church in Pembroke.

Rev. Locklear comes into this new position with a great deal of enthusiasm. "Knowing that I'm under the leadership of the Lord, we are expecting only growth, progress and spiritual leadership. I am indebted to the members of First Baptist Church. They are supportive of me and the concept of full time ministry. They are willing to do their part to insure that our church grows spiritually, first of all, then in size and scope."

Rev. Locklear is the son of Mr. Euthred (Buddy) Locklear and the late Mrs. Louise B. Locklear of Pembroke. He and his wife, Gwendolyn H. Locklear, and their one year old son, Jonathan reside on McInnis Street in Pembroke.

Services begin at First Baptist Church each Sunday at 9:45 a.m. Worship service is at 11 a.m. Church training is every Sunday afternoon at 5 p.m. with Bible Study on Wednesday night at 7 p.m.

Rev. Locklear and the congregation of First Baptist extend a cordial invitation to the public to join them at any time for their celebration of "A New Day Dawning" at First Baptist.

MAC'S VACUUM WORLD!

L.H. McNeill is shown inside one of the newest additions to the Pembroke business community: Mac's Vacuum World. Mac's Vacuum World is located on Union Chapel Road, next door to Hill's and Family Dollar Store. The business is open daily, every day except Wednesday and Sunday.

Mac's Vacuum World offers a complete line of new and used vacuum cleaners and parts. They also specialize in repair work on all vacuum cleaners, parts and supplies. There is 24 hours service on all repairs. If unable to repair a cleaner in 24 hours, one will be provided for your use until repairs are completed.

The Pembroke location is the second Mac's Vacuum World in the county. The other one is located across from K-Mart in Lumberton. In addition to the two vacuum worlds owned by L.H. and Hazel McNeill of Lumberton, they also own and operate the Corner Pawn Shop at the Lumberton location.

L.H. and Hazel McNeill invite their friends to visit them at their Pembroke location-Mac's Vacuum World-for all your vacuum cleaner needs.
