

The Carolina Indian Voice

Published each Thursday in Pembroke, N.C.

Dedicated to Service

Building Communicative Bridges
A Tri-racial Setting.

The Carolina Indian Voice, a weekly newspaper published Thursday in Pembroke, N.C., since January 18, 1973.

VOLUME 13 NUMBER 45

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1985

The Carolina Indian Voice wants to serve you by printing your news. However, in order to better serve you, the staff of The Carolina Indian Voice must impose a 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline that is to appear in the Thursday edition. Advertisers are asked to please adhere to the same deadline (Tuesday at 5 p.m.). To subscribe to The Carolina Indian Voice please call (919) 521-2826. Or drop by the office located on High School Street in Pembroke across from Old Main in College Plaza (two doors down from the Pantry).
SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
1 Year (In N.C.)
1 Year (Outside N.C.)

Navajo Comm. Coll. Library
Tasale Branch Post Office
Chilite, AZ 85003

Supportive Home Environment Played Big Role In Shaping Success Of Ruth Dial Woods

Ruth Dial Woods

Ruth Dial Woods, who was elected during the past summer to an eight-year term as a member of the UNC Board of Governors by the N.C. General Assembly, spoke at Pembroke State University Wednesday as part of the school's "Success Sharing Series," explaining that her home environment had much to do with any success she has achieved.

Mrs. Woods, 49, is a Pembroke resident who is assistant superintendent for compensatory education programs for Robeson County Schools. She earned an A.B. degree in Spanish and English from Meredith College in 1962 and in 1982 received an M.A. in Educational Administration and Supervision from Pembroke State.

"I had a warm, supportive family as I was growing up, and my greatest gift was a loving grandmother. From them I learned such things as love, support, discipline, self control, and humility," she said.

Mrs. Woods said she was "expected to do well." As she grew up, she said she was encouraged to be "competitive."

Her life was molded around her family, home situation, community, church and school. Her church helped to provide her with beliefs and values.

A graduate of Pembroke High School, she said she "was fortunate in that my parents could afford to send me to college." Her father was a principal and her mother a classroom teacher. Both are deceased.

Only 15 when she finished high school (she took summer work in finishing in three years), she attended Meredith College for three years and then became a "willing dropout." She moved to Detroit, "decided I'd get married, and did."

While in Detroit, this young lady with "an inquiring mind and a willingness to learn" took courses at Wayne State University. She later returned to Meredith College after six years and completed the fourth year of her education.

Mrs. Woods has broadened her education, studying at the University of Michigan, Appalachian State University, East Carolina University, N.C. Central University and UNC-Chapel Hill.

Her achievements are monumental. John Carter, PSU director of alumni affairs, read part of them in introducing her for the sharing session.

In her opening remarks, Mrs. Woods said, "Success means something different to each of us. I keep thinking when I grow up, I'll be successful. I consider myself still growing. I don't think I've grown up yet."

Later she stated she wants to earn her doctoral degree and that others have encouraged her toward this goal.

"I've had many, many opportunities. I've taken advantage of these and I've been helped by many, many people," she noted, mentioning some names in the audience. Mrs. Woods said there were opportunities for service, leadership, and making contributions.

Admitting that she can "accept things and not let my feelings get hurt," Mrs. Woods still maintained "whatever I set out to do, I want to accomplish." She said success is achieved by being "goal-oriented."

She said the problem with many people not achieving their goal is lack of self-confidence. "They don't have the nurturing, they have a fear of failure, and a lack of commitment."

Mrs. Woods said, "We're all different and all unique. We need to believe in ourselves, that this is where our talents lie. We are all capable of success if we are willing to pay the price."

Mrs. Woods is married to Noah Woods, principal of Magnolia School in the Robeson County School System. There are six children in their family.

In conclusion, Mrs. Woods said in addressing the students in her audience: "I sincerely wish for each of you that you will utilize your experiences here at Pembroke State University to begin your vision quest, building upon your background, your cultural conditioning and your pursuit of learning and life's purpose to set your goals without fear and without lack of confidence in your ability to succeed, realizing that in setting goals, you have full control of your destiny."

Mrs. Woods closed by reading these words by Beattie Anderson Stanley. They are as follows:

"He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has enjoyed the truth of pure women, the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world a better place than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a pretty poem, or a rescued soul; who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who has always looked for the best in others and given them the best he had; whose life was an inspiration, whose memory a benediction."

West Robeson Wrestling Team Looks Forward to Improved Year

The high school wrestling season is just around the corner and the West Robeson team members have been working hard to erase their past performances over the last two years. George Bancroft is the new coach of the program this year. He believes West Robeson can have a good program if the young people will be a bit more disciplined and committed to their desire of wanting to win. "When this does happen, then I believe this team could be a conference contender and then a state contender in the very near future."

The team has been learning a lot of moves to out maneuver their opponents as well as a lot of conditioning for the boy and mind, according to Bancroft. There are not that many kids out for the team as usual, he said, but that is because most of the students know little about the sport and they think they will get hurt.

"There are by far more serious injuries in basketball and even bicycling than wrestling," the coach said. "The students who are out for wrestling are really looking good."

Returning from last year's team is Conference Champion Randy Smith at 155-167. Randy is a good athlete and a hard worker, the coach said. "He has potential to be a state qualifier." Also returning is Harvey Deese at 98 lbs. He is another quality performer in the lineup. Greg Sampson should provide strength as should returnee Timmie Maynor and possibly Lynn Burns. Finally, Mickey Locklear at 112 lbs and Neil Sanderson at 185 lbs also return from last year's team.

Meanwhile, Randy Fraley, vice president of operations of Fayetteville Cablevision, wants the WPSU-TV programs on his network as soon as possible. "We plan to start work. Gen. Bernard Loeffke, chief of staff of the 18th Airborne Corps of Ft. Bragg, is being interviewed by Dr. them Thursday (Dec. 5)," he said.

Fayetteville Cablevision will put on the PSU programs at 6 p.m. on the first Thursday of each month on its C-Span channel. "The time will be from 6-7 p.m. We will piggy-back 30-minute programs back to back," said Earl Larkins, communications manager of the Fayetteville station.

Fraley added this optimistic note concerning the Fayetteville station: "After April or May of 1986, we should have a channel which can give Pembroke State more time for its program."

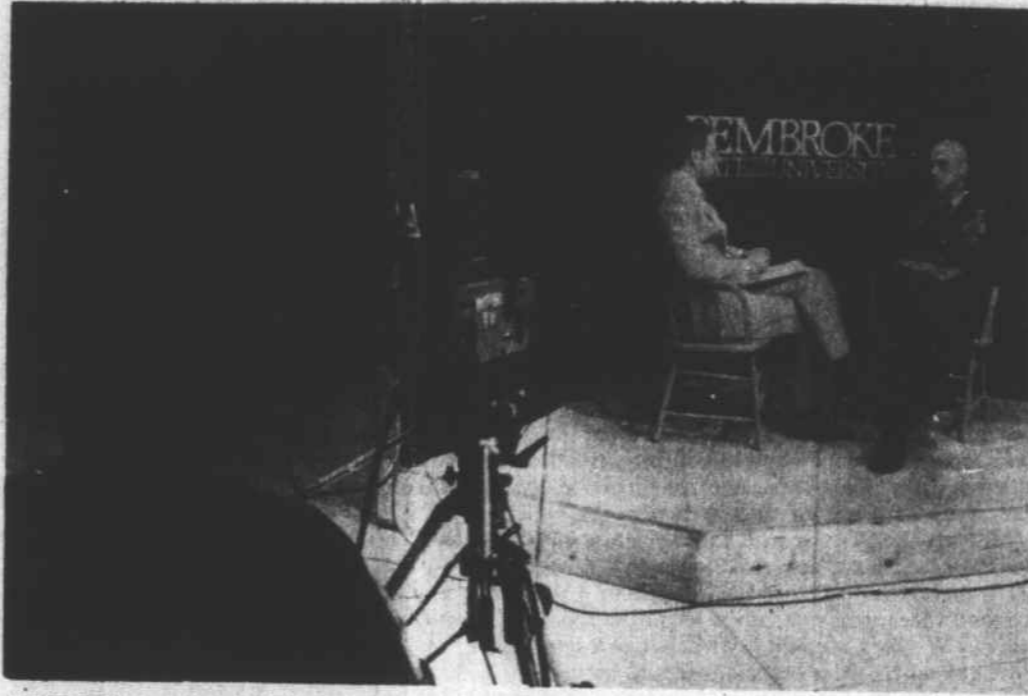

The two initial PSU 30-minute programs on Fayetteville Cablevision Dec. 5 will be (1) an interview with Brig. Gen. Bernard Loeffke, chief of staff of the 18th Airborne Corps of Fort Bragg, and (2) "Tea with Anne Hathaway," a one-woman play starring Patty Joder and directed by Jack Peryouse of Methodist College.

Fraley said half of his Fayetteville subscribers see the C-Span network on Channel 20 and the other half on Channel 2.

"We have 60,000 homes subscribing to our Fayetteville cablevision," Fraley stated.

Bigelow said 3,000 Lumberton homes take cablevision-plus, on which PSU programs will initially be shown. "We have 6,000 homes receiving cablevision in all," he added. Both the Lumberton and Fayetteville cablevision networks are part of American Cablevision.

Heretofore, WPSU-TV was seen only on Channel 3 in Pembroke subscribe to Alert Cablevision, according to Dr. Oscar Patterson, director of telecommunications at PSU.

A PSU-TV interview is being taped here for showing by Pembroke, Lumberton, and Fayetteville cablevision networks.

Television programs produced by Pembroke State University's public television station, WPSU-TV, will soon be aired on cablevision networks in Lumberton and Fayetteville as well as Pembroke.

This will mean that more than 93,000 homes throughout the Cape Fear region will be able to see programs which are filmed, edited and produced by WPSU-TV, say cablevision officials.

Scott Bigelow, manager of Lumberton Cablevision, says his network will start airing PSU public TV programs each Friday at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 19 of its cablevision-plus C-Span channel.

"Our first telecast of these programs will begin this Friday (Nov. 22)," said Bigelow. "It will be an interview of Pembroke State University poets Grace Gibson and Dr. Shelby Stephenson. These programs will be 30 minutes long."

Bigelow said these will be the first local programs inserted into the Lumberton cablevision system.

"We are very excited about it," said Bigelow. "Everything is all set to go technically. We will accept as many programs as PSU has. We are very eager to obtain these types of programs because of their community flavor."

Fifty-two percent of Lumberton Cablevision subscribers take cablevision-plus, on which the PSU programs can be picked up. But Bigelow says "sometime in the first quarter of 1986, we hope to put them on Channel 6 so they will be available to all of our subscribers."

Meanwhile, Randy Fraley, vice president of operations of Fayetteville Cablevision, wants the WPSU-TV programs on his network as soon as possible. "We plan to start

Pembroke State's Television Programs To Be Aired On Lumberton And Fayetteville Networks

WPSU Program Pembroke Cablevision Next Week

Here is the schedule of 30-minute interviews to be shown in the week ahead on WPSU-TV, Channel 3, in Pembroke. These Pembroke State University programs are shown from 8-8:30 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays except for next Thursday, which will be the Thanksgiving holiday.

The schedule: Monday, Nov. 25-Mary Bryan, Duke University historian and editor of the Jane Adams papers project. Tuesday, Nov. 26-Brig. Gen. Bernard Loeffke, chief of staff of the 18th Airborne Corps of Ft. Bragg. Wednesday, Nov. 27-Rodney Barfield, curator of the Museum of the Cape Fear. Barfield will feature a rifle and pistol, reputed to be that of Henry Berry Lowrie, the hero of the Indian drama, "Strike at the Wind!"

Local Agents Presented State Tenure Awards

Ann Fail, Robeson home economics agent, and Eddie L. Locklear, Robeson 4-H agent, (right) receive tenure awards from Dr. Chester Black, state director, N.C.

Two Robeson County extension workers received tenure awards at an N.C. Extension Service awards program held Wednesday evening at the Bordeaux Inn.

Ann W. Fail, home economics agent, was honored for 30 years of service, and Eddie L. Locklear, 4-H agent, was recognized for 10 years of service.

Fail joined the Cumberland County staff in 1960 and was transferred to Robeson County three years later. The Agricultural Extension Service. Fail has thirty years of service and Locklear has ten years of service. The awards ceremony was held October 30 in Fayetteville.

following year she earned a distinguished service award from her agents' association. She has a B.S. degree in home economics and an M.S. degree in foods and nutrition, both from Texas Women's University.

Locklear began his extension career in Robeson County in 1975 after earning a B.S. degree in biology from Pembroke State University. He has since earned an M.S. degree in adult education at North Carolina State University.

Concern About Toxic And Nuclear Wastes

The next meeting of United Concerned Citizens for Ecology-Robeson County Committee, will be Monday, Nov. 25, 1985 at 7:30 pm. The meeting will be at the Cardinal Health Agency, 401 E. 11th St., Lumberton, N.C.

Speaker will be Mr. Fountain Odum, former Chairman of the Mecklenburg County Commissioners. Odum, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate, played an integral part in keeping SCA (since acquired by GSX Services) from siting a Hazardous Waste Facility in Mecklenburg County.

Please note that this is a Monday night meeting instead of the regularly scheduled every other Tuesday date. The public is invited to attend. Call 738-9316 for more information.

Smith Family To Hold Family Reunion

The family of the late Hughey and Ida Smith of the Bethel Hill Community will reunite on Saturday, November 30, 1985. The event will be held in the Fellowship Hall of Antioch Baptist Church in the Barker Ten Mile area. All family members are asked to bring a covered dish. The reunion will begin at 10 a.m. and last throughout the day.

For further information call Ethel Smith Wilkins of St. Pauls, NC at (919) 865-4478.

AUXILIARY TO SPONSOR SANDWICH SALE

The Prospect Ladies Auxiliary will sponsor a sandwich sale on November 30 at the Prospect Fire Department. Hot dogs will be available for 50c each, hamburgers for $1 between the hours and 4:30 p.m. Encouraged to

Plate Sale

Plate sale, December 6, 1985, from 11:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. at Magnolia High School. Bar-b-Que and Chicken plates $3.00 each.