PSU's Annual Staley Lecture Series Features An International Scholar From Vanderbilt
The 12th annual Staley Distinguished Christian Scholar Lecture Program will be held at PSU Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 27-28, with the speaker being Dr. Walter Harrelson, an internationally known scholar who is Distinguished Professor of Old Testament at Vanderbilt University.

Dr. Harrelson has served as dean of the Divinity School at the University of Chicago and dean of the Vanderbilt University Divinity School.

This lecture series, which is funded by the Thomas F. Staley Foundation of New York, is free to the public which is cordially invited.

Theme of the series is "Prophetic Hope and the Contemporary World."
Times and topics of the lectures will be as follows: MONDAY, Oct. 27: 9 a.m.—"The Prophets as God's Messengers"; 12:30 p.m.—"Public Justice Among Nations"; and 7:30 p.m.—"Bible Translations and Translation." TUESDAY, Oct. 28: 9:30 a.m.—"The Prophets as Intercessors with God"; and 11 a.m.—"Prophetic Hope."

All lectures will be held in room 223 of the Educational Center except the 7:30 p.m. lecture on Oct. 27. It will be held at the Baptist Student Union building across from the Performing Arts Center.

A native of North Carolina, Harrelson attended Mars Hill College, served in the U.S. Navy from 1941-45, then earned his A.B. from UNC-Chapel Hill. Both his B.D. and Th.D. were earned at Union Theological Seminary in New York. He has done further study at the University of Basel in Switzerland and at Harvard University.

A Phi Beta Kappa student, he has received a number of research and travel grants and fellowships, taking him to Italy in 1962-63, to Ethiopia in 1970, 1972-74, and in 1983-84. He also had a National Endowment for the Humanities Senior Fellowship in 1983-84 for research on the Ezra traditions in Rome.

In periods of 1977-79 while on leave from Vanderbilt, he served as rector of the Ecumenical Institute for Theological Research in Jerusalem.

His publications include four books: "Jeremiah, Prophet to the Nations," Judson, 1959; "Interpreting the Old Testament," Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 1964; "From Fertility Cult to Worship," Doubleday, 1969, 1970, and reprinted by Scholars Press in 1980, and "The Ten Commandments and Human Rights," Fortress, 1980.

Dr. Robert Gustafson, chairman of PSU's Philosophy and Religion Department which arranged for these lectures, says he has used Harrelson's work in his classes. Gustafson also said, "A former graduate student and friend of Dr. Harrelson is Dr. Ray Sutherland, who joined our faculty last year. It was through Dr. Sutherland's efforts that we are able to bring Dr. Harrelson to our campus."

Student Center's Future Use

The question has been asked concerning what will the student center area be used for once the $5.5 million University Center is completed in 1987.

William Mason, vice chancellor for business affairs, says the book store will be enlarged to use part of it. There will also be offices there for Continuing Education and Summer Session, Upward Bound and Special Services, the Print Shop, and offices for Army and Air Force ROTC.

Centennial Alumni Reunion Nov. 7

A Centennial Alumni Reunion of PSU graduates will be part of the activities of the three-day "Festival of Native American Arts and Culture" Nov. 7-9 at PSU.

On Friday, Nov. 7, in Old Main's Native American Resource Center, a reception will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., followed by a program from 7:30-9:30 p.m. The program will consist of eight groups of alumni representing classes from 1928-86 relating stories of their experiences as students at PSU. Entertainment will be provided by Native American performers. The entire evening will be videotaped for deposit in the university archives.

Co-narrators of this alumni program will be Adolph Dial, chairman of PSU's American Indian Studies Department, and Betty Mangum, a graduate of PSU who is the director of Indian education for the N.C. Department of Public Instruction.

All PSU alumni are invited to this special reunion.

College Day Set Nov. 18

The annual "College Day" on the PSU campus will be held Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 10:30 a.m. Approximately 70 institutions of higher learning from North and South Carolina will be represented.

Anthony Locklear, PSU director of admissions, says: "The PSU Admissions Office provides this service for schools which could not normally host such a program within their own setting."

It enables high school students an opportunity to talk to representatives of many schools about the course of study offered at each.

REFLECTIONS

The Greatest Heartache

To me the greatest heartache is losing a loved one and not knowing that he or she was ready to go on to eternal life with the Lord. When you lose three-and you are not sure you have a way to deal with.

You Can Depend On DAVID PARNELL

CONCERNED: David Parnell is sensitive to the needs of the District. When we were faced with the U.S. ECOLOGY INCINERATOR locating in our area, Senator Parnell spoke out against this proposal. He is opposing the location of GSX Inc. in Scotland County.

FAIR: Senator Parnell gives equal representation to ALL people.

TRUTHFUL: When Senator Parnell gives you his word, you can count on it.

UNDERSTANDING: As a life-long resident of the 30th Senatorial District, Senator Parnell knows of the problems, hopes and needs of its people.

UNSELFISH: Senator Parnell will not use the office of N.C. Senator for personal gain.

RE-ELECT DAVID PARNELL

N.C. SENATE
A N.C. Democrat

Candie fish got their name from the West Coast Indians who burned dry fish for light.

But those of us who are left behind can always and immediately go to God in prayer. He is always ready and waiting to meet us. Over and over I have prayed for peace. Finally the worrying seems about to be over. I feel better about them.

My guilt about not having prayed as consistently as I should have done, not having set the kind of example I should have set, and not having shared my faith with rest and enthusiasm--seems almost to have melted away--because of the Grace of my--our--loving Creator-Father-God.

Single Adult Fellowship

Following an indoor weiner roast last Tuesday night our Singles' group discussed the drug problem in Pembroke (and Robeson County). Bill Price described the educational program being carried out by the Sheriff's Department throughout the county. He is available to speak to school children and to any other group interested in learning positive ways of dealing with the drug problem.

He said that kids need enough self-esteem to realize they can get along without depending on drugs as a crutch. Besides being pressured into trying drugs, a lot of kids think they can't have a good time without getting "high." Or they try something to give them enough courage to take a test or ask a girl out for a date.

They need parents, grandparents, or some other caring adult who will give them the time and attention to just listen and let them know they are important. Kids also need to experience activities which are good, clean fun by themselves--without any drugs being involved.

Our next monthly meeting will be the second Tuesday of November on November 11 at 7:00 p.m. at First Methodist Church, Pembroke. If you are single--or single-again, plan now to come and be with us.
