BANQUET & CONCERT TO HIGHLIGHT NATIVE AMERICAN CELEBRATION AT PSUNOVEMBER 8

A gala banquet and concert program will highlight Celebration! The Year of the Native American, the international festival of American Indian arts and culture which will be held on the Pembroke State University campus on November 7-9, 1986.

The banquet features as keynote speaker the distinguished scholar and educator, Dr. David Warren, of the Institute of American Indian Arts at Santa Fe. New Mexico. Dr. Warren is one of the leading authorities on Native American history and culture in the United States. He serves on several national boards including the National Advisory Council of the Smithsonian Institution. He will speak on the topic of "Indian Arts and Culture: On The Threshold of New 'Century." Dr. Warren will be joined at the podium by several state and local officials.

The banquet begins promptly at 5:30 p.m. at the Auxiliary Gymnasium of the Jones Health and Physical Education Center.

Immediately following the banquet, beginning at 8:15 p.m. at the Performing Arts Center, a concert of traditional and contemporary Native American performing arts will be presented. This sampler of American Indian music and dance includes the participation of artists from North Carolina and throughout the country. The program will be introduced by Dr. Rayna Green, Director of the American Indian Program at the Smithsonian Institution.

Rosalie Jones, of the Montana Blackfoot, and Tony Shearer who comprise the contemporary Native American dance and theatre company known as Daystar. Jones and Shearer are best known for their interpretations of Indian myth and legend. They have been acclaimed in recent performances at the Kennedy Center.

Carlos Nakai of the Navajo-Ute, considered by many the greatest contemporary Indian flutist. Nakai makes his home in Tuscon, Arizona but tours extensively throughout the year. Tom Mauchahty-Ware, leader of perhaps the most exciting dance team of the south Plains. Ware, also a respected flute player, will head a group of seven Kiowa and Comanche dancers from western Oklahoma. Raymond Fairchild, an Eastern Cherokee, one of the most sensational bluegrass banjo players in the nation who will perform in trio with veteran bluegrass singers and musicians,

Wayne and Josh Crowe. The Cherokee Quartet of the Cherokee Methodist Church, Pembroke, who will represent the dynamic tradition of contemporary gospel music within North Carolina's Native American Las Marimbistas, Mayan Indians from the Guatemala highlands, now living among the Seminole of south Florida. The group will perform the beautiful marimba music of Central America, while reminding audiences that Indian people flourish throughout the Americas. Emmaline Cucumber and Lucy Riley, Eastern Cherokee, who will share traditional songs and hymns in the native Cherokee language.

The Celebration banquet and concert are included in one ticket price of $10. Tickets may be obtained from the Native American Resource Center, Old Main Building, Pembroke State University 28372, 919-521-4214, Ext. 282.

It is also possible to attend the concert only. Concert tickets are only $3 and can be reserved at the box office of the Performing Arts Center, Pembroke State University, 919-521-4214, Ext.

Celebration The Year of the Native American will also feature a free outdoor festival of traditional India) arts, crafts and foods on the belltower courtyard on Saturday, November 8 from 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. For more information on this and other events of the weekend, contact the Native American Resource Center at the address above.

Celebration! is a presentation of the North Carolina Arts Council and Pembeule State University in association with the N.C. Commission of Indian Affairs and the United Tribes. Major support for the event is provided by the National Endowment for the Arts, Z. Smith teynolds Foundation, 400th Anniversary and N.C. Humanities Committee

Narcotics agent shoots man to death

FAIRMONT - A Fairmont man was shot to death by a Robe son County narcotics agent after a search of the man's car lead to a scuffle.

Jimmy Earl Cummings, 36, was killed instantly Saturday when he was shot in the head with a .38-caliber pistol by Kevin Stone, a narcotics agent with the Robeson County Sheriff's Department and the son of Sheriff Hubert Stone, a sheriff's department spokesman said.

The scuffle occurred after the officer found drugs in Cummings car, said Al Parnell, chief of detectives for the Robeson County Sheriff's Department. He said Kevin Stone had been placed on leave pending completion of an SBI investigation into the shoot-

Darlene Hunt, 29, also of Fairmont, was with Cummings at the time of the incident. She has been charged with felonious possession of marijuana in excess of 1 pound, possession with intent to sell and deliver and simple possession of cocaine and drug para-

Ms. Hunt has been released on a $3,900 bond. Her first court appearance was Monday.
