Coal Ash: A Key National Asset

Did you know that after coal is burned for electricity, it leaves behind coal ash - America's fourth largest mineral resource? Increased use of this economical and versatile resource may save everyone money. Here's why.

Increased recovery and utilization of coal ash can benefit everyone.

We already utilize a fourth of our coal ash resources and stockpile the rest. With adequate information on its benefits to industry, and awareness of the resource's real worth, we could probably use all of the coal ash we produce. According to the American Coal Ash Association, at 100 percent utilization of coal ash, the sale of this product represents $1 billion a year to utility companies. More revenue from coal ash may decrease the rates we pay for electric power.

Those interested in learning more about the applications of coal ash can receive more information by writing: American Coal Ash Association, Inc., 1000 16th St., NW, Fifth Floor, Washington, D.C. 20036.
