WEST POINT PEPPERELL MAKES GIFT TO PSU'S CHANCELLOR'S SCHOLARS PROGRAM

West Point Pepperell, as another step in its continuing support of Pembroke State University, has made a gift to the PSU Chancellor's Scholars Program.

The gift was presented to PSU Chancellor Paul Givens by Don Cole of Lumberton, plant manager for the Lumberton complex of the Apparel Fabric Division of West Point Pepperell.

With Cole as the presentation was John Wishart, division coordinator of benefits safety and service for West Point Pepperell.

West Point Pepperell has four plants in North Carolina in its Apparel Fabric Division with those being in Lumberton, Elizabethtown, Clinton and Hamilton, N.C.

Chancellor Givens said the gift by West Point Pepperell "is a real boost to our Chancellor's Scholars Program" adding, "We appreciate very much the concern and support of West Point Pepperell to the program." Givens said that "the young people who will profit from this will be eternally grateful to West Point Pepperell for its interest in developing young minds."

Givens began the Chancellor's Scholars Program at PSU in 1981 to provide free tuition scholarships to high school graduates who have achieved outstanding records both academically and in extracurricular activities. Students in the program take special courses, write a Master's type thesis and receive special honors at commencement. Those chosen for the program are selected by a Chancellor's Scholars Council. Cole of West Point Pepperell said, "Our company is proud to provide this kind of support for students who are so outstanding and deserve a pat on the back in the best possible way. We hope this will encourage young people to continue their studies."

Dr. Mary P. Boyles, professor in the PSU Department of Communicative Arts Department who has served as director of the PSU College Opportunity Program, has been named the new PSU assistant vice chancellor for academic affairs effective Aug. 1.

She fills the position that Dr. Wright Killian vacated to return to his former duties as chairman of the PSU Psychology Department.

Dr. Boyles is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of UNC-Greensboro where she earned a B. A. in English. She received her M.A. at UNC-Chapel Hill and her Ph.D. at UNC-Greensboro, all in English.

A native of Shelby, she taught in the public schools of North Carolina and at Western Piedmont Community College before joining PSU.

She has received two faculty research grants, one for research in literature and the other for research in computer-assisted composition.

Dr. Charles Jenkins, PSU vice chancellor for academic affairs, says Dr. Boyles "has impeccable academic credentials." He praised her "outstanding work as the director of PSU's College Opportunity Program, citing her contributions as both a teacher and administrator. "We have every reason to think she will do a fine job in this new assignment. She is an extremely hard worker and a very capable individual. We feel very fortunate that she is joining the Office of Academic Affairs."

HOW TO BUILD A CHAMPION

An athlete needs to know more than just the mastery of the fundamentals of his or her sport. For example-Steffie Graff won Wimbledon this past week by being able to serve and volley and play net. Last year she lost the U.S. Open just because she stayed back and depended on a good solid baseline game.

Chris Evert lost because she is primarily a baseliner as is Lendl who has now been changing his game to a serve and volleyer. Lendl missed so many volleys at net just because he hadn't played enough net. He also has hurt himself by not participating in doubles play where he could really practice his serve and volley game. Stephen Edberg is a truly good Wimbledon champion as he is tops in the big game technique of serve and volley. The serve and volley game has been used by all the former champions-Budge, Kramer, Borg, Rosewall, Ash, Becker. Becker lost this time because of his temper tantrums which takes away concentration. Navratovlova lost to Graff because she did not get her first serve in often enough. She needed to put more spin on her first serve to get it in instead of hitting it flat for the ace. Placement will give more aces than power. To build championship calibre one must learn the strategy of what it takes to win.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Gerald Maynor of Pembroke is shown above with the five-pound bass he caught May 9 at Hertford, NC. While there is nothing unique about catching a five-pound bass, Maynor's method of catching is unique. He caught his bass with a brim buster with a number 5 wire hook.

Other fishermen would doubt this story, if Maynor would tell it himself, reports fellow fisherman Harold Dimery, also of Pembroke. Dimery witnessed the catch, photographed it and reported the story to this newspaper.

Where there is smoke...
New information proves that smoking contributes to heart disease in women, as well as men! Smoking just one to four cigarettes a day is said to double the risk of heart disease in women, while smoking more than 25-per-day increases it five fold! It is good to know, however, that when you quit smoking, the risk of heart disease drops off rapidly - usually within two years. For health's sake, shouldn't you quite this risky habit? We have pharmacy aids to help get you over the hump. Ask at our Rx-Counter.
