program has given him. Horchler praised the entire English Education Master's Degree teaching staff.

As Region IV "Teacher of the Year," Horchler will be invited to take a one-year sabbatical from his present position to act as an ambassador of the teaching profession in speaking engagements and teacher recruiting activities.

His accomplishments have included being named the Elizabethtown Jaycees' "Young Educator of the Year" in '74 and the "East Bladen High School Teacher of the Year" in '75.

From 1977-85, he served as head women's basketball coach of East Bladen High and his teams won six conference championships and three District 3 championships. He was thrice named conference "Coach of the Year."

From 1979-81, he was chairman of the Southeastern North Carolina Performing Arts Council and in '82 began taking groups of chorus and drama students to New York for Broadway experience, workshops and shows.

Former president of the Bladen Lakes Players, this multi-talented teacher has also written a full-length novel among his many accomplishments.

PSU is delighted to have an individual of his calibre as one of its graduate students and one of the candidates for the state's top teaching award.

F. William [Bill] Horchler

PSU GRADUATE STUDENT IS CHOSEN REGION IV TEACHER OF THE YEAR

F. William [Bill] Horchler, a PSU graduate student who has taught at East Bladen High School for 18 years, has been selected as Region IV "Teacher of the Year" in the state-wide competition in North Carolina.

As representative of 17 school systems in the 11-county region, he will be one of eight finalists in the screening for North Carolina's "Teacher of the Year." The interviews for that competition will be April 14 in Raleigh where three finalists will be selected. They will then be observed in classroom settings with the state winner announced in May.

At East Bladen High, Horchler teaches English, drama and chorus.

In the graduate program at PSU, he is working on his Master of Arts in English Education. He is one of 351 graduate students at PSU in this spring semester.

The 39-year-old Horchler, who has also taken part in the N.C. Writing Project at PSU is a native of Frostburg, Md. who earned his B.A. in English at N.C. State University in 1971.

At East Bladen, he teaches chorus for grades nine through 12, drama for grades 10-12, and advanced senior English.

"I was quite flabbergasted to be chosen from all of those teachers," as Region IV "Teacher of the Year," he says, adding that he has tried to be sincere and honest as a teacher.

Horchler says the graduate program at PSU "has given me new ideas and rejuvenated my whole outlook" on teaching. In speaking of the "academic challenges" the
