mouth. There's just something about my mama that soothes me. And relieves me. And just makes me feel better. Indeed, I don't care what that popular tv commercial says, I spell relief "M-A-M-A."

Folk, I guess the doctor just failed to make a clean slice when he cut the umbilical cord when I was born. She and I have a special bond. That's all there is to it. In fact, I probably hollered for mama when the doctor spanked my bottom when I was born.

So, if I can be macho in your eyes and still be a mama's boy, then well and good. If not, I hate it. Because this two hundred and fifty pound, thirty-eight year old man loves his mama desperately.

Indeed, it feels good to be man enough to say, "Mama, I love you." Try it some time. You'll like it. And mama probably will too.

We'll talk again folk.

Waiting for answers from Judge Brooks

To the Editor:

I write to you in response to the recent ruling by Judge Farmer that over rode a former ruling by Judge Dexter Brooks. Farmer would not allow Eddie Hatcher to have the attorneys of his choice. He made that ruling after Superior Court Judge Dexter Brooks had ruled that Hatcher's attorneys, William Kuntzler and Ron Kuby could represent him in Robeson County court.

I am surprised that we have not heard any comment from Judge Brooks. Prior to becoming Judge, Brooks served as my attorney... I was well satisfied with his performance as an attorney and expect nothing less from him as a judge. My public question to him is this: Are all superior court judges of equal authority? Did Judge Farmer have a legal right to over ride your previous decision? Something is wrong with this situation...and I don't understand what is going on. I call on you, Judge Brooks, to let it be known what can be done about this situation.

the Indians, it was used as a coloring agent in clothing, war paint and also medicinally to fight infections. Today, its big claim to fame is as a dental plaque fighter and it is listed as one of the ingredients in Viadent toothpaste.

Problems arise using scientific names, too. Our wild relative of the mustard — watercress, is known scientifically as Nasturtium officinale and is related to cabbages and horse radish. It is used in herbal medicine to promote sweating which is a healing process. However, it is not related to our garden Nasturtium whose name is Trapacolum majus. This plant's leaves and flowers are edible and the seeds can be pickled as an inexpensive substitute for capers. Though totally unrelated they have similar names.

Scientific names often lead us to interesting histories. A good example is our common yarrow, made famous by Granny Clampett of the "Beverly Hillbillies" and found everywhere locally. The wild kind has white flowers and hybrids have pink, yellow or purple flowers, but they all have the same botanical name. They are called Achillea millefolium botanically. Millofolium means thousands of leaves and refers to their fern-like leaves. Achillea refers to the ancient Greek hero Achilles who used the leaves of this plant to stop the flow of blood in the wounds of his men at the battle of Troy. It is also known as "woundwort" which collaborates what was said earlier about the ending "wort."

Studying plants is definitely interesting, but the confusion can be mind-boggling. Only eat what you can positively identify! Even Euell Gibbons agreed with this premise. We must, however, take care of our world, whether we agree on what to call it or not!

LEGAL NOTICE

North Carolina Robeson County
In The Matter Of The Adoption Of:
Jessica Michelle Jacobs By:
Howard Jacobs & Mary Lee Jacobs, Petitioners

TO UNKNOWN FATHER OF JESSICA MICHELLE JACOBS, a minor.

TAKE NOTICE that a pleading seeking relief against you has been filed in the above entitled special proceeding. The nature of the proceeding and the relief sought is to secure a judicial determination and Order that your written consent for the adoption of Jessica Michelle Jacobs, a minor child, born to Beverly Ann Jacobs on January 12, 1982, to the Petitioners is not required, in that paternity of the minor child, has not been judicially established or acknowledged by affidavit. That the child has not been legitimated either by marriage or in accordance with the provisions of North Carolina General Statute 49-10. That the putative father has not provided financial support or consistent care with respect to the mother; and that your consent for adoption of said child be made unnecessary by reason of such relinquishment.

You are required to make defense to such pleadings no later than forty (40) days following October 19, 1989, and upon your failure to do so the party seeking relief against you will apply to the Court for the relief sought.

This the 16th day of October, 1989.
