Free Public Lecture To Be Presented On Health & Nutrition

John L. Laird, M.D. will give a free public lecture on health and nutrition entitled "New Hope for Circulation Problems: Nutritional & Chelation Therapy." The lecture will be held on Thursday, August 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Kinston, NC. (919) 527-4155. The lecture is sponsored by the Chelation Club of the Carolinas.

Dr. Laird will describe his program for the early diagnosis and treatment of hardening of the arteries and other degenerative diseases. Many preventive medicine doctors now believe that many heart attacks, premature strokes, senility, and certain forms of arthritis and cataracts can be either prevented or treated with carefully designed programs using nutrition, chelation (key-lay-shun) therapy, and lifestyle modification.

Dr. Laird will describe how people can learn if they have hardening of the arteries or are at greater risk for premature heart attacks and strokes. He will explain why he believes early diagnosis and treatment are essential. Finally, he will describe how nutritional and chelation therapies have been used successfully with over 400,000 people in the United States and over 20 million people worldwide during the past 25 years.

Dr. Laird will present the latest developments in this exciting medical field as well as the results of his experience treating hundreds of patients with nutritional and/or chelation therapies. Patients who have already received chelation therapy will share their experiences with you.

Dr. Laird is a Board Certified Specialist in Chelation Therapy. He is the founder and director of the Great Smokies Medical Center with offices in Statesville and Asheville, NC. He is widely known as one of our state's most knowledgeable medical doctors in the field of nutritional and chelation therapies. During his lecture Dr. Laird will answer any questions you might want to ask.

For further information contact Karen at the Great Smokies Medical Center by calling 800-445-4762 or 704-683-3101. The address is Route 1 Box 7, Leicester, NC 28748.

Two people from Robeson County are currently taking treatments from Dr. Laird's program. They both report wonderful results and recommend the treatment to others in the area. Those patients are Mrs. Bowman Freeman and Bill Moore.

15 PSU STUDENTS SELECTED FOR CHANCELLOR'S PROGRAM

PSU has announced the names of 15 incoming freshmen who have been selected for its prestigious Chancellor's Scholars Program for the 1990-91 academic year.

Being chosen for this program means the tuition of these students will be paid, they will take special interdisciplinary honors courses, do a Master's type thesis in their senior year, and will receive special honors at commencement.

The list of students includes four from Lumberton, three from Fayetteville, and one each from Pembroke, Orrum, St. Pauls, Bladenboro, Louisburg, Durham, Shelby and Huntington, W.VA.

The selectees were winners of many honors in high school. Nine were members of the National Honor Society, six members of "Who's Who Among American High School Students," two Beta Club members, and two winners of Superintendent's Awards for Excellence. Other honors by those selected included attending the N.C. Legislators' School for Youth Leadership, attending Boys' State, being a Governor's Page, and many others.

Five of the selectees plan to be teachers. Four plan to major in Business Administration, while others plan to major in pre-law, mathematics, medical technology, telecommunications, communications and broadcasting, and public relations.

The St. Pauls High student selected is George Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Johnson, who was salutatorian of his graduating class, a Morehead Scholarship nominee, and president of the National Honor Society. He also attended the Governor's School East and was a marshal. He plans to major in business administration and accounting.

The Lumberton students chosen include one from Magnolia High, two from Lumberton High and one from Littlefield High.

Casina Maynor of Magnolia High is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Maynor. Her honors include the Superintendent's Award of Excellence, the Honor Society, "Who's Who Among American High School Students," vice president of the Student Council, and treasurer of the Beta Club. She plans to major in elementary education.

The two from Lumberton High selected are Sherri Britt Prevatte, the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Britt and the wife of Frank Prevatte, and Jill Allyson Price, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Price.

Prevatte has been a member of the National Honor Society, the Student Government, and Who's Who Among American High School Students. She was also a Duke University Talent Search participant. She plans to major in elementary education.

Price has also been a member of the National Honor Society, been in the marching band and been a member of the yearbook and "Pirate" staffs. She plans to major in elementary education or medical technology.

The one from Littlefield High is Crissie Willoughby, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willoughby. She has been a member of the Superintendent's Honor Roll, the N.C. Scholars Program and "Who's Who Among American High School Students." She participated in the mathematics competition at PSU and Wilmington and has been in the Gifted and Talented Program. She plans to major in business administration and accounting.

Two of the three Fayetteville students chosen attended 71st High School, while the other graduated from Westover High.

Patience Ramirez, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon

Ramirez, was a member of the National Honor Society at 71st High where she also served as a graduation marshal, Special Olympics volunteer and a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. She is undecided about her major at PSU.

Kimberly Norbeck, also a 71st High School graduate, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Norbeck. She was an editor on the school newspaper staff and a varsity cheerleader. A member of "Outstanding High School Students of America," she was also a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and wrote high school news for the local newspaper. She plans to major in telecommunications.

Neil Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Carpenter, was the Westover High School student selected. He did a number of video productions in high school and was a photographer and writer, serving such productions as the yearbook. He plans to major in communications and broadcasting.

From Purnell Swett High near Pembroke, Alisa Deese, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pernel Deese, was chosen for the program. She was a member of the National Honor Society, a marshal and won academic achievement awards. She was also in the N.C. "Close-Up" program. She plans to major in business administration.

Marsha McCormick of Fairmont High School was selected. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell McCormick of Orrum and plans to major in either art or mathematics. In high school, she was a member of the Beta Club, "Who's Who Among American High School Students," a cheerleader and runner up for homecoming queen.

The Bladenboro High student chosen was Denise Wilkins, daughter of Ronald L. Wilkins. She has been a member of the National Honor Society and the Beta Club, served in student government, been a Governor's Page, and been a member of the annual staff. She plans to major in business administration.

Delana Wall of Louisburg, who graduated from Bunn High School, is another selectee for the program. The daughter of Betty T. Wall, she plans to major in secondary education. Her extensive list of honors include being a member of the Beta Club, a marshal, co-editor of the yearbook, a Congressional Scholar nominee, and "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

From Durham Northern High School is Tracy Weant, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weant of Durham. She has been a National Honor Society student and "Who's Who Among American High School Students." An Academic Scholar Award winner, she was nominated to the Governor's School. She has also been secretary of the student body and a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. She plans to major in science and education.

Chosen from 71st High in Shelby was Marcus Whisanant, the son of Dianne Whisanant. He attended the N.C. Legislators' School for Youth Leadership, made the National Honor Roll, and was a member of "Who's Who Among American High School Students." At the UNC-Chapel Hill radio and TV Institute, he had the best radio newscast, the best TV standup news story and the best commercial. He plans to major in public relations.

Also selected was Scott Hornbuckle of Huntington, W.VA. High School. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Hornbuckle, he plans to major in pre-law. His honors include being vice president of the student body and vice president of the Honor Society. He took part in Boys' State and Youth in Government.

Indian Maid Trading Post Holds Grand Opening

Native Americans danced and sang in the parking lot recently announcing the Grand Opening of Indian Maid Trading Post in Lumberton. Customers and friends browsed over the hundreds of Indian items that adorned the Outlet Plaza store.

Nationally known professional baseball player turned artist, Gene Locklear, signed original prints of an oil painting entitled "Appreciation of God's Beauty" and presented them to the many visitors of the store. Numerous paintings by Locklear were on display and available for sale.

Delores Oxendine, store manager, stated that she "wanted to thank the many citizens of the community for making our grand opening a success."

Indian Maid Trading Post is located on the I-95 Exit 20,

Lumberton (near the Cracker Barrel Restaurant and Lumberton Tourist Bureau). The Post features authentic Indian artifacts, arts and crafts. Many of these items come from Native American people all over North America. Many other items come from North Carolina Native Americans, with special emphasis on Robeson County Indians--the largest group of Native Americans East of the Mississippi River.

Many of the local crafts are quilts, pillows, afghans, bonnets, made by Indian senior citizens groups.

Other local artists specialize in wood carving, turquoise jewelry, and pottery.

The art gallery features original works of Gene Locklear and other local and nationally acclaimed Native American artists.

A total of 227 freshmen converged on the Pembroke State University campus July 16-17 for the first of two freshmen orientations for the fall semester. Welcoming them is Dr.

James B. Chavis, PSU vice chancellor for student affairs. The second freshmen orientation will be held August 19-21 at the start of the fall semester.

Pembroke Kiwanis Report

By Ken Johnson

Kiwanian Rev. Henry Ward Oxendine, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church on Highway 711, was the speaker at the Tuesday meeting held at the Town and Country Restaurant. He was presented by President Ronnie Sutton.

"There are eight major religions in the world today. All center around a supreme God Head. We have freedom of worship as we see fit as is provided by the Constitution. We must be careful in this country as worship is a right and God is not a satan diety. Our worship gives us a feeling of security, and prayer is our asking God for his protection and guidance. We have all prayed for help for self and others. The promise for salvation after death is also a reason for prayer seeking forgiveness and salvation. This is our Christian religion with Jesus as our God. Religion dates back two and one half million years, ours dates back to the time of Christ. Judaism is headed by Abraham; Hinduism with no human founders; Buddism headed by Buddha is very ancient; as is confusion of the Chinese and Islam headed by Mohamid. Shintoism is a religion of the Japanese. Christianity is in terms of Christ's parables of giving of one's self to his fellowman. The more you give of yourself, the more it comes back to you."

Pete Jacobs announced the young people of the First Baptist Church on Union Chapel Road are holding a car wash on Saturday morning. There will be no charge, but donations will happily be received.

Jimmy Harris announced we will be having a Kiwanis night at Strike at the Wind. The date will be worked out with other Kiwanis Clubs.

President Sutton announced the dedication of the art work in memory of Dr. Robert Conrad Hersch and Walter Sheldon Musgrove is to be held in the Native American Resource Center of Pembroke State on Monday, August 20, at 4 p.m. Our presence is requested.

Timothy Jacobs Out On Parole

Timothy Jacobs was paroled from the minimum security correctional facility in Mecklenburg County on Monday. He had been sentenced to six years in prison for his part in the take-over of the Robesonian Newspaper. Jacobs, along with Eddie Hatcher, was acquitted of federal charges stemming from the incident. In May, 1989 Jacobs pleaded guilty to state charges of second degree kidnapping. He has been on a work-release program in Charlotte since that time.

According to reports, Jacobs will be required to maintain his residence in Mecklenburg County, report to his probation officer and do 35 hours per month of community service. This will continue until October 1991.

Hatcher remains incarcerated in Central Prison, Raleigh, serving an 18 year term sentence he received after pleading guilty to state kidnapping charges.
