Wanda Maynor Carter of Charlotte, NC (formerly of Pembroke, NC) recently received double recognition for her volunteer work in the area of education. On October 15, 1990 Mrs. Carter was honored as "Indian Parent of the Year" at the 22nd annual National Indian Education Association (NIEA) conference held in San Diego, CA. In addition to the coveted plaque, Mrs. Carter received a beautiful handmade quilt, presented to her by last year's parent honorees, Phillip and Charlotte Tida. An honor blanket was also bestowed upon her at the conference...

Parent Committee. Additionally, in recognition of her service not only to Indian Education but to the broader Charlotte-Mecklenburg school system, Mrs. Carter has also been honored by Duke Power Company, where she is employed as a Health Physicist. On September 28, 1990 at Duke Power Company's Power In Education (PIE) Awards Luncheon, she was recognized for her "exemplary" service to education.

Mrs. Carter has participated annually since 1986 in the "Expanding Your Horizons" conference for junior high girls in Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools, encouraging them to pursue careers in math and science. She also participates annually in the Indian Education Program's Career Day for Indian students in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg system and has served on the planning committees, as career panelist and panel moderator for both programs. Mrs. Carter served on a Role Model panel for an educator's workshop in the Equals Program in 1988, participated in Iredell Middle School Careers in Math Science Conference in 1987, discussed health physics responsibilities and the required academic preparation for math and science careers for the Save the Children federation's National Indian Child Conference at Western Carolina University in 1987, was a panelist for Charlotte-Mecklenburg's Education is a Family Affair community forum in 1988, served as a moderator for a public hearing on the status of Indian Education in North Carolina in 1988, and has authored two publications to help raise funds for projects for Indian youth, and a position paper on "School Choice" submitted to the U.S. Secretary of Education in 1989.

Mrs. Carter was named the 1987 Parent of the Year by the Indian Education Program of Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools and she and her husband were honored for their volunteer service to Indian Education in 1988.

Mrs. Carter is a graduate of Pembroke Senior High School, holds a B.A. in Psychology from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, and a B.S. in Nuclear Medical Technology from Queens College in Charlotte. She presently serves on the American Cancer Society Board, Mecklenburg Unit, and is a pre-school teacher at Candlewyck Baptist Church. Mrs. Carter is married to Truex Vail Carter, formerly of Pembroke, and they have a nine year old daughter, Candice Leigh.

Program Chairman Jim Paul presented Professor Oscar Patterson of the Communications Department of PSU, and a member of the College Speakers Bureau.

Dr. Patterson said, "I am very concerned about the Right in this country to speak freely as is provided by the U.S. Constitution." The right to speak is guaranteed as there is no such thing as a bad idea. The best idea comes to the top as a result of communications with one another. We have fought two wars, developed an intolerance to other people. Example: "The Japanese man in Hawaii said, 'Go back to the main land white boy. You don't belong here.' This intolerance type is due to a lack of communication and is not good. It is a major unethical response, a dilemma as we don't seem to know why we do what we do. For example, we drive 65 in a 55 speed zone a real break in ethics. And this may become universal. Kant, the great philosopher said 'Do what you do will become the law of the universe.' Be happy, said Kant. Love your neighbor as yourself. And also said by Christ. What is the ethical, moral way to live? How many children are abused? Who do we owe our behavior to? Do we behave ethically for ourselves or others? How may die trying to live ethically? Trying to keep up ethically? DOes the nation tell you what to do? Yes, you do all of these things in order to survive, to protect yourself. In combat you kill. In society, it is wrong to kill. The Bible tells you to live right. Obey orders. Honesty demands you do things to be successful. Dr. Patterson said he was the only survivor of 250 men as he played the game right in Vietnam. Played the game to survive. Milliken played the game and got ten years. Kids will do anything to win. They haven't had the Bible in years. The Constitution is never discussed and our pluralistic society must live together and be able to communicate. There would be no revolutions.

NFL Playoffs

It's truly a tight race with the wild card race for play-off positions. Even Dallas with its win over the Redskins may make it because of the extra wild card in its division. There are 14 teams, six in the AFC and 8 in the NFC, all because of parity and the draft, and all have a chance to make the play-offs since they all have between five and seven wins. Cincinnati is in first place in the central division with seven wins, and the Rams are in second place with five wins. Kansas and the Raiders have eight wins each in the west. Even Minnesota having won five along with San Diego and Seattle with their six wins. In the NFC Philadelphia and Washington have seven wins and a wild card edge. Minnesota will have a tough time as they face the New York Giants, San Francisco and the Raiders. Tampa may be out of it as Testaverdi won out over Ray Perkins who had benched him for two games. Perkins has probably gotten Tampa ready to roll next year and sad to say, lost his job. The NFL race is just as tight as the baseball playoffs. The 49ers win over the Giants 7-3 Monday night shows how close the race really is. BY KEN JOHNSON

Ozendine, Mrs. Maria Bullock, Mrs. Miriam S. Mabe, Mrs. Wanda S. Carter, Ms. Tara A. Roth and Mrs. Betty S. Jones. Pianist was Miss Carla Lowry, music teacher.

The holiday spirit abounded as PSU held an Open House Monday for area high school students.

A giant Christmas tree graced the lobby at the Performing Arts Center, and the students were treated to coffee and doughnuts as they arrived. Each was also given a $1 discount ticket for lunch.

Campus maps, brochures and other materials were given to students as they registered.

The students were welcomed by Chancellor Joseph Ozendine, who chatted individually with many of them in the lobby, then addressed them as a body.

Others briefing the students were: dr. Charles Jenkins, vice chancellor for academic affairs; Anthony Locklear, moderator for the occasion and director of admissions; Esther Maynor, director of financial aid; and Steven Swint, assistant director student activities.

The students then broke up into small groups and were taken on campus tours by PSU's Student Ambassadors. They later attended an information fair in the Jones Physical Education Center where different departments set up tables to talk with the students. Following lunch in the University Cafeteria, the students were guests for a dessert and entertainment hour in the Baptist Student Union where they received gifts.
