

Three More Join PSU's Chancellor's Club Three more persons have joined the Pembroke State University Chancellor's Club, increasing the membership to 116.

Members pledge to donate $1,000 a year to PSU for 10 years. For doing so, they receive a number of privileges at PSU, including complimentary admission to the PSU Performing Arts Center's season artist series, complimentary passes to all regular athletic contests, an invitation to the Chancellor's Club annual reception-dinner, and an invitation to the Chancellor's Spring Ball.

The newest members are Jimmy Hunt, owner of Hunt's TV Sales and Service of Pembroke; Jerry Johnson, president of Jerry Johnson Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Inc. of Lumberton; and Lycurous Lowry, who farms some 600 acres near Pembroke.

Hunt has been in business for himself since '68 after taking an electronics course in TV repair at Devry Technical Institute in Chicago. His business employs five people and repairs all kinds of electronics, serving an area that includes Robeson, Scotland and Hoke counties.

A native of Fairmont, Hunt is married to the former Linda Mitchell of Lumberton. His wife is a PSU graduate who teaches the fourth grade at Union Chapel Elementary School. They are parents of a daughter, Tammy Lynn, who is a senior at UNC-Chapel Hill.

Hunt says he is joining the Chancellor's Club because "it is a very worthwhile cause as explained to me by Mrs. Elizabeth McIntyre (PSU resource development officer).

There might be people not as fortunate as myself who may need scholarship help. When my wife attended PSU, she borrowed money and worked part-time. We want to help others. And, too, this community has helped me quite a bit through the years, and this is a way to assist others." Hunt is also a Braves Club member.

Johnson's automobile business employs 39 persons and serves a 30-mile radius of Lumberton. A native of Rowland, Johnson is the son of James Johnson, who also operates an automobile business, Rowland Motor Co., in Rowland where Jerry worked from 1978-87 before assuming the presidency of the Lumberton automobile firm.

A graduate of Wake Forest University with a B.A. in anthropology, Jerry Johnson taught at the University of Nebraska for one year before returning home to enter the automobile business. He tells of teaching five defensive starters on Nebraska's 1977 Liberty Bowl football team. Johnson is married to the former Yvonne (Von) Smith of Lumberton, an East Carolina University graduate who teaches first grade at Avalan Academy near Dillon, S.C. They are parents of a daughter, Kelsie, 9, and a son, Trevor, 7.

Johnson, who is a member of the board of directors of the N.C. Automobile Dealers Association, says reasons for his joining the Chancellor's Club include the fact "that I have a lot of customers at Pembroke and I am interested in academics. Pembroke State University is important to the area." Johnson said Chancellor's Club members Dr. Ray Pennington and John L. Locklear were instrumental in his joining.

Lowry is a PSU graduate, earning a B.S. degree in science. He farms 600 acres on both sides of the juncture of U.S. Highway 74 west and N.C. Highway 710. He also raises cattle and horses and was in the hog business.

Lowry served in the U.S. Air force for four years, taught at Hawkeye School in Hoke County for four years, and Reising's picture and a note about Pembroke State Uniwent into the farm business which he inherited and versity. expanded. He is the father of four children, Pamela, Selina and Felton, who live in Orlando, Fla., and Lyavans, who lives in Pembroke.

Lowry, who is serving as president of the Robeson County Farm Bureau and on the state board of the N.C. Farm Bureau, says that "being an alumnus, I want to support the University. I have been a member of the the scholarship in his name. I've also known Chancellor (Joseph) Oxendine all of my life."

PSU Professor's Article Published In Magazine An article by Dr. Robert Reising, PSU professor of communicative arts, was recently published in the teacher's supplement of "Agora: The Magazine for Gifted Students." The article concerned Lumbee literature and Lumbee hero Henry Berry Lowrie.

Romine Attends Regional Musical Meetings

Dr. Robert Romine, chairman of the PSU Music Department, recently attended the Southern Division Conference of the College Band Directors National Conference and the National Bank Association in Charlotte.

He also attended the Southeastern North Carolina All-Braves Club for seven years. The late Earl Hughes District Band Clinic at Richmond Senior High School in Oxendine and I were friends for life, and I want to support Rockingham. At the latter, Romine gave a presentation about "Careers in Music" and included a profile about PSU and its degree program in music.

have to get out. One also wonders if a 1993 strike will wipe baseball out. Fay Vincent is also wobbling in his job over the Japanese trying to get the Seattle franchise. The owners are not backing him. The game usually survives but the two new teams Colorado Rockies and the Florida Marlins are frozen out of T.V. revenues after spending $95 million franchise fees plus $30 million for other expenses and if a strike comes with a reduced season, baseball will truly suffer with great financial losses

If the game is put first, the selective ethic it can survive. The situational ethic puts each individual team selfishly first, example $28.4 million for the Cubs' Sandberg while Denver and Florida lose $150 million. The Players Association is sure to be heard from over the big salary gap between the non-producing stars and the regulars.

Reflections By Alta Nys Oxendine

WINTER OLYMPICS

With all the negative things going on in the world around us, I found it refreshing to take a "TV trip" to France and watch segments of the Winter Olympic Games. Although I never learned to do much with ice skating when I was growing up in Montana, it's always the skaters who fascinate me the most.

70 years later, relief still lasts longer than the taste.

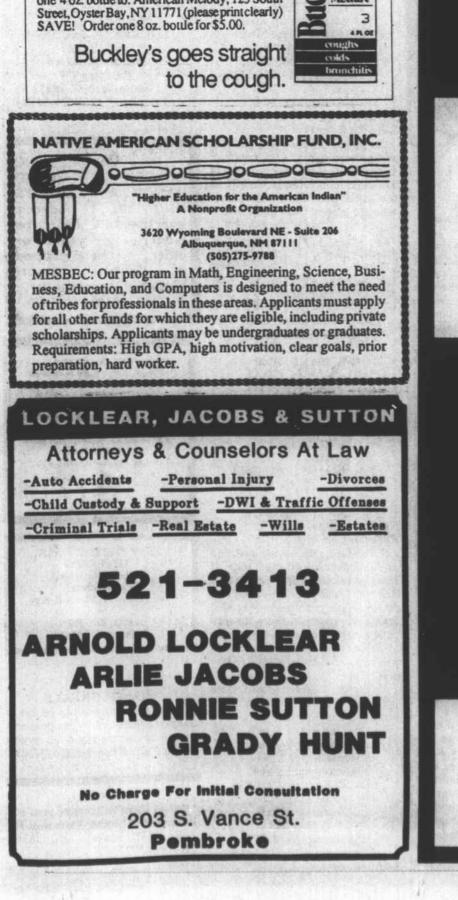

Back in 1919, pharmacist William Buckley was hard at work creating a new cough remedy for his family and customers. The good news was his original blend of Canada Balsam, Pine Needle Oil and Menthol relieved coughs and congestion fast. The bad news was it tasted bad. But when people discovered that the relief lasted longer than the taste. Soon everyone was taking the plunge.

To this day, Buckley's Mixture does not con-tain sugar, alcohol, antihistamines or deconges-tants. It still tastes terrible, but it sure works. Use only as directed.

If you'd like to try Buckley's Mixture, please send your name, address, zip code and $3.00 for one 4 oz. bottle to: American Melody, 123 South
