Four incumbents returned to EMC board of directors

Madie R. Locklear

The only woman on the 12-member board of directors of LREMC, Madie Rae Locklear, overcame challenges for her at-large position on Tuesday night, October 20th. The election came during the 52nd annual meeting of members held at the PSU Performing Arts Center. Ms. Locklear defeated Gus Bullard of Maxton and Collie Brown, a Black, from Fairmont. Locklear received 624 votes with Bullard receiving 182 and Brown receiving 116.

James Hardin, executive director of LRDA, retained his seat on the EMC board where he represents Cumberland County. Hardin was challenged by two Blacks, Rashad A. Rahman and George Pulliam. Hardin easily defeated them with 699 votes to 40 for Pulliam and 184 for Rahman.

The other two incumbents, J.W. Hunt and Timothy Strickland, were elected by acclamation, having no opposition either by petition or by nomination from the floor.

Following the election returns, the board met to re-elect officers. The slate of officers remained the same. Lacy Cummings is president; Jim Dial is vice president; Madie Rae Locklear is secretary and Herbert Clark is treasurer.

Atlanta fundraiser nets over $10,000 for the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of the American Indian

ATLANTA, GEORGIA-- CELEBRATE THE NATIVE AMERICAN, a dinner and silent auction of over 80 pieces of Native American art, helped raise more than $10,000 for the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of the American Indian (NMAI). Hosted by Rhycof Design Associate, an Atlanta-based commercial interior design firm, the benefit was held on September 23 at the Swissotel, Atlanta. Over 100 guests attended the evening-long celebration of Native American culture, including such celebrity figures as: actor/director Larry Hagman, and Nancy O'Connor, wife of well-known actor Carroll O'Connor and Member of the International Founders Council for the National Campaign of the NMAI. W. Richard West, Jr., Director of the Museum, gave the keynote address.

The event was chaired by Ken Rhyne, a civic leader in the Native American community and President of Rhycof Design Associates. Rhyne's company has been named as the lead interior design firm for the museum's Collections Research Center (CRC)-- a 200,000 square foot facility to be built in Suitland, MD. The CRC will serve as the heart and soul of the National Museum of the American Indian and will be the home for 90 percent of the collection. Others members of the CRC's design team that were present, included: James Polshek of James Stewart Polshek and Partners Architects, New York, NY; Louis Weller, head of the Native American Design Collaborative and Principal of Louis Weller Architects, Albuquerque, NM, and William Metcalf, Philip Tobey and Harold Davis of Metcalf Tobey & Partners, Reston, VA.

Local Group Performs at National Quartet Convention

This year, Robeson County had the distinguished honor of having one of their own, The Lumber River Quartet, appear at the quartet convention on Saturday night, October 3, 1992.
