William Lowry Named To NC Parole Commission

Gov. Jim Hunt recently appointed Elbert T. Buck of Winterville, William A. Lowry of Pembroke, Charles L. Mann, Sr. of Sanford and State House Rep. Peggy Stamey of Raleigh, to the North Carolina Parole Commission. He also named as chair Juanita Baker, who was appointed in May.

As members of the five full-time member Parole Commission, these individuals will help make decisions regarding paroles and inmate population in the state and advise the Governor in clemency matters.

Stamey, 61, has represented the 63rd district in the North Carolina House since 1983. She is chair of the transportation committee and vice chair of the Finance committee, the Education subcommittee on Community Colleges and Universities, the Constitutional Amendments and Referenda Committee, and the Rules, Calendar and Operations of the House committee.

She received her bachelor's degree from Brevard College in 1951 and her master's degree from the University of Maryland in 1968. She is a member of the Women's Forum of North Carolina, the National Order of Women Legislators, the Cary Chamber of Commerce, and the N.C. Human Relations Council and the National Association of Women Business Owners. In 1990, Stamey received the Woman of the Year in Government Award from the YWCA.

Buck is a parole services manager with the NC Department of Corrections of Adult Probation/Parole division and has been with the department since 1968, as a unit supervisor, a parole officer, and a rehabilitation counselor. He received his B.S. in business administration in 1967 and his M.S. in rehabilitation counseling in 1976 from East Carolina University.

He served on the Pitt County Board of Education from 1987-90. Buck is a Lt. Colonel in the National Guard, where he has served since 1967. He was activated for the Persian Gulf War in 1990 and received two Army commendation medals while stationed in Saudi Arabia.

Lowry, 34, is a probation and parole officer with the N.C. Department of Correction. He received his B.S. in business administration from Pembroke State University and is working toward his master's degree in administrative studies at PSU.

He is a member of the Pembroke State University Braves Club and the University's Alumni Association, and has been secretary and vice president of the Pembroke Jaycees. He is also vice chairman of the Lumbee Regional Development Association board of Directors and awards committee and the Lumbee Federal Recognition Committee.

Mann, 62, was an administrative assistant in the 11th Judicial District Administrative Office of the Courts from 1988-90. From 1964-88, he worked as a probation and parole officer and a hearing officer for the N.C. Parole Commission.

He is chairman of the Sanford Lee County Airport Authority, commander of the American Legion Post 18 and member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is also a member and past chairman of the Jonesboro United Methodist Church board of trustees and past chapter chairman of the American Red Cross.
