You Don't Miss Your Water ... 'Til It's Gone

(NU) - Time and again after a disaster such as a hurricane in Florida or a flood along the Mississippi, residents talk about the one commodity they miss the most now that it's gone — clean, safe water.

Under the stress of a water shortage, the media promotes guidelines for conserving water, and for the most part, people follow them. But what about the rest of the time?

If you find yourself taking water for granted, try an experiment. Don't use any water for one day. You won't take it for granted again. According to the National Rural Water Association, water conservation habits are easy to develop and can actually improve the quality and quantity of water service in an area.

By following a few simple tips, you can develop water-saving habits that can preserve a commodity that only seems precious when it is not available.

Change your conservation habits by following these tips.

- Check for leaks.
- Use a rake or broom instead of a hose to remove leaves or cuttings from the driveway.
- Don't use your toilet as a wastebasket or an ashtray.
- Take a quick shower instead of a bath.
- Keep a chilled pitcher of water in the refrigerator for drinking.
- Wash vehicles with a bucket of water instead of running the hose.
- Only wash full loads in washing machines and dishwashers.

Your Bible And You

by Daniel Davis

Of all the glimpses your Bible gives of God none is more wonderful than that expressed in the three brief words, "God is Love" (1 John 4:8).

Here indeed is the crowning revelation concerning Him. Not only does God possess all power and wisdom, not only is He infinite in goodness and truth, but He is the source and fountain of love.

He is the wonderful Creator, the Supreme Lawgiver, and the Eternal Lover.

"This," says Godet in his commentary on the Gospel of John, "is the initiation of the earth into the deepest secret of heaven. God is from all eternity Father - that is to say, Love."

"Love is indeed the very Being of God," says Stephenson in his CHIEF TRUTHS OF THE CHRISTIAN FAITH. "Love is His Nature and Essence, so that whatever God intends and designs, Love intends and designs. Love is the supreme directing principle in all His actions. It is the supreme relation between the Persons of the ever-blessed Trinity. We're the Divine Nature capable of being expressed in a single word, that one word would assuredly be Love."

Because of this stupendous fact, this "Deepest secret of heaven," because indeed God is Love, He made the sublime decision to take upon Himself human flesh, and in the person of His Son, live upon this earth as a man.

Says your Bible: "God so loved the world that He gave His only Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have eternal life" (John 3:16, RSV).

Why did God do this? Love is the only answer. He saw that this was the only way to reclaim the human race from the bondage of sin into which it had fallen as a result of the sad tragedy described in the third chapter of Genesis. Because the inhabitants of earth were the creatures of His hand, He loved them, deploring the sorrow and suffering that had come upon them.

He longed to bring them again into fellowship with Himself, such as He had enjoyed with Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden.

Fourth Annual Pembroke Day Scheduled Oct. 6

Pembroke State University and the Town of Pembroke have announced that the fourth annual "Pembroke Day", a festive day in which the town and university join in camaraderie in building closer relations between the two, will be held on the PSU campus Wednesday, Oct. 6, from 10 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

The public is again invited free of charge to the colorful event co-sponsored by PSU and the Town of Pembroke.

The entire quadrangle area of the PSU campus will be alive with multiple activities and many displays. The All-American Chorus from the 82nd Airborne Division of Ft. Bragg, which has proven so popular in past "Pembroke Day" observances, is being invited again.

So are the Purnell Swett High School Ensemble and the LRDA Senior Citizens of the Saddletree area. The latter will display their quilt making skills along with their other creative talents.

Also back will be Ken Schultz of Chicago, whose repertoire includes juggling, comedy, acrobatics, fire-eating, mime and unicycling. The sight of Schultz on stilts blowing up balloons has become a familiar and popular one in past events.

Invited to perform will also be the Native American Student Organization dancers of PSU.

As in past years, a "Health Fair," coordinated by Eva Sampson, PSU nurse supervisor, will be held in conjunction with "Pembroke Day" with some 34 health care providers and resource people participating. Plans are to again to have two health screenings: cholesterol costing $5 and glucose costing $4.

A booth for face painting will be set up along with an information booth, manned by PSU marshals.

Ideas discussed at the initial meeting of the "Pembroke Day" committee included a "fun race" plus a volleyball game, pitting PSU students against PSU faculty and staff and Pembroke business people.

As in the past, the 3 1/2 hour event is to be broadcast live by an area radio station. Area TV stations will also be invited to the event.

A big feature of the day will again be the display of products by Pembroke merchants. This is a good way that they can inform PSU's student body of 3,045 students of goods and services available in the Town of Pembroke.

Chaired again by Dr. James B. Chavis, PSU vice chancellor for student affairs, the committee planning "Pembroke Day" includes: Ron Brown, secretary-treasurer of Pates Supply Co.; Charles Bryant, PSU police chief; Shannon Burks, PSU director of purchasing services; Vaughn Cowan, president of PSU's Native American Student Organization; Greg Cummings, Pembroke city councilman; McDuffie Cummings, Pembroke Town Manager, Clint Ferrara, director of PSU dining services; Joe Huffman, president of PSU Student Government Association; Dr. Diane Jones, PSU assistant vice chancellor for student affairs; Dr. Stan Knick, director/curator of PSU Native American Resource Center; Warren Love, director of PSU Media Center; Dr. Robert Reising, PSU professor of communicative arts; Dr. Robert Romine, chairman of PSU Music Department; Eva Sampson, PSU Nurse Supervisor; Ron Sanders, PSU Baptist campus minister; Paul Van Zandt, chairman of PSU Art Department; Gene Warren, PSU public information director; and Sgt. Gene Wolf of PSU's Army ROTC.

For more information about "Pembroke Day" telephone Dr. Chavis' office at (919) 521-6226.
