

David Weinstein Named Chairman of PSU Board Of Trustees

Neil Hank, and Vice Chancellor for Development and University Relations, Prudence S. Precourt.

In his presentation to the board, Chancellor Oxendine said he had "an outstanding group of vice chancellors" and was very proud of their accomplishments and leadership. He introduced to the board Professor Suellen Cabe who is the chair of the Faculty Senate.

Chancellor Oxendine told the board that The University of North Carolina's General Administration has made plans to upgrade Pembroke State to a Comprehensive I University based upon a finding by the Carnegie Foundation. According to the Chancellor, General Administration is seeking additional funds to accomplish this.

The impact of the elevation to Comprehensive I status on PSU would mean an increase in the library holdings, administrative staff, faculty for the graduate programs, and in faculty salaries.

Chancellor Oxendine also reported on the status of the Regional center for Economic Development. "Mr. David Weinstein and I went to Washington D.C. to meet with Congressman Rose and a delegation of persons that he had assembled." said Oxendine. "We asked for $6 million from the federal government and then will need an additional $3 million from the state."

Outgoing chairman Bass thanked board members for their support during the past three years. "I also chaired three board meetings as vice chairman," he said. "during that time and the last three years, the board operated to determine who we are, where we're going, and how to get there."

"We hired a new chancellor, we re-defined the mission statement, and we looked at ourselves during the feasibility study," Bass said.

"Dr. Precourt proved we could raise money for the university, and we worked towards improving relationships with regional high schools," said Bass.

After his election as board chairman, Weinstein complimented his predecessor and said, "Marion Bass has done an outstanding job. He has been physically, emotionally and mentally attached to this (chairman's) job."

Weinstein pledged to keep the faculty, administration, students and board members informed. "I will give it my best shot," he said before adjourning the meeting.

The Pembroke State University Board of Trustees elected a former mayor of Lumberton as its chairman.

David F. Weinstein, who served as Lumberton's mayor from 1987 to 1991, replaced Marion Bass as chairman of the 13 member board.

Bass is a 1965 PSU graduate and lives in Charlotte. He has served on the board of trustees for 7 years, the last three as its chairman. He will remain until his term of service expires in 1995.

Elected as vice chair was Gloria G. Williams from Raeford. Williams has served on the board since 1989.

John C. Nicholson of Lumberton was elected by the board as its secretary. Robert E. Caton from Lumberton, Sybil Lowry Collins from Pembroke, and Fred George from Laurinburg were elected to serve on the board's executive committee.

Collins was recently appointed by Governor Hunt in August to fill the seat vacated by JoAnn Locklear of Lumberton who was elected Robeson

With His hand on his Bible and a prayer of hope and faith, Harold Glynn Dial just completed a Write-In Petition as a candidate for the Maryland Fifth Congressional District. Dial a candidate in the Democrat primary received 6,315 votes. He said that reminded him of the 7,000 sons of Levi. "I wonder where the other 685 are. I would like to find them. I know they are there, they just haven't heard about my campaign as a BIBLICIST."

When asked why he is following up this primary with a Write-In campaign, he gave the following confident response: "Senator Strom Thurmond went to the Senate with a Write-In campaign. If it worked for him with the help of the LORD, it can work for me. Many people did not know about my candidacy, but we had to start somewhere. It has been one miracle after another. In case you didn't know it, I spent less than $500 on campaign literature and ads. I had no posters or billboard and received 6,315 vote, coming in 3rd in a field of seven candidates with the help of the LORD. God is good. I received no money from anyone and I will not accept any money from anyone. I owe my total allegiance to JESUS CHRIST. I am accountable to Him, body and seek their advice and prayers. Please pray for me. My father always told me, 'A winner never quits, and a quitter never wins! We have a new fire started on the political landscape
