Maynors Contribute to UNCP Youth Outreach

Pembroke -- Shelia and Charles Alton Maynor, owners of Southern Interiors in Pembroke, recently contributed $2,000 for UNCP's youth outreach program through the UNCP Foundation, Inc. CAPPY, or Campus Police and Pembroke Youth, is a program that provides enrichment activities and role models for area youngsters. The next outing in May is a trip for approximately 20 youngsters to see the Atlanta Braves, said David Helton, CAPPY coordinator and UNCP's public safety director. Mr. Maynor, who with his wife have operated Southern Interiors for 20 years, said he read and heard many good things about CAPPY. "I had heard about the CAPPY program, and I saw the program was trying to change things for youth here in a positive way," he said. "I'm very excited, and I hope to be involved in the future." The Maynors are no strangers at the University. Mr. Maynor is a 1964 graduate with a B.S. degree and later earned a Master's of Science in Education degree in 1980. He and his father were the first father-son combination in the Chancellor's Club, an elite group of contributors to the University. "We've been in the Chancellor's Club for some time, and I try to do something every year for the University," he said. "My dad (The Rev. Charles W. Maynor) is the only surviving member of the Class of 1940." Mr. Helton thanked the Maynors for their generosity on behalf of the CAPPY program. "When you give your time and/or your resources to a program such as CAPPY, you become an instant winner just knowing that you have helped a young person have a better chance in life," he said. "I would sincerely like to thank the Maynors for their help, and I invite more people to experience this feeling." CAPPY has sponsored trips to the Charlotte Hornets, the North Carolina Zoo, Ripley's Sea Aquarium, NASCAR races in Rockingham and Darlington and more. Often UNCP students serve as chaperones. "These children are our future, and we must make a valiant effort to ensure that we provide them with every opportunity to develop and grow," Helton said. "These trips are just the beginning. Once we have a community building where the youth and adults can interact and learn from each other on a more consistent basis, we will see positive changes in our community." For more information about CAPPY, call David Helton at 521-6690.

Pembroke Community Crusade

Recently, three churches in the town of Pembroke have joined together to engage in a community crusade. First Baptist, Mt. Olive Pentecostal Holiness and Berea Baptist have been meeting since March to plan the event. Members of each of the churches have been holding prayer services Wednesday night at each of the churches to pray for the community and the Crusade. Pastors Bruce Swett of Berea, Kent Chavis of First Baptist and Hubbard Oris of Mt. Olive have undertaken this task to reach out to families and youth of the community for Christ. The Crusade is the product of churches of two different denominations working together who have identified a common need in the community; the need for Christ to be the focal point in the lives of families and youth. It is the common goal of these churches that this Crusade will help the families and youth of the community realize they can face their burdens and hardships with the help of Jesus Christ. To start off the Crusade, a Pizza Blast will be held at Mt. Olive Pentecostal Holiness, Friday, April 17 beginning at 6:00pm. There will also be outside activities, if the weather permits. Saturday, April 18, starting at 10:00am persons will be out in the community promoting the Crusade

Members of these churches will be out witnessing from door to door telling folks about the Crusade, and spreading the good news of Jesus Christ. On Sunday, April 26, 1998, a week of services will be held at each of the churches. Everyone, regardless of church denomination, is invited to attend. These services are for those who do not attend church, as well as those that do. Each night there will be a special speaker and special music. Al Wood, former UNC basketball player will be speaking. Mr. Wood also played basketball for the NBA for six years. He will be speaking on Wednesday night, which is the night set aside to target the community youth. All the youth are especially invited to come out and hear his story. The schedule of the week is as follows: Sunday, April 26, speaker Rev. Mike Cummings, Mt. Olive. 6:00pm—Monday, April 27, speaker Rev. Kent Chavis, Mt. Olive. 7:30pm—Tuesday, April 28, speaker Rev. Mike Cummings, Berea. 7:30pm—Wednesday, April 29, speaker Al Wood, Berea. 7:30—Thursday, April 30, speaker Rev. Mike Cummings, First Baptist. 7:30pm—Friday, May 1, speaker Rev. Bruce Swett, First Baptist 7:30pm

Rodgers and Hammerstein's Carousel to be Presented

Rodgers and Hammerstein's fable of love and redemption set to one of their greatest scores, waltzes into the Givens Performing Arts Center for one performance only on Tuesday, April 28 at 8:00 P.M. This timeless classic is set in a small fishing village on the rocky New England coast and tells the story of Billy Bigelow and Julie Jordan. Billy, the handsome, swaggering barker for Mrs. Mullin's carousel, falls for Julie, who works at a nearby mill. Against everyone's advice, Julie marries Billy, but their brief happiness turns to despair when Billy loses his job. In a botched up robbery attempt, Billy takes his own life, fearful for not being able to provide for Julie and their unborn child. Refused at heaven's gate until he redeems himself on earth, Billy receives not one, but two chances to make things right. Eventually, he does, as his love for Julie and his daughter Louise transcends his own death. "Carousel" is based on the play "Lilith" by Hungarian playwright Ferenc Molnar and features some of Rodgers and Hammerstein's most moving works, such as "If I Love You," "What's the Use of Wond'rin'" and "You'll Never Walk Alone."
