SOME PEOPLE SAY signing the correct operation site is being overly cautious.

WE SAY in surgery, there's no such thing.

By signing the surgical site prior to surgery, while the patient is under anesthesia, step forward in planning with some surgeons. It's more work, but maximizes your patient's safety.

SOUTHEASTERN REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTER
Neighbors Caring For Neighbors.

"If I was a patient, I'd rather have it be here in my backyard

than go somewhere they don't know you."

"As Mayor of Fairmont, I've met all kinds of people. Friends and strangers. The people at Southeastern have been a vital part of my life. A few years back, I lost my wife and daughter to cancer. Southeastern worked hard to keep them on Earth, but they had to go. The people there are some of the best I've ever met. I couldn't ask for better service.

I'm living witness that people care."
