Scenes from Lumbee Homecoming Parade

Shown left to right: Madie Rae Locklear, treasurer of the Lumbee River Electric Membership Corporation's Board of Directors; and Ms. Pauline B. Locklear, Secretary of the Indian Honor Association who honored 100 Indian Warriors from the 1958 KKK Rally. Both women are from the Propsect community. Ms. Pauline B. Locklear was one of the few women who attended that event. Ms. Madie Locklear rode the KKK float in honor of her father, the late Rudolph Anderson. She is displaying a photo of the late Sim Oxendine and Shel Warriax of Charlotte. This photo was in Life Magazine and shows these gentlemen draping themselves in the KKK flag after the KKK members had been scattered by the Lumbee Warriors. The KKK floats and the presentation of medals to the Warriors by the tribal government was one of the most exciting events of Homecoming.

Exciting Field Trips for PHA Youth Center

The students at the Pembroke Housing Authority Youth Center were really busy the last two weeks in June, covering different parts of North and South Carolina. On Tuesday, June 17th, the kids visited the North Carolina Zoo in Asheboro. They all enjoyed seeing the different animals despite the fact that it rained.

On Thursday, June 19th, the students visited the Exploris Museum in Raleigh. Exploris Museum is the world's first interactive museum about the world. The museum allowed the students to explore, through various activities, how they are connected to people around the world.

On Tuesday, June 24th, PHA youth traveled to South Carolina to visit Ripley's Aquarium at Myrtle Beach. The exploration began with an educational presentation about how pollution affects humans and animals. After learning valuable knowledge about pollution, the students viewed the aquatic tanks filled with sea life from around the world. The PHA youth also had the opportunity to touch the stingrays and the horseshoe crabs.

Education assistance available for Lumbee students

The Lumbee Tribe announces that scholarship applications are available at the Tribal Office at 707 Union Chapel Road in Pembroke. The purpose of the award is to encourage Lumbee students to pursue higher education. Applicants must be: (1) an enrolled member of the Lumbee Tribe, (2) a resident of North Carolina (3) have a GPA of 2.5 or above, and (3) enrolled full-time into a college or university. Interested tribal members should contact Alex Baker or Brenda Locklear at 521-7861 or visit the Tribal Office for further information. Funds are limited and applications are due August 4. Scholarships will be awarded in fall semester.

Young people and babies and the parade and park activities was a family event. Kim Jacobs McMillan and her nephew, Dillon Cummings, enjoyed the festivities.

Pembroke Law Firm, Locklear, Jacobs, Hunt and Brooks, sponsored one of the floats which honored the 1958 KKK warriors. Shown on the float are warriors or their representatives.

Mary Hunt and Larry Jacobs with his grandchildren, Dillon and Cassidy Cummings, enjoyed the festivities. Jacobs is comptroller for Lumbee River EMC.

Pembroke Housing Authority Employees Recognized for Efforts

PEMBROKE-The Board of commissioners of the Pembroke Housing Authority recently honored its employees for their efforts and hard work in being recognized by the U.S. Department of HUD. The Authority recently received a Public Housing Assessment System (PHAS) status of High Performer. To thank them for their hard work, the Commissioners held a special July 4th luncheon during which each fulltime, regular employee was presented with a $400 bonus. Chairman J. Garth Locklear stated, "We are extremely proud of our housing program and each of you for a job well done." All of the Authority's employees were completely surprised. "No one knew that we were getting these bonuses," said Sherry Jones, Director of Operations. "We are very thankful." Another employee, Heraold "Kenney" Dial, in thanking the Board for his bonus said, "I am going on vacation next week. Now I won't have to make a withdrawal."

Tribal Government hosts food, awards and rally during Lumbee Homecoming

The Lumbee Tribe offered free corn to all those interested on Saturday, July 5, 2003 at the Tribal Office in Pembroke. Thomas Starling of the Farm Service Agency of the United States Department of Agriculture handed out the corn.

Mr. Henry Clay Chavis, District 5 representative, said "it is a privilege to assist members in any way that they might need help. Whether it's housing, energy assistance or the food programs were offer and support. Helping and serving others is and always should be what the Tribal Council of the Lumbee tribe is about."

The Tribe also held an honor ceremony Saturday for the first 100 people who have been verified and their stories documented as being part of the group who shot out the KKK in Maxton in 1958. "Lumbee Warriors," as they have been officially been called, will be honored for the next 4 years until the 50th anniversary in 2008. Darlene Jacobs, Tribal Administrator said, "it is important that the tribe document the people and reports as accurately as possible and preserve this important moment in the history of the Lumbee people for all generations to come." A federal recognition rally was also held at Old Main at the University of North Carolina at Pembroke after the parade. The Lumbee Tribal Council and members of the Lumbee Regional Development Association (LRDA) came together to show the unity and support of the current Lumbee Recognition Bills introduced in the United States Congress. Representative Mike McIntyre was present and updated members of the current status of the bill he introduced on February 25. "I am pleased to report that, currently, my bill has 199 co-sponsors. You have 200 people supporting you in Washington." The last recognition bill introduced in the House only had 20 co-sponsors.

Reggie holley, Deputy State Director for Senator Elizabeth Dole, was present and brought greetings and support to the Lumbee people. Senator Dole made the Lumbee Recognition Act her first bill to introduce in the United States Senate on February 14.
