PRINT THE CORRECTION.

We hardly think it is necessary to apologize to the readers of this paper for calling attention to a gross inaccuracy contained in the following from the Lexington Leader: The Daily News of Greensboro, last Thursday carried big headlines of a story about an affair between Mr. Sherman and the conductor on No. 38 Wednesday night...

The price of seats at the Jeffries-Johnson prize fight are still rising in value; and there is no telling where the high cost of the necessities of life are going to stop!

The last battercake left wafting alone.

THE BOONE CELEBRATION A Good Time Assured to Everybody Who Attends.

(Special to Daily News.) Lexington, April 6.—On Saturday, April 30, the 160th anniversary of the leaving of the Boone family from Pennsylvania for the banks of the Yadkin and the 141st anniversary of Daniel Boone's departure from North Carolina for Kentucky, a celebration will be held at the Boone cabin, in Boone township, Davidson county, 12 miles from Salisbury and Lexington, eight from Spencer, five from Coolidge and 25 from Winston-Salem...

There is hardly a sentence in the foregoing that speaks a whole truth. The article referred to did not appear until Friday morning. When there was a perfect deluge during the day all the facts stated therein were verified and corrected Saturday morning and an additional error was brought to light that is the only proper correction this paper has ever made...

It is also up to the Leader to prove that the whole tale told by the conductor turned out to be false. The Daily News not only showed that it was true but the esteemed political patron saint of the Leader down at Elligh has reproduced the article that appeared in the Daily News, via the Salisbury and Spencer papers, and that too, with outspoken commendation of the state of facts the said article contained, with never a suggestion of doubt about their truthfulness.

We challenge the Leader's courage and sense of fairness by asking it to publish the "correction" which it alleges we have made.

WHAT ABOUT THIS STENCH?

For the past few weeks Democratic editors have sought to make political capital out of certain gruff and alleged great townships in New York and Pittsburgh but has anyone heard of any genuine condemnation emanating from Democratic sources relative to the stench that is smelling to high heaven in Mississippi?

Some gentlemen, are you willing to apply the same rule in Mississippi that you so graciously apply in Pittsburg and New York? Is bribery and debauchery any the less crime because Democrats pur in heart and unvarnished engage in it? Would you have the country believe that sin and shame and pollution are the mettle where the Republican party is the dominant party?

The Republican party is now, and always has been, willing to go before the country on the record it has made—of a truth the party as a political party, has nothing to hide or conceal.

CAN THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY IN NORTH CAROLINA SAY AS MUCH? Your answer is awaited with interest.

But to come back to the point, Mississippi is overwhelmingly Democratic. It is possible that Democrats, even from the one honored by his people with the highest office within their power to bestow, about to the mokest swayed left in the pay of vice and corruption can be guilty of common bribery?

Come to think of it—that's the same crime that's eating the Democratic press so much cause for rejoicing in Pittsburg and New York.

How do you stand on the case in Mississippi, gentlemen?

Our position is simple. We are opposed to white-washed crime and corruption now and hereafter. We desire to see a full and complete investigation sink the crime deep so deep, whenever and wherever bribery or vice kindred vice shall be charged to those hiding public office.

More, we want to see the guilty punished to the fullest extent of the law.

SHOOTING FROM AMBUSH.

A full-blooded and gentleman and a scholar, and an honorable citizen, rim-paved with the coward who makes an attack designed to injure from ambush. That kind of warfare is never indulged in by men; it is the favorite dodge only of convicted criminals who think they are men. Many courage and the idea of a square deal were in the eyes of such a scoundrel.

We have no time for a controversy with any man who is ashamed to sign his name to newspaper articles containing attacks. What we write in these columns we are responsible for, and we neither strike in the dark, nor from the dark. People who believe in honesty of purpose and freedom of expression never have to think long in reaching a decision between the open and candid statements of a newspaper speaking its own mind boldly and candidly and a pious sneak who crawls behind a some demagogic ambulance to the bayonet.

If the comet has been responsible for the warm weather we have had, to what account must we charge the cool spell? The Democratic party.
