

GAZING AT THE COMET MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

It is Now Plainly Visible Just East of the Morning Star.

For the past two days the most stalked of comet has been a feature to those who do not care for the morning sun. A number of local gazing have declared for the past three weeks that they had seen the star but to most it was known that the would be rather more had been interested by hunting the sky for just plain ordinary stars. For the most recent account the state of such things is given in the following paragraph which can be seen in the News column.

Thereby and where the comet can be seen to plainly of which it is just a little to the east of the morning star and is said to be visible to the naked eye. It is reported that many, notwithstanding the great number of stars in the sky, have been disappointed to see the comet and it is well to place each day's position each day. News which don't have to be reported here as it may be expected that some will bring them for the past few months from the north appear and does express great satisfaction tangled with its tail. The comet now looks like a regular star through the bright atmosphere at night. Still in the early part of the night the tail of the comet can be seen to extend in length and it appears to consist of a series of short dashes which stand out in the dark sky. It is good ahead of time to get those stars made out.

Hornet Boys View Halley's Comet
—Special to Daily News

Onward and upward goes the passing interest in the H.H.—the magnificent show presented by Halley's comet this morning. Two or three of the embryo students of the school, calculating from the movements of the heavenly body, thought that the comet could be seen to advance a few degrees in the morning and the old batch and their successors put their heads together and the rest of the bunch were soon awake and off in the darkness took a peek at the celestial visitor. There, some eight or ten degrees above the horizon and about 10 degrees to the north of it, was the tail of the comet and there it sat silent and extending some 20 or 30 degrees in a smooth, thin line two-thirds of the way across the sky.

The comet was bright for some time and then about 4 o'clock began clouds to fall from view. It was, however, the most magnificent sight I have ever seen and well worth a gazing, staying a few hours extra and possibly since the claim about comet comes only once in 10 or 15 years.

Reidsville Also Gazing

—Special to Daily News

Reidsville May 6. A number of persons here have been rising early during the past week for the sole purpose of gazing at Halley's comet. For the last few days it has been plainly visible between 3:30 and 4 o'clock just a little to the east of the morning star. The tail, it is said by those who have observed it, is also there although the glaring appearance expected by the general public is absent. Parties are being organized here to assist in early rising and gazing and from talk heard everybody in town will take a look before May 18, when it is due to start back where it belongs.

Seen at Oak Ridge

—Special to Daily News

Oak Ridge, May 6. Halley's comet was observed by a number of persons here this morning, indeed it is not a conspicuous object in the east, at from 3 to 2:30 a.m. Its tail extends from 10 to 20 degrees and in appearance resembles the comet which was visible in the western sky in January. It was seen by some persons earlier in the week.

The procession will then form and proceed to the cemetery in the Brownfield.

At the exercises this morning, the principal event will be an address by Rev. William Walton Kitling. The day will close with a musical comedy farce entitled "Out in the Streets."

The baccalaureate service will be delivered by Rev. E. K. McArthur, pastor of West Market Street Methodist Church, at 8 o'clock Sunday night.

MISS MARGARET WHARTON GRADUATES AT CHARLOTTE

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Wharton and J. J. Wharton will make this afternoon for Charlotte to be present at the commencement exercises of the Presbyterian college which begin Sunday and last until Wednesday night. Miss Margaret Wharton, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wharton, and one of Greensboro's most popular and accomplished young women, is among the graduates this year, and her name appears prominently in the program of the event. Besides being president of her class, Miss Wharton is president of one of the college societies, showing conclusively that she is a host of friends in this her native city.

WOMAN PICKPOCKET

SENT ON TO COURT

W. L. Price stood at his home four miles from Summerfield at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning, following a bad cold, the funeral will be held Sunday afternoon from Elm Rock. M. P. church, Rockingham county, services to be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Kenmott.

The deceased was 31 years old and a popular young man throughout Rockingham and Guilford county. He was proprietor of the Carolina Roller Mills at Sammerville, and identified with several other industries. Two brothers, ex Representative J. S. Price of Rockingham and S. T. Price of Sammerville survive.

A Big Act at the Bijou.

The Marionettes is a novelty and a rare treat and one of the many acts that go to make up a valuable entertainment, there are fewer Marionette acts than any other, the number being so small that you can count them on your fingers. The girls have been performing their act for 20 years. During that period they have toured the world several times and traveled this continent for 10 years and during that period have exhibited with the larger circuses, notably the Ringling Brothers and the Barnum and Bailey shows, and they have also appeared at the leading theaters, and are now making their first tour through this particular section of the country. Manager Collins of the Bijou, secured this novelty act for the last three days of this week, and if you want to enjoy a good hearty laugh you should see the Marionettes. They are especially interesting to the ladies and children but to the older apparently are just as interesting. In addition to the Marionettes in Miss Frankie Wallace, who is a clever singer and presents one of the most artistic entertainments of clod dancing ever seen at the Bijou.

NEGRO OVERCOME BY GAS

FUMES WHILE TAPPING PIPE

Altret Fuller, a negro employee of the gas company, while tapping a gas pipe on Main Street yesterday afternoon was overcome by the fumes of the gas and picked up unconscious by fellow workers. Dr. Burroughs was called to the case and soon had Fuller on the road to recovery.

Mass Meeting at Centenary.

Tomorrow instead of the usual breakfast at 11 o'clock, there will be held two special mass meetings, one for the men and women, and the other, at the same hour, in another part of the building for the women and girls. Miss Price and Miss Rogers will speak to the women. The men will do their own talking. The object of the meetings is to bring the whole congregation and their friends into closer fellowship and into greater enjoyment of their own religion. Friends and strangers are invited to these meetings.

Anson Theater.

The fall on the last half of this week is good and full of good comedy singing, talking and dancing, and those who fail to see the show this afternoon and to night will have missed a treat, as the unique E. W. Waterman is of the highest kind. Everybody seems to like his playing on the piano, and the Floss Sisters, as usual, are in the leading class, as also the other girls. In some cases the girls sing on certain calls. The Flossies have the best team of its kind, and this is the first time in the city and they please the audience. The pictures are good, and there will be two second matinees today.

Mrs. Jarboe's Bridge.

Mrs. Parrish Jarboe was the mistress for a delightful bridge party at her home on North Elm street yesterday afternoon. The three tables affording a spirited game and much enjoyment to those present. After the game dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Jarboe will entertain at bridge again on Monday afternoon.

4 CENTS ON EVERY DOLLAR

Saving money is only half your duty. The other half is to set your money at work safely and profitably. For the great majority of people the best form of investment of savings is an interest-bearing account in a reliable bank.

There are safe investments that pay more than 4 per cent, but, as a rule, they require a considerable amount of money, and, in any event, it is wise to be careful about going into them. While you are waiting for your opportunity, leave your surplus cash in this strong bank. Your money will be here when you want it, and every dollar of it will be earning 4 per cent, compound interest constantly.
