ITEMS OF INTEREST IN WADESBORO SOCIETY

(Special to Daily News.)

Wadesboro, May 14.—Mrs. A. Hardison entertained a large number of friends at forty-two Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gathings were at home to a number of young people Wednesday evening. Refreshments were served after an enthusiastic game of forty-two, and the guests highly enjoyed the evening.

Mrs. Earl Martin and Mrs. Hampton Bennett Allen entertained at the home of the former Friday afternoon. The game of forty-two was the feature of the evening. A delightful salad course was served.

Mrs. L. D. Robinson was a hostess to a limited number of friends Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Margaret Williams, of Burraw. The guests were: Mesdames L. J. Huntley, F. J. Cox, E. W. Martin, T. W. Chambliss, Olive Hooper, F. C. Parsons, H. B. Allen, R. M. Huntley and W. C. Via; and Misses Marion Little, Lora Little, Johnnie Dunlap, Ethel Dunlap and Margaret Williams. A delightful luncheon was served after a game of progressive forty-two.

Mrs. L. J. Ingram and granddaughter, Laura Virginia Via, have returned from Charlotte, where they spent some time with relatives. Mrs. Ingram has made arrangements to take a European trip this summer. She will sail June 2 from New York in the Campania, with a party organized by Miss Carroll, of Raleigh.

The Wadesboro Club was most delightfully entertained Thursday afternoon, May 12, by Mrs. R. M. Mann, assisted by Mrs. R. E. Little, who served delicious fruit punch on the veranda. This was a Mark Twain evening, and a sketch of the life of Samuel L. Clemens was read by Mrs. Thomas A. Marshall. Selections from "Innocents Abroad," by Mrs. T. B. Henry, Mark Twain, contemporary, by Mrs. R. E. Little. Each guest was asked to bring a Mark Twain joke. These, when related, pervaded the air with wit and mirth and even the most sedate were provoked to laughter.

The charming hostess, always desiring the happiness of others, had planned a pleasant surprise for Mrs. Laura J. Ingram, who will sail for Europe June 2. At the appointed hour a "good will" shower poured forth from hearts and love notes and souvenirs, toasts and many others petitioned the white winged dove. Mrs. Ingram gratefully received these good wishes and happily responded. The guests then assembled on the veranda, where dainty refreshments were served, concluded with mints and roses.

The invited guests were: Mesdames C. M. Burns, Jr., J. G. Boylin, E. E. Little, T. A. Marshall, J. D. Leak, U. B. Blalock, T. W. Cox, L. J. Ingram, T. J. Fetzer, W. F. Parsons, T. R. Henry, J. A. Hardison, F. A. Horne, C. M. Burns, J. C. Redfern, W. C. Via, R. L. Hardison, T. L. Caudle, Larry McLendon, L. J. Huntley, E. A. and B. G. Covington, J. C. McLeod, B. G. Dunn and Miss Helen McLendon.

Thursday afternoon the beautiful suburban home of Mrs. Theron Lamar Caudle was the coveted goal toward which a large number of handsomely gowned matrons and maidens vended their way, the occasion being that at home given in honor of Miss Margaret Williams, of Burraw, N. C., and Miss Charlie Belle Craig, the prospective bride of Reid Tull. Little, T. W. Chambliss, E. S. Ash, and R. L. Hardison.

Mrs. John D. Leak and Miss Eva Caudle conducted the guests from the parlor, redolent with white and red roses to the punch room, attractively arranged in pink. Here Mrs. L. D. Robinson, and Misses Marion and Lora Little served delicious punch among pink laurel blossoms and strawberry islands.

Dainty score cards with pink silk cords were then distributed and the popular game of forty-two was begun, which resulted in Mrs. J. Coyt Redfern winning the prize, a beautiful brass jardiniere.

Misses Ruth Allen, Lavieze Chambliss and Elizabeth Horne, in pretty white and pink costumes, served an elegant luncheon, concluded with Neapolitan block cream and cakes.

Among those present were: Mesdames L. J. Huntley, H. W. Little, E. S. Ash, T. W. Chambliss, R. L. Hardison, T. B.

Henry, C. M. Burns, Jr., J. D. Leak, L. D. Robinson, T. A. Marshall, Eugene Little, L. L. Little, of Ansonville, H. R. McLendon, C. M. Burns, T. J. Fetzer, L. H. Horton, H. B. Allen, Thomas Cox, U. B. Blalock, Coyt Redfern, John T. Bennett, E. A. Covington, B. G. Covington, David Brower, W. P. Parsons, James A. Hardison, M. M. Morton, L. L. McLendon, and Misses Margaret Williams, Fannie Bennett, Charlie Belle Craig, Helen McLendon, Lora Little, Marion Little and Inez Caudle.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN STATESVILLE SOCIETY

(Special to Daily News.)

Statesville, May 14.—One of the most delightful social events of the week took place Thursday evening at Hotel Irwell, when Miss Arlene Gilmer, daughter of Professor and Mrs. E. A. Gilmer, entertained the young ladies of the senior class of Statesville Female college and their young gentlemen friends, Miss Gilmer, who is herself a senior, is a leading spirit at the college, and her schoolmates were assured that a treat was in store for them when the invitations to the affair arrived.

Mrs. H. O. Steele delightfully entertained the members of the Macdowell Music club and other guests Friday afternoon at her beautiful home on Mulberry street. It was the last meeting of the Macdowell club for this season—the club disbanded for the summer—and it was one of unusual interest and pleasure. The guests were ushered to the punch room as they entered, and when all had arrived an instrumental musical program was rendered by Mesdames William Wallace and R. H. McLoughlin and Misses Katherine Gaines and Rae Gill. Little Rosa Steele, daughter of the hostess, delighted the guests with a number of vocal selections. The most important feature of the occasion was the presentation of a beautiful silver belt buckle to Miss Gaines, the retiring president of the club, by Mrs. Wallace, who spoke in behalf of the club. The buckle was a token of the club's appreciation of the administration of Miss Gaines, who has been president of the club since its organization. Miss Gaines has for the past five years been an efficient and popular musical instructor at Statesville Female college, but who will no longer be with that institution. Next fall she will go to Elizabeth college, Charlotte, as an instructor. She leaves next week for her home in St. Louis to spend the summer vacation.

Mrs. A. P. Steele gave a card party last Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. E. R. Rankin, of Tryon. Bridge was played at two tables and the prize was won by Miss Marie Long. The Bridge club held a very pleasant meeting with Mrs. Steele Thursday, the game being played at four tables. The prize, a hand-embroidered waist, was won by Mrs. E. R. Rankin. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. L. W. MacKesson, one of the Entre Nous club's most charming members, was hostess to the club, and quite a number of outsiders Wednesday afternoon. Progressive dominoes was played and the prize, a bottle of perfume, was awarded Miss Mary Scott. The visitor's prize, a box of stationery, went to Miss Miriam Clarke, of Richmond. The home was made attractive by the use of many roses in the decorations, and as the guests were served with the delicious refreshments they were each presented with a bunch of pretty roses as a favor. Among the out-of-town guests present was Miss Booser, of South Carolina, who is here on a visit to Mrs. F. E. Steele. The affair was an exceedingly enjoyable one.

The members of the Thursday Afternoon club, the young lady teachers of the city graded school and quite a number of other friends enjoyed the hospitality of the William Morrison home Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Morrison entertained in her usual pleasing manner. It was a purely social meeting, the club program being omitted, and good-natured on the club records as a most delightful event. An interesting game—a flower love story—furnished amusement and pleasure. The prizes were won by Mesdames J. F. Carlton and W. M. Baringer, both prizes being copies of high class novels. Seasonable refreshments were served.

The Elricemoh club members and eight or ten friends outside the club were delightfully entertained by Mrs. C. M. Steele Friday afternoon at her elegant residence on Mulberry street. The interior of the home was beautifully decorated with pretty roses plucked from the rose gardens which beautify the outside surroundings of the home. A photograph outfit afforded amusement and the affair was a very pleasant one. Ice cream, cake and punch were served.

Little Miss Gertrude Ives, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ives, celebrated her eighth birthday Wednesday afternoon by entertaining about 20 of her little friends at the home of her grand father, Dr. L. Harrill, on Davis avenue. Games were played in the yard and the occasion was one of continuous merriment from the time the little folks arrived until their departure. Appropriate refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Holland celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage at their home in Olin township Saturday. The affair was a general reunion as well as a golden wedding celebration, and about 80 guests were present, about 40 of these being children, grandchildren and other relatives of the aged couple. All the surviving children were present. The dinner was abundant and of excellent quality and the company enjoyed that feature as well as other pleasing incidents of the social and festive occasion. The many friends of the esteemed couple hope they will be spared to celebrate other anniversaries.

EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN HIGH POINT SOCIETY

(Special to Daily News.)

High Point, May 14.—Saturday afternoon the Daughters of the Confederacy held an important meeting with the president, Mrs. James B. Richardson, at her residence on Broad street. Refreshments were served.

The same afternoon Mrs. A. E. Frazier was hostess to the Young Ladies' Foreign Missionary society of the Washington Street Methodist Episcopal Church, South. There was a good program, and a tempting repast was served. The parliamentary law class of the literary department of the woman's club met Saturday afternoon with Mrs. J. Jonathan Jackson at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Croelmon, on North Main street. Mrs. E. R. Briggs was leader.

Saturday evening there was a small, but very enjoyable dance, at the armory. The commencement exercises of the city schools, which took place the first of the week, were among the best on record. The address by Bishop Robert W. Strange, of Wilmington, and Prof. Eugene C. Brooks, of Trinity college, were especially fine, and the class day exercises of Monday and medal contest of that evening above the average. The out-of-town teachers have left for their respective homes.

Tuesday—Memorial day—was red letter day in town. Through the efforts of the Daughters of the Confederacy interesting exercises were held at the city auditorium Tuesday morning. To the auditorium's commencement dress of palms, ferns and potted plants, the Daughters had added blooming flowers and vases and banks of cut flowers. At 10 o'clock a large crowd had been seated by the lovely young ushers, Misses Marjorie Richardson and Bessie Pitts, granddaughters of the Confederacy. The music signal the Confederate veterans marched to the foot of the steps to the auditorium and formed in two lines, through which the Daughters passed. The Daughters wore pure white with the Confederate colors, and carried large baskets of flowers. They were led by Mrs. James B. Richardson, their beloved president, and it was a beautiful and touching scene to see those old, yet still protecting hands, hold the flags high over the heads of gold and of brown. When the last Daughter had passed the old veterans, headed by Matt Sedgwick and Flag Bearers Ward, followed in line and were given the reserved seats opposite the Daughters. After prayer by Rev. J. E. Thompson, who, with the speaker, Thomas J. Gold, Superintendent Harry Howell and other ministers of the town occupied seats on the rostrum, some excellent music was rendered under the direction of Miss Blanche Shattuck. Superintendent Howell introduced Mr. Gold, who handled in a splendid manner the subject, "The Passing of Sectionalism." At the conclusion of the address the president, assisted by Mrs. Cyrus Wheeler, and Miss Kate Ingram, presented the veterans with crosses of honor. The singing of patriotic songs and the recitation by Rev. E. H. Davis completed the auditorium exercises, after which the march to the cemetery began. Messrs. J. E. Kirtman and John Lindsey furnished amusements for those unable to walk. After decorating the soldiers' graves and continuing with flowers the Confederate monument, suitable songs were sung. A tender talk made by Dr. James B. Richardson, chaplain of the camp, and the march again formed. This time it was a specially prepared band which was served by the Daughters and impromptu speeches were made. From here the veterans and their sponsor, Miss I. Irwin Paylor, ex-sponsor, Miss Francis Ingram, and maids, Misses Helen Brockett and Kate Smith, marched to the gallery of Mr. Rochelle, where a group picture was taken. Mr. Rochelle presented each member of the camp with a large size photograph.

Tuesday afternoon Miss I. Irwin Paylor was hostess at the regular meeting of the W. M. club. Hot tea was served upon arrival. The partner matches were made with different colored hand crocheted covers. The table markers were long stemmed red roses and places were formed by the ribbon on the roses which met and encircled the emcee. Several rounds of the game of thirty-six was played after which a frozen collation of red and white was served. No prizes were given. The servers were tall elegant beauties, who were fastened with white slip-pins engraved with the club's monogram. After Miss Edith Moore, Debbe Sherrod, Kate Smith, Janet and Iren Holmes, Seattle, Wash.; Mary Callum, Greensboro; Zola Brashear, St. Louis; Cornelia Rodman Short.

The musical given Tuesday evening at the Manufacturers' club by the Philomathean club was a decided success and a decided enjoyment. About 100 invitations were issued. The members of the club received the guests. Mesdames W. G. Brashear and Arthur Lyon met the guests at the head of the stairs. Mesdames J. B. Richardson and S. L. Davis directed them to the reception room. Here they were received by Mesdames J. Elwood Cox, George Matton and Charles Ragan. Mesdames T. E. Tate, W. T. Parker and W. J. McAnnally directed the guests to their seats. After the program teas and cakes were served. With the exception of Miss Edith Mc Moore, all the musicians were from Greensboro, and were composed of the following: Herr Roy, Mesdames Foushee, Albright, Stone, Alderman, Miss Nan Wood, Messrs. Roberson, Alderman, Alderman and Alderman.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Wilbur Jones was hostess to the Bridge club. The prize was won by Mrs. Samuel L. Davis.

Wednesday evening the Music Lovers' club met with Miss Clara Boyd. Thursday evening one of the town's "beauty queens" gave a large "carnival party" out to the Smith's greater show. Friday afternoon Mrs. J. Elwood Cox entertained Philomathean club. Several interesting papers were given, after which a delicious luncheon was served. Mrs. J. Jonathan Jackson was hostess Friday afternoon to the Household Economics department of the Woman's club.

COMMANDER JULIUS A. PRATT POST NO. 143, DEPT. ILL. G. A. R. Mr. Isaac Cook, Commander of above Post, Kewanee, Ill., writes: "For a long time I was bothered with backache and pains across my kidneys. About two months ago I started taking Foley's Kidney Pills and soon saw they were doing just as claimed. I kept on taking them and now I am free from backache, and the painful bladder misery is all gone. I like Foley Kidney Pills so well that I have told many of my friends and comrades about them and shall recommend them at every opportunity." Howard Gardner.

Woman's Home Companion. The current springtime number of this always interesting magazine contains an extraordinary variety of spring and summer suggestions. The cover design is unusually attractive, even for the Woman's Home Companion, and the entire magazine lives up to the standard set by the cover. A superb new painting by Jessie Willcox Smith, "Let Dogs Delight to Bark and Bite," is reproduced in full color on a large mat.

The fiction is evidently the result of the most careful selection among the popular authors. "The Empty House," by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, is concluded with dramatic force. "The House of Healing," Juliet Wilbur Tompkins' enticing serial, adds another installment to its popularity. Annie Hamilton Donnell draws the simple story of a lonely college girl in "The Family of Torres," and the late Myra Kelly's East Side children once more make us smile in "Baby's Babies."

The magazine is not all fiction and art, however. Spring and summer fashions are arrayed in tempting pages, including an excellent colored plate, "A Gambrel-Roof Cottage" is described for the prospective home builder. "Mission Bedroom Furniture" is attractively and practically explained with working models, and a long article is devoted to the latest outdoor and gardening books. The Doctor's Page and the wide range of all the other departments cover almost every need in the average home.

Humor, verse, music and an article on building summer camps also contribute to the value of this extraordinarily interesting magazine which has just come to us from the publishers.
