PRESIDENT TAFT WILL BE AT GREAT GATHERING

Will Sound Keynote for Campaign of National Republican League—Special Feature Will Be Appeal to First Voters.

(Special to Daily News.) Washington, D. C., May 28. In order that President Taft may attend his sessions, the executive committee of the National Republican League has changed the dates of the biennial convention of the league from June 28-29 to June 24-25. The convention will be held at Carnegie Hall, New York city, on those dates. The President has accepted the invitation extended by John Hays Hammond, president of the league, and agreed to make a speech which will sound the keynote of the league's campaign for the fall elections. The President's speech will be looked forward to with great interest, as it is expected that it will not only be the battle cry of the officers of the league for the fall campaign, but will also set a pace to be followed by the general campaign. Besides the President there will be present Vice President Sherman, at least 150 Republican governors, a number of senators and representatives, and delegates including prominent Republicans from all over the country. The convention will be the first political convention to be held in New York since 1888, and promises to be the largest ever held in the metropolis. On the evening of June 24, a banquet will be given at Hotel Astor, at which President Taft, Vice President Sherman and other leaders of the Republican party will speak. It is expected that the banquet will be a record breaking one, both as to its size and the prominence of the guests. Headquarters will be established at the Hotel Astor on June 15 in charge of Secretary pro tem, D. B. Atherton and his corps of assistants, where a committee on reception to delegates will also be in attendance. A special feature of the convention will be an appeal to the first voters and the foreigners who have become citizens of the country since the last election. This feature has always been a leading policy of the league, and it is the intention of President Hammond and the officers of the league to redouble their efforts to get these two factors out at the polls. Clubs will be organized in addition to the regular league clubs to look after the interests of the clubs during the campaign, and to organize effectively for the presidential campaign of 1912. Mr. Atherton said: "I feel very much encouraged as the result of letters and telegrams that I am receiving from all parts of the country praising our movement. These telegrams come from governors, from senators and representatives, and from presidents and officers of different state clubs, showing us that we will not only have a record breaking crowd at the New York convention, but that it will exceed in enthusiasm any convention the league has ever held. I believe the league's influence will be a prominent factor in the coming election, also in the national election."

A SCHOOL OF EDUCATION FOR HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS

(Special to Daily News.) Durham, May 28.—Trinity college announces the establishment of a school of education for the preparation of high school teachers. The growth of the state high school, the increase of the number of local tax districts, and the expansion of the city systems have created such a demand for high school teachers that the colleges and normal schools are unable to supply them. It is conceded that this supply must come largely from the ranks of the grammar school teachers, those who have only a high school education, but who have been teaching for a year or two and are making an effort to improve themselves. It is this class of teachers that the school of education at Trinity college wishes to reach. Their needs are: (1) scholarship, (2) a knowledge of high school courses, and (3) instruction in high school methods. No institution in North Carolina is so well situated for giving instruction in these lines as Trinity college. Many teachers come to Durham annually to study the work in the Durham city schools, which, from the standpoint of organization, equipment and supervision are unsurpassed in the south. The Durham county schools lead those of all other counties in the state in length of term, salaries and equipment. No institution in North Carolina has such an environment in which to build a school of education, and such an environment is necessary to its success. In addition to the city and county advantages, Trinity college maintains a four-year high school which is a member of the association of colleges and preparatory schools of the southern states, and it is the only high school in the state that is connected with this organization. This a guarantee throughout the south that its equipment, teaching force, and standards are of a high order. Since the department of education was established at Trinity college three years ago these natural advantages have attracted teachers from many sections of the state. An extension course for teachers actively engaged has been in operation, has grown from year to year, and during the past scholastic year there have been enrolled in this department more than 100 teachers from different parts of the state. Many rural high school teachers have come to Trinity college this spring, at the close of their schools, to study the work in the Durham city schools and in the Trinity park school. For more than a year the authorities have been studying the question with a view to opening next fall a school of education, and this announcement comes

STATESVILLE IS JUSTLY PROUD OF HER SCHOOLS

(Special to Daily News.)

Statesville, May 28.—The interesting and successful commencement exercises of the Statesville graded school, which embraced three nights of this week, marked the close of one of the most successful years in the history of this valuable institution of which Statesville people are justly proud. The exercises consisted of a sermon by Rev. M. L. Keeler, manager of the Baptist orphanage at Thomasville; an excellent literary address by Dr. W. P. Few, professor of English and dean of Trinity college, and the commencement exercises proper by the graduating class. While all the exercises were attended by a crowd which filled the handsome new auditorium, the exercises by the graduates naturally attracting the most interest among the friends and patrons of the school, and on this occasion every available seat in the spacious auditorium and the balcony were taken, and some stood. The program by the class representatives was as follows: Essay, "Some Things About Tuberculosis," by Miss Edith McLaughlin; "Statesville, Some Things From Then (160 years ago) Till Now," Miss Rebecca Stinson; "Forest Preservation," Miss Ethel Lee Russell; Recitations, "Uncle Rodgers' Hange," "Pictura," Miss Charlye Leigh Tomlin; "I'm a Superfluous Man," Ben Long-Frye; "The Revenge," Miss Nellie Fowler; Declarations: "Moses the Deliverer of Israel," Alfred Long Gaither; "Compulsory Education," James Todd White. The papers were excellent productions and were well presented, and the declamations and recitations were valuable contributions to the subjects discussed, and were creditable to both the young people and their source of instruction. The class memento, a set of reference books, was graciously presented to the school by Miss Hazel Wallace, and little Miss Juliet Bristol, who accepted for the school, proved herself equal to the occasion. The presentation of the certificates of diplomas was by L. C. Caldwell, and R. R. McLaughlin awarded the medal given by the local D. A. R.'s for the best

NEGRO ADMITTED ROBBERY AND IMPLICATED ANOTHER

Wilmington, May 28.—One of the boldest and most daring robberies reported in many months was committed yesterday afternoon when James Johnson, a negro, 17 years old, entered an apartment in the Carolina and stole a Ladies' gold watch valued at $90, which he later sold to a colored delivery wagon driver for $2. The robbery was reported to the county authorities at 2:30 p. m. and 30 minutes later the negro had been arrested and the stolen property recovered. Johnson admitted his guilt and gave the officers the name of the negro to whom he sold the watch. Johnson was given a preliminary hearing at 1 o'clock this afternoon before Justice Horneman and bound over to Superior court.
