A GREAT FEAT

English Channel Crossed And Recrossed in Wright Biplane.

ROUND TRIP IN 90 MINUTES

Machine Was Sent to Height of 800 Feet—Received by Cheering Crowds Upon Landing.

(By The Associated Press.)
Dover, England, June 2.—The Hon. Charles Stewart Rolls, captain in the London section of the army motor reserve, driving a Wright biplane, vindicated Anglo-Saxon aeronautics by crossing the English channel twice the evening without alighting. He made the round trip between Dover and Calais in 90 minutes.

While two Frenchmen, Louis Bleriot and Count de Leasseur, have crossed the channel in an aeroplane, it remained for an Englishman in an American machine to perform the double feat. The distance across between the two points is 21 miles, so that his over water flight of 42 miles without a stop establishes a new record.

Captain Rolls left Dover at 6:30 o'clock. The atmospheric conditions were excellent. He had no time in maneuvers, but after describing a circle headed toward the coast of France. In anticipation of the flight, torpedoes steamed at full speed across the strait, but the pace of the aeroplane was swifter.

Captain Rolls sent his machine to a height of 800 feet, and at that altitude he skimmed through the air like a great bird. The motor worked perfectly. The crowd that watched the start confidently awaited the return, and it was not long before the speck, which those who had telescopes saw disappear on the French coast, reappeared, growing larger every minute.

When finally the aviator became visible to the naked eye cheer after cheer arose from the enthusiastic spectators, and as he gracefully soared toward the landing place made famous by Bleriot he was given an ovation. He alighted at 8 o'clock at almost the same spot as Bleriot, showing little signs of the strain of his magnificent flight.

JOCKEY KILLED

His Mount Fell on Him in Home Stretch.

(By The Associated Press.)
Gravesend, N. Y., June 2.—Jockey Fred Langan, mounted on Stalwart Lad, was instantly killed today when his mount fell on the home stretch turn in the closing race.

The race was for 2 year olds at five and a half furlongs, and 13 horses faced the barrier. The start was good and the field went off in a close bunch to the stretch turn, where Warwick, Butwell up, stumbled and fell. Muff, Davis riding, stumbled over Warwick. Immediately following was Langan on Stalwart Lad. He turned a complete somersault over the prostrate form of the two horses and his mount fell on top of him, killing him instantly.

When the big crowd saw Warwick fall a cry of dismay and horror went up that was immediately followed by another when Muff and Stalwart Lad tumbled over him. Davis jumped up at once, but Butwell lay still until he was picked up, and Langan never moved.

Butwell lay his nose, but Davis escaped unhurt. Langan was under contract to R. F. Carman and rode with good success at the Jacksonville meeting last winter. He had been with the thoroughbreds only about a year.

President Visits College Where Daughter Is Student.

FAVORS HIGHER EDUCATION

Dissents From the Suggestion That It Ought Women for the Duties of Wife and Mother.

(By The Associated Press.)
Philadelphia, June 2.—President Taft delivered the annual commencement day oration today at Bryn Mawr college, where his daughter, Helen, is a student. Taking for his subject "Higher Education for Women," the President declared that he favored the higher education of women, and said that he utterly dissented from the suggestion that higher education rather unites them for the duties of a wife and mother.

The President further told them that he was ready to concede that marriage and motherhood are a normal status for women, and other things being equal she is happier in that condition than in any other. But, Mr. Taft added, life is not a failure because a woman has not married. One of the greatest advantages of the higher education for a woman, he said, is the independence that it gives her in the choice of kind of life which she is to lead.

President Taft reached here shortly before 11 o'clock from Washington. After his arrival his suitcase containing his cap and gown were mislaid and he was obliged to deliver his address clothed in his traveling suit.

He left here at 5 o'clock this afternoon for Ada, O., where tomorrow forenoon he will address the graduating class of the Ohio Northern university. At the commencement exercises Miss M. Carey Thomas, president of the college, announced that the fund of $380,000 required to be raised by today in order to secure the $250,000 promised by the general educational board, had been secured.

VOTE ON BILL DELAYED BY OVERMAN AMENDMENT

Acceptance of Provision by the Republicans Caused Democrats to Ask for Time to Consult Before Placing The Measure on Final Passage.

COMMISSION PREPARING TO MAKE TAX ASSESSMENTS

LOOKS LIKE A SCHEME OF THE DANIELS CROWD

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, June 2.—But for the fact that Senator Overman, of North Carolina, succeeded in having the Senate incorporate in the railroad bill a provision regulating injunction proceedings affecting state laws, the Senate probably would have voted on the railroad bill before adjournment today.

The acceptance of that provision had the effect of inclining some Democratic senators more favorably to the bill and of causing the Democratic side of the chamber to request an opportunity for consultation before reaching the voting stage on the final passage. Accordingly, the vote was postponed to permit a Democratic conference, which will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow.

After this agreement was reached Senator Elkins and Senator Hale endeavored to get the Senate to agree definitely to vote on the bill before adjournment, but without success. Senators Bacon and Bailey made objection to a proposition cutting off debate in advance of the final vote, and when it appeared as if they might be conciliated Senator Clapp entered positive objection to any arrangement whatever. The bill was before the Senate during the entire day and a large number of amendments were presented and disposed of. Just before the adjournment for the day, Senator Elkins gave notice that at the proper time he would ask the Senate to substitute the Senate bill for the House bill.

He succeeded in having adopted an amendment postponing for 60 days after its passage the time when the proposed law shall go into effect. The Overman provision covers a subject broader than transportation. It provides that no interlocking suspending or restraining the execution of any statute of a state, by restraining the

SESSIONS BEGUN

Carolina Municipal Association Convention Opened.

THERE IS GOOD ATTENDANCE

Winston's Mayor Gave Delegates Warm Welcome—Reports Keat and Several Addresses Made in Afternoon.

(Special to Daily News.)
Winston-Salem, June 2.—The second annual convention of the Carolina Municipal Association convened in the palm room at the Zinzendorf hotel for the first session shortly after 12 o'clock today, with a good attendance of delegates and citizens interested in municipal affairs.

In the absence of the president, Thomas S. Franklin, of Charlotte, the convention was called to order by W. D. LaRoue, jr., of Kinston, one of the vice-presidents, and the convention was opened with prayer by Rev. H. A. Brown, pastor of the First Baptist church.

The names of the attendants were recited and the badges were distributed to the delegates by Mayor F. H. Vogler, of Salem.

Mayor Eaton delivered the address of welcome on behalf of the city. He was applauded when he arose and his address of welcome was a masterpiece of oratory.

W. D. LaRoue, jr., of Kinston, made the response in behalf of the Carolina municipalities, thanking Mayor Eaton for his cordial welcome. He declared that the city has made phenomenal progress since 1904 and that the Twin-City's hospitality is one of its greatest assets.

The appointment of committees was deferred until 5 o'clock, and the meeting adjourned until that time.

The following visitors were present for the opening session: Mayor A. F. Barrett, of Burlington; Mayor John W. Allen, of Warrenton; Mayor G. E. Horn, of Mocksville; Mayor J. S. Wynne, of Raleigh; City Attorney Walter Clark, jr., of Raleigh; Aldermen W. E. Patterson and F. Pruzler, of Asheville; Mayor C. C. Winslow, of Youngsville; Mayor T. T. Thorne, of Rocky Mount; Mayor J. D. McNeill, of Fayetteville; Mayor F. W. Hawkins, of Charlotte; Mayor Fred N. Tate, of High Point; Councilmen Thiers Leach and A. Shorrod, of High Point.

Treasurer's Report.
The report of Treasurer Thomas D. Meares was read and approved. It showed that 15 municipalities belong to the association and that he has a balance on hand of $450, which is enough to pay the present indebtedness and that which will be incurred.

He recommended a reduction in dues adopted at the last convention by making maximum $50, with proportionate reductions in the two next highest items.

He reported that a committee from the association had succeeded in preventing the passage of a provision in the revenue act in the legislature that would have been harmful to the cities in the state.

Mr. Meares stated that kindred bodies throughout the country were taking great interest in the organization and he recommended that merchants and manufacturers make displays of their wares at the next convention, as they could sell their goods better in this way than by sending out circulars.

Carey Thomas, president of the college, announced that the fund of $380,000 required to be raised by today in order to secure the $250,000 promised by the general educational board, had been secured.

The President's Address.
President Taft in his address to the graduates of Bryn Mawr college today on "Women's College Education," spoke in part as follows:

"The marvelous progress in material and other ways made by the world in the 19th century is only less wonderful than the ease and rapidity with which we forget the steps in the progress, the difficulties in its attainment and the conditions that existed prior to its coming."

The President reviewed the advances made in educational advantages for both sexes since 1800 and said:

"I dissent from the view that an academic education unites a man or woman for business. It may be that the tastes that lead one to an academic education are not those which insure business success; but the mental discipline, the power of reasoning, the cultivation and comparison of ideas are not of assistance in business transactions in which the highest quality of the mind are acutely in action, can hardly be true."

"But it is said that women are not all going into the professions and so that the education idea as a basis for professional career is not needed by those women who have a competency or who look forward to marriage and motherhood as the chief end of woman."

"It is even suggested that the higher education of women rather unites them to discharge the duties of a wife and mother; that in some way or other it robs them of a charm and gives them an intellectual independence that is inconsistent with their being the best wives and mothers. I utterly dissent from this view. The companionship of married life is the chief charm and reason for its being, so far as it relates to the two persons concerned. The enjoyment of the home with children and the training of them of course are among the most important duties and pleasures of married life, and it certainly does not detract from the power of a woman to make a good companion or to teach and train her children up to high ideals that she should have the advantage of higher education."

"I am quite ready to concede that marriage and motherhood are a normal status for a woman, and other things being equal, she is happier in that condition than in any other. But this is a failure because she has not married and that her life may not be a failure because she has married."

"I do not think we can estimate the enormous advantage that the present generation has enjoyed, and that the future generations are to profit by, by the increasing sound and thorough education of mothers of families."

"I do not think we can estimate the increased happiness that men and women have experienced who, as husbands and wives, have enjoyed the higher sense of companionship that is made possible by the intellectual sympathy and association of ideas between two thoroughly educated people."

The President pointed out the increasing pleasures for a trained mind in purely intellectual pleasures, and the more active joys of youth have passed by the friendships formed at a woman's college. Like those at a great man's university, he said, coming during the "time of life when our natures are malleable," are more enduring than friendships formed thereafter; they "bear the tooth of time and the rust of absence."

"There is one danger of a college education," the president said, "that it seems wise to warn against. It is the danger of discontent with the suggestions of the home to which a college girl goes back after graduation, and the yielding to the feeling that her own town or city does not offer to her the opportunities to which she is entitled. This is not the right result of the higher education."

"A young lady with a higher education has much to learn after graduation in the homely details and the drudgery of ordinary life."

JEFFRIES GOT SORE

Didn't Like Governor's Alleged Remarks, Which Were Later Denied.

(By The Associated Press.)
Ben Lomond, Cal., June 2.—"For two pins, I'd pack up and take my family back to the ranch and call the whole thing off," declared James Jeffries today when he read a story quoting Governor Gillette as saying the Jeffries and Johnson fight was a frame-up and arranged for the white man to win. He added:

"Those who have seen me working must know that my heart and soul are in the coming scrap, and it does not stand to reason that I would break my neck working if everything were settled for me to win."

"I quit the fight game once because I did not care for those connected with it or the knockers who were continually rapping it."

The camp was in a turmoil until the story was declared untrue by the governor himself.

YOUNG MILLIONAIRE WAS IN JAIL JUST 35 MINUTES

New York, June 2.—For a wedding present to young Edmund A. Guggenheim, a nephew of Senator Simon Guggenheim, of Colorado, the Court of General Sessions gave him today a fine of $100 and a sentence of one day in jail.

Through his counsel, young Guggenheim had pleaded guilty to a third violation of the automobile speed law. He had no defense to offer, yet he asked that sentence be suspended, and promised that, if such should be the judgment of the court, he would never drive an automobile in this state again. It was further urged that he is to be married next Monday and that a prison sentence would be an unnecessary humiliation to his bride-to-be and his family. The court turned a deaf ear.

The young millionaire's imprisonment, however, proved nothing unbearable. Sentence was passed at 3:15 p. m. Ten minutes later the prisoner had crossed the "bridge of sighs" to the Tombs; at 4 p. m. the legal holiday ends. His total period of incarceration, therefore, was just 35 minutes.

By courtesy of the warden he was allowed to spend the 35 minutes in the counsel's room.

STATE DEPARTMENT WILL AID IN SEARCH FOR MURDERER

Washington, June 2.—The state department will render every possible assistance to the Louisville, Ky., authorities in tracking the murderer of little Alma Keller.

The department today received a communication from citizens of Louisville through Congressman Sherley of that district, asking the department's aid in locating the murderer in case he should have gone abroad. The department informed Mr. Sherley that it would be glad to cooperate in any way, and it is expected that the authorities will be able to furnish the department with a minute description and photograph of the suspect, and in that case circular letters embodying all information obtainable will be sent to all United States diplomatic and consular offices throughout the world.

The cooperation of the police authorities in the several countries will be requested.

Arranging Calendar.
District Attorney A. K. Holton, of Winston-Salem, spent yesterday in the city arranging the calendar for the regular term of the United States court, which will convene Monday, June 6. Judge James R. Boyd will preside.

Washington, June 2.—A Piatt Andrew, the present director of the mint, has been selected as assistant secretary for the treasury to succeed Charles D. Norton, who has been made secretary to the President. President Taft will make the appointment, which has been approved by the senators from Massachusetts, of which state Mr. Andrew is a resident.

Professor Andrew assisted the national monetary commission in its work, and with Senator Aldrich, the chairman of the commission, visited various important financial centers of Europe to collect information about foreign banking systems. He was charged with editing the commission's publications, which will comprise nearly two score volumes. The new assistant secretary has been a prominent writer on financial topics.

Mr. Andrew was appointed director of the mint last August. He is 37 years of age and a native of Indiana. Educated at Princeton and Harvard universities, he also studied abroad.

CONDITION 82 AND SMALL INCREASE IN ACREAGE

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, June 2.—The first cotton report of the season by the crop reporting board, issued today, showed the condition of the growing crop on May 25 was 82 per cent. of a normal, as compared with 81.1 per cent. on that date last year, and 80.9 per cent. the average for the past ten years.

The area planted in cotton this year is about 33,196,000 acres, or about 102.8 per cent. compared with 32,292,000 acres last year, an increase of about 904,000 acres, or 2.8 per cent.

LOOKS LIKE SPINNERS PLAYED A LOSING GAME

Raleigh, June 2.—H. C. Beckwith, a well known member of the state board on internal improvement, is out in a card announcing candidacy for the sixth judicial district judgeship, the three candidates now being H. F. Norris and H. C. Beckwith, Wake, and A. S. Abell, Johnston county. Wake voters will pass on the candidates in primary and then delegates will go instructed to the district convention. The impression is strong here that Mr. Beckwith is running in the interest of the candidacy of Frank Daniels for the judgeship, with a view to effecting the decision of the Wake county vote especially. He is an ardent supporter of the "reform" or "insurgent" movement in Wake.

The financial report showed receipts aggregating $275 and expenditures amounting to $221.88, leaving a balance on hand of $443.12.

Copies of the proceedings of the first annual convention, held at Charlotte, and the articles of the association have been printed and may be secured by any member who wishes a copy.
