

Indigestion Remedy Free

To any victim of indigestion the offer is made that if he or she will send name and address, a free sample of a remedy that is daily curing indigestion will be sent. This remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Instead of taking the advice of your friends, or using lozenges, peppermints and such things, write for this free sample and see what that will do for you. There is no remedy that has been more successful in the cure of indigestion, sick headache, heartburn, etc., than this grand laxative tonic, because instead of being simply a breath perfume it goes to the root of the trouble, which is poor bowel movement, and cures that. Once the bowels are relieved the stomach has a better chance to do its work. Thousands in the past have accepted the offer of a free sample and later became steady users of Syrup Pepsin. All that Dr. Caldwell desires is that you allow him to prove to you, at his own expense, that his remedy will do as claimed. When you have used the sample and are convinced, you can buy a further supply of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as others are doing who once sent for a free sample. You will learn to abandon "dyspepsia cures" for indigestion and cathartic pills and salts for constipation, for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a permanent cure, while these are but temporary reliefs. Here is a mild, pleasant, non-grating remedy that can be given to a child with perfect safety. In fact, it is especially adapted to children's ills. Read the many letters of recommendation that users have written for Syrup Pepsin, then try it yourself and you will see that these claims are justified. Thousands of the best American families have Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house.

NOT TO DIE IN CHAIR

John Stackhouse's Sentence Is Commuted to Life Imprisonment.

(Special to Daily News.)

Raleigh, June 2.—John Allen Stackhouse was scheduled to be electrocuted in North Carolina's new death chamber at the state's prison June 10, but Governor Kitchen today granted a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment, directing that he be assigned to hard labor for the term of his natural life. Stackhouse killed his wife, the representation made to the governor in securing the commutation being that the killing was under extenuating circumstances. There is no official statement made by the governor in explanation of his order granting the commutation.

The Federal court devoted all of today's session to the trial of the damage suit of George H. Avant vs. Deep River Lumber company, in which the plaintiff seeks $10,000 damages for injury through the breaking of a plank on which he was standing while at work on the lumber yards of the company. The case is still in the hands of the jury.

A mistake in the records of the state penitentiary that came over from the former administration, it is said, brought about the release of a 15-year convict after only two years' service. The prisoner was Hub Holt, who was serving 15 years from Davidson county for criminal assault. He was registered for two years, instead of the 15 to which the court had sentenced him. People of Davidson began to see the negro around in that section and began asking questions that developed the mistake. The negro got wind of the investigation before the papers were at hand for taking him into custody again, and so when the officers were ready to retake him he was not to be found. He seems to have fled the country.

State Treasurer B. R. Lacy says that he will advertise for bids again very soon for the remainder of the unsold bonds of the $3,430,000 refunding issue about which there has been so many complications recently. An air of very much greater confidence is evident in official circles here as to the ultimate success of the council of state and the governor to float the bonds and pay off the old bonds falling due July 1 without calling together the legislature in extra session.

FACING THE CUSTOM-HOUSE.

Why It Is Women Find the Ordeal an Especially Trying One.

(Century.)

We American women find the customs law peculiarly oppressive because it is almost the only law with which most of us ever come into contact. We go about our task at home, live out our days and die, without a thought of legal obligations. We are proud of our freedom, too, when we travel, glorying in it, boasting of personal liberty as the very breath of our national existence, demanding, because of it, the overthrow of so many social traditions abroad that our less favored sisters on the other side regard us with awe and envy. Then we start home. One day a steamship steward knocks at our stateroom door, hands us the government's printed form of declaration, and the "Notice to Passengers." Suddenly, for the first time in our lives, we find ourselves "bump up against" the law. Some of us cannot understand it. We tremble; our hearts beat. We have consultations with friends and strangers. Blood curdling stories are told. We can think of nothing else, talk of nothing else. Where have we packed our new things, where our old? Will they dig out everything? Will they believe us? Those little presents we have brought in are they presents or have we declared them? And so on, and so on until our last days become a nightmare compared with which sea-sickness is a paradise. Neither is there any man to protect us with any of those liberal "interpretations" which stand most of us in stead. We must go through the ordeal as we go through death—alone!

Mr. Roosevelt is bound by force of circumstances as well as by the logic of the situation not only to decline absolutely any efforts that may be made in his own behalf, but to give his active hearty support to President Taft and to stand by him to the end. Nobody can justly accuse President Taft of not making an honest, sincere effort to carry out the spirit of the Roosevelt policies, and under all the accepted rules and customs of politics this entitles him to the support of the Roosevelt followers in obtaining a renomination.—Kansas City Journal.

FIREMEN HURT WHILE RESPONDING TO ALARM

(Special to Daily News.)

Wilmington, June 2.—While responding to a fire alarm today the chemical wagon of the fire department is turning a corner struck the curb and turned turtle. Peter N. Fick, for man of the company, was partially caught under the wagon and received painful bruises about his legs, and it is feared that he may have been internally injured. Henry Wright, another fireman, was also painfully bruised. The wagon was badly smashed, but neither of the horses was injured.

Assaulted Conductor.

(Special to Daily News.)

Statesville, June 2.—Conductor W. T. Rowland, of the Charlotte and Taylorsville line, was assaulted on his train Tuesday night shortly after 8 o'clock, just as the train was leaving Barium station, five miles south of Statesville, by William Lloyd, who gives his age as 32, says his home is at Durham and terms himself as "a rounder." As a result of his conduct Lloyd is now aiding in the building of Fredell macadam roads. Captain Rowland was struck on the head and quite painfully hurt, but the injury was not serious and he is back at his job.

African M. E. Church Burned.

(Special to Daily News.)

Asheville, June 2.—Fire, resulting probably from a "fish fry" which was held in the A. M. E. church Tuesday night, totally destroyed the building and threatened adjoining property. The fire was discovered about 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and although the firemen made heroic efforts to save the church the flames had gained too great a headway. The parsonage, only about 20 feet away, was endangered, as well as the Allen industrial school for colored girls, the property of the Northern Methodist church.

Charters Granted.

(Special to Daily News.)

Raleigh, June 2.—The Union Farmers' Publishing company, Charlotte, is chartered with $25,000 capital for general printing, lithographing and bookmaking business. J. Z. Green, W. C. Crosby and H. Q. Alexander being the principal incorporators. No mention is made of any purpose of publishing a newspaper.

Off For Boatie.

(Special to Daily News.)

Raleigh, June 2.—Members of the North Carolina corporation commission left this afternoon for Bostic, N. C., to investigate the situation there as to the location of a union passenger station for the Seaboard Air Line and the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio railroad companies.
