Mr. Mann said that so far as he was concerned, personally, he would agree to the Senate bill. He said there were many things in the House meas-ure which were not in the one adopted the Senate upon which he would insist. Also, there were some things in the Senate bill to which he objected.

There was, however, said Mr. Mann. strong movement among some of the 'insurgent" Republicans as well as the regulars," who voted together amend the bill when it was in House, to accept the Senste bill as being a near approach to what they desired. It was learned also that the Democrata were practically prepared, or at least those who have led the fight on the railroad on that side were prepared, to accept the Senate bill rather than take chances on what a conference be-tween the two Houses would evolve.

The subject will be called on in the House next Tuesday, when Mr. Main will move non-concurrence and appointment of conferces. If conferces are named, no one is willing to predict how long it might take to secure a mutually saturactory outcome, nor what the ulti-
