LOCAL SOCIETY STATE

The past week has been a busy one in Greensboro society, the first real summer weather reminding us of the pleasures to be found in picnics, dances, teas, and still the prolonged pleasure of the house party and the events of the house party. Then cupid is always stealing into the homes of our most loved ones. Such is the preface in brief, to the chapter of this week's society world.

Dance and Picnic at Lindley Park.
One of the most delightful events of the early summer functions was a picnic and dance at Lindley Park Wednesday night in which 14 young ladies and gentlemen participated.

The party left the city shortly after 7 o'clock and, upon arrival at the park, a bounteous supper was spread and under the rays of the unfeeling old moon and amidst the chattering of these young people a delightful time was spent after which a dance began, lasting until 11 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Rosemond chaperoned the party, which was composed of Misses Ruth Vanstony, Fannie Stone, Margaret Bradshaw, Mary Beall, Matie Lee Eaves, Susie Gunter and Margie Lee Glenn, and Messrs. Willis Hunter, Henry Yates, Edward Kistler, Collier Olive, Andrew Joyner, Charles Denny and Willie Coffey.

Miss Richardson's Brilliant Reception.
One of the most brilliant receptions of the week and of the season was that which took place Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Richardson at their beautiful home on Smith street, when their daughter, Miss Mary Norris, entertained for house guests, Messrs. Ennette Brandon, of Knoxville, Tenn., Sara Ross, of Winston; Lucy Whitehead, and Salisbury, and Ann Gwynn, of Sprigdale.

Little Miss Margaret Vaughn received the cards at the door. Refreshing at the front door were Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Carlton in the sitting room were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Smith. In the receiving line in the parlor were the hostess, beautifully gowned in blue messaline, with crystal trimmings, and her guest, Miss Rose, wore white satin, with silver trimmings; Miss Gwynn was in white silk; Miss Brandon wore white lingerie over pink with trimmings of lace and embroidered eyes, while Miss Whitehead was attired in old rose satin, with silver trimmings. Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Forbis received at the dining room were Misses Mary Vanstony, Gessal Hunt, Marjorie Long, Douglas Hendrix and Della Smith, who served delicious grape juice tea with cake and lavender and white mints. The color scheme in this room was lavender and white, and the decorations were a perfect bowler of lavender and white sweet peas.

Misses Eloise Dick and Annie Merritt served punch.

The sitting room was decorated in pink and white roses. In the hall were hundreds of daisies peeping through a background of ferns, while in the parlor was a profusion of pink sweet peas and ferns.

A hundred or more of Miss Richardson's friends responded to the cordial welcome extended them and which is so proverbial of this charming young hostess.

Kirkman-Boyles
The marriage of Miss Nettie Eugene Kirkman, Wednesday evening daughter of Mrs. Ada Kirkman, to Harry W. Boyles, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Boyles, one of interest to their many friends in and out of the city.

The ceremony was performed in the study of the rectory of Spring Garden Street Methodist church, by the Rev. J. W. Long.

The bride is a young woman of charming personality and has many friends who will extend congratulations.

Following the bowling, the entire party was entertained at supper by Mr. Beall.

Miss Goode Guest of Honor.
Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John A. Gilmer, on West 27th street, two lovely little maidens, Misses Annette Lindsay Wright and Eliza Cameron Witherspoon, ushers 90 or more of the Greensboro society folk into this cozy little home, where a delightful tea was given by Mrs. Gilmer and Mrs. Holt Laird in honor of the latter's sister, Miss Rose Goode, of Boydton, Va.

June 29, will become the bride of Augustus Byers, of Charlotte.

The Morris home had been transformed into a place duly fit for the extension of fond wishes for a happy prospective June bride. The perfume of sweet peas, which prevailed throughout the reception hall, met the guests upon first entrance. The library was in red, while soft shades of pink were prominent in the music room. The dining room was in yellow and white, and the color scheme was carried out in the refreshments.

Miss Hobbs was beautifully attired in light blue marquisette over satin, with white picture hat.

In a cozy nook of the porch delicious and refreshing punch was served by Misses Lillian Hedgpeck and Lucile Pickard.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was softly played, during which time the bride was presented with a large heart-shaped box in which were some tokens of love from the guests present, demonstrating to some extent the esteem in which Miss Hobbs is held by her friends.

While the guests departed, Miss Morris a charming hostess, they were presented with "before and after" hats.

Entertain in Honor of House Guests.
The handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Wharton, on Ashboro street, was the scene of a beautiful reception Friday evening when their daughter, Miss Margaret, entertained for her house guests, Misses Louise Blakeney, of Kinston; S. C. Annie Forbes Liddell and Susan Hutchinson, of Charlotte, and Ruth Reeves, of Gastonia.

The entire house, porch and lawn were brilliantly lighted, and the two or more hundred young women and men, as the majestic palms and ferns met the eye on every hand, and the artistic arrangement of the wild rose entwined about the stair railing were ready to greet the guests.

The guests were greeted in the hall by Miss Mrs. Wharton with genuine cordiality, which is distinctive of the Wharton home, and never more in evidence than on this occasion.

Little Misses Leslie Thiberton and Margaret Murray showed the guests to the breakfast room.

Miss Louise Weatherly led the guests to the parlor door, where Miss Douglas Hendrix received them and ushered them to the head of the receiving line, where stood Miss Wharton, who introduced each guest to the honoree.

In the music room Miss Edna Wharton, of Asheville, was the soloist.

From the back parlor the bridegroom and his best man and brother, Wilson Bates, entered. Preceding the bride came the maid of honor, Miss Nell Grady, of Annapolis, Md., who wore hand-embroidered gown with green girdle and white picture hat. She carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas. The bride entered the parlor on the arm of her father, who gave her away. The ring ceremony of the Methodist Episcopal church was used, and while the words which united them were spoken Mr. Alderman rendered very softly Mendelssohn's "Spring Song."

The bride was a going away gown of pongee with hat and gloves to match, and carried American Beauty roses.

The bride and bridegroom left on No. 26 for northern and Canadian resorts and will be at home in Baltimore after July 10.

The bride is a lovely woman of the brunette type, exceedingly charming in manner, possessing a very striking personality and is highly accomplished. Although she has resided in this city but a few years, many are her friends who regret her leave.

Mr. Bates is a young physician of Baltimore, recognized among members of his fraternity as a man of unusual strength as well as among a large circle of friends.

The out of town guests here for the wedding were Mrs. Joshua Bates, mother of the bridegroom; Miss Virginia Bates and C. Wilson Bates, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Wallace Coleman, of Virginia.

Personal.
Wilbur Joyner went to Laurinburg the first of the week to spend several weeks with his grandparents.

Mrs. J. M. Rankin has gone to Asheville to be with Professor Rankin, who is doing some civil engineering at that place.

Mrs. S. M. Rankin spent Tuesday and meeting of the presidents of the women's missionary union, of which she is the president of Orange Presbytery.

Rev. S. M. Rankin has returned from New York city, where he has been for the past month in the interest of the Glade Valley school.
