POST AND FLAGG'S COTTON LETTER New York, Nov. 18.--11 has been a mixed market today with very little features to statistics that might pro-vide food for thought for those who are short for any other reason than us a hedge against actual stuff of a tenderable description. Hester made takings for the week 198,000 Against 342,000 hast week and 274,000 a year ago. The in sight was also large ac-cording to New York figures which were 475,000 out this was largely ex-plained by an increase of 50,000 balas in southern mill takings which were estimated at 175,000 against 125,000 last week. Even New Orleans wires admitted a little better spot demand. Exports ware $5,000 for the day which will bring the total well over 200,000 for the week.

Dun's Trade Review. New York, Nov. 18.-Dun's tomorrow

Dus's Trade Review. New York, Nov. 18.—Dun's tomotrow will any: With a continuance of fluctuating demand, progress toward better busi-ness is still gradual and uneven. Sea-sonal influence, as usual at this period, now begins to cause increased activi-ties in some branches and diminished operations in other lines. The latter phase is witnessed in channels where inventorying is becoming a factor, but retail trade is moderately stimulated as advanced holiday requirements de-velop and lower temperatures prevail in some sections. The net result of commercial movements is not adverse, and the announced reduction in freight rates on farm products adds to the con-structive forces whose ultimate effect will be beneficial. Recent declines in prices of cotton and grain, however, have tended to increase uncertainty and hesitation in strictly agricultural districts of the west and routh and the admitted a little better spot demand.
 Exports ware 50.000 for the day which fear the waek.
