

Guilford County Men and Women at State University

By JAMES R. McCLAMROCH, JR.

Chapel Hill, Nov. 20.—Although complete figures for the two other large counties are not yet available, it seems safe to assert that Guilford with 73 men and three women, a total of 76, leads the other counties of the state in the number of students enrolled in the university. Guilford's metropolitan population, as expected, easily leads the other towns of the county, with a total of 56. High Point comes next with 14. Pleasant Garden and Gibsonville tie for third place with three each. Groometown and Guilford college each have two representatives and Oak Ridge and Jamestown have one each.

The first-year men, as usual, are far more numerous than are those of any of the other classes. There are 22 of the first-year students, 11 sophomores, 19 juniors, and eight seniors in the academic departments. There are also in this department three candidates for the master of arts degree. They are Roland P. McClamroch, A. B., U. N. C., 1919; Miss Lulu M. McVey, A. B., U. N. C., 1921; and Barnette Nalman, A. B., U. N. C., 1921. Worth Fowler, who received the B. S. degree last year in taking post-graduate work in geology preparatory to entering the oil fields of Mexico.

HICKORY HAPPENINGS

Arthur Keever Has Narrow Escape From Death at Hickory.

(Special to Daily News.)
 Hickory, Nov. 20.—The first welfare conference held in part of the state drew some excellent speakers and gave several hundred local people an opportunity to get a better vision of child welfare in North Carolina. Mrs. Clarence Johnson, of Raleigh, commissioner, Dr. Odum of the university, Dr. Crane of the state board of health and Dr. McCain of Sanatorium were the main speakers. The meetings were held under the auspices of the Catawba county board of charities and the community club of Hickory and the Women's club of Newton. In co-operation, Mrs. W. B. Ramsey, president of the Hickory club, presided.

Harold Essie, with both legs broken, and held Poovey, with both bones in the right leg fractured, are getting along as well as could be expected at a local hospital following their accident when they and another Hickory young man, Richard Hamilton, were injured when a motorcycle on which all three were riding, collided with a Ford automobile.

Arthur Keever, well known Hickory man, is nursing bruises at his home today as a result of an escape from death Saturday afternoon. He walked in front of a freight engine, was knocked down and dragged about 75 feet before the engineer was aware of his presence. It is presumed that Mr. Keever, who does not see very well, did not observe a slow-moving freight train. How he escaped death is a mystery to a score of persons who saw the accident. No bones were broken.

Mrs. Henry J. Richards, wife of a well known Caldwell county farmer, is at her home as a result of paralysis. The funeral was held today. She was 69 years of age and is survived by her husband and four children.

Sunday School Workers Close Their Meeting—Burglars Caught.

(Special to Daily News.)
 Statesville, Nov. 20.—The first convention of Iredell county Sunday school workers has closed after a most successful and gratifying attendance and interest. The principal speakers on the program which lasted for three days were: D. M. Sims, of Raleigh, general superintendent of the North Carolina Sunday School association, and Prof. M. A. Honline, associate educational superintendent International Sunday School association, of Dayton, Ohio.

Among those who attended the convention, were 16 preachers, 16 Sunday school superintendents, and 117 Sunday school teachers. A feature of the closing session of the convention was the organization of the Iredell County Sunday School association and the election of the general officers of the organization. The officers elected for the coming year are: R. M. Gray, president; R. C. Bunch, vice-president; C. E. Rice, secretary-treasurer. The Iredell County association is an integral part of the North Carolina Sunday School association and all the denominations take part. With the county and township organizations, it is believed that the organizations will prove a wonderful stimulus to the Sunday school work in the state.

Two negroes, Miles Graham and Sam Bohanna, three and a half gallons of liquor and a mule and buggy were captured by local officers near Morrison's mill on the Wilkesboro road. In their hearing before Mayor Bristol, each defendant was bound over to Recorder's court in a $1,000 bond on a charge of receiving and transporting liquor and having it for purposes of sale. The mule and buggy are forfeited by the owners and will be sold, the money going to the county schools.

Perhaps you are one of the thousands of men and women today who are run down, tired out and "peppish." You sleep poorly, are easily fatigued and suffer from a high nervous tension. Or you are irritable, easily annoyed by the petty details of your daily task, and approach your work in the morning with a listlessness and dull dread, instead of with vim and vigorous enthusiasm.

Such people, who feel themselves on the verge of a nervous breakdown, attribute this to overwork. As a matter of fact this is often far from the truth.

Science has proved that the human brain is so constituted that it can stand a tremendous amount of work—in fact is stimulated by it. But it must have the co-operation of a sound, well-nourished, healthy body. Nine times out of ten those who think they are suffering from overwork are really suffering from under-nourishment. They are not the victims of "nerves" but of malnutrition.

What is this "malnutrition" we hear so much about nowadays? Not the lack of food but lack of a balanced ration, lack of the vital elements in the food we eat—the inability of our food to supply the body with those properties most essential for its growth and to sustain life.

Vitamins—the curious growth-promoting, health-giving elements found chiefly in milk, yeast, leaf vegetables, eggs and the outer covering of rice, wheat and other cereals—are often eliminated from the modern diet be-

WOMAN SAT ON JURY IN HARNETT OVER YEAR AGO

Event Is Recalled In Effort To Keep History Straight—A. C. L. Ry. Wins.

OTHER LILLINGTON NEWS

(Special to Daily News.)
 Lillington, Nov. 20.—On November 16, 1920, Harnett Superior court convened, Judge W. A. Devin presiding, a jury was formed for the trial of a certain cause, the said jury being composed of eleven men and one woman, the woman being Miss Carrie Speight, official court stenographer, whose home is in Goldsboro.

This is a matter of record and the item appeared in Harnett County News, Dunn Dispatch and other papers including the dailies. Harnett does not take the lead in everything, but it never stands in the shadow when it comes to recognition of the ladies as capable citizens.

Seventy-five cases have been dropped from the docket of Harnett Superior court at this term. The cases were, in the main, those that had grown feeble with age, no longer contested, but were allowed to remain on the docket and clog the judicial machinery. They went by the "judgment assuult" route.

In the case of A. C. L. railway against the town of Dunn to recover possession of Lucknow Square the women of Dunn manifested great interest, gathering in numbers and sitting throughout the hearing which lasted two days. Dunn had given the square over to the ladies to be used as a public park, and they had set their plans to beautify the place by the planting of trees therein. When the case opened and a witness on the stand testified that the property was dedicated to the public use years ago, there went up from the ladies' corner of the audience a loud hail-calling. Judge Crammer immediately stopped for order and admonished the ladies that any further demonstration would result in an order for mistrial. The case was hard fought by a brilliant array of counsel. In the right leg fractured, are getting along as well as could be expected at a local hospital following their accident when they and another Hickory young man, Richard Hamilton, were injured when a motorcycle on which all three were riding, collided with a Ford automobile.

Under the supervision of Miss Mame Camp, director of community service, the junior citizenship campaign has been opened in Harnett county. Students of the high schools are manifesting great interest in the campaign. The director reports that hundreds of boys and girls are working hard for the certificate of junior citizenship signed by the governor and bearing the great seal of the state, and Harnett county wants to be at the head of the list when the successful applicants are opened.

With upward of $10,000 subscribed, the Lillington Building and Development company has been organized for the specific purpose of building up the town to the point where it will be able to accommodate the people who want to come here to live and do business. The company is organized after the plan of building and loan with a special "hurry-up" feature attached.

Expressions of commendation and approval of the action of Harnett's Wake Forest alumni are coming from all quarters since the association met last Monday night and endorsed the movement for consolidation of schools and inaugurated plans to support a Harnett student center in Wake Forest college. Immediate funds will be available for the Harnett student plan.

DEATH ON SATURDAY OF MRS. LUCY MONTGOMERY

(Special to Daily News.)
 Concord, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Lucy Richmond Montgomery, wife of the late Judge W. J. Montgomery, died at 4:10 o'clock, after a serious illness of 10 days. Mrs. Montgomery had been in declining health for the past year and had been unable to leave her home for the past several months. Last Saturday her condition became critical, and no hope had been entertained for her recovery from that date.

Mrs. Montgomery was in her 74th year, and had resided until December 2, she would have celebrated her 75th birthday. She was born at Woodville, near Milton, the colonial home of her parents, the late Caleb and Mary Dodson Richmond, and she moved to Concord immediately after her marriage to Judge Montgomery on April 26, 1871. Her husband died June 25, 1912. To the union eight children were born, four surviving. She is also survived by two brothers, three step-children and eight grandchildren.

The children are: C. R. and W. J. Montgomery of this city; Mrs. Hazel Witherspoon of Lancaster, S. C.; and Mrs. Fred C. Gorrell, of Greensboro. The step-children are: Mrs. E. C. Regulator, Dr. John H. Montgomery, of Charlotte; Mrs. J. B. Montgomery of this city; Caleb Richmond, of Cunningham, N. C.; and George Richmond, of Bedford, Va., are the brothers. Mrs. J. D. Lentz, George, Betty, Lillian and Elizabeth are the children who preceded their mother to the grave.

During her life in Concord Mrs. Montgomery was a member of Central Methodist church, and so long as she was physically able, she was peculiarly interested in all church work. She was also an active member of the United Daughters of the Confederacy until her health failed several years ago.

With J. O. Corbill, of Graham, president of the district in the chair, the convention opened with a song and devotional services, the latter conducted by Rev. Mr. Fogelman, pastor of the convention church.

Reports were heard from J. O. Corbill, president of the union, Miss Edith Hill, secretary, and C. M. Cannon, treasurer. All these reports were most encouraging, indicating the fact that the Christian Endeavor movement is now stronger in the eleven counties of the district than ever before. All agreed that under the leadership of these officers, the union has made rapid progress. Even more encouraging were the reports read by representatives of the various societies. The records of the societies surpass those of any previous year and it is probable that no other district in the state has more efficient societies. A striking feature of the reports was the emphasis that has been laid on social and community service by the Endeavorers. Everywhere they have been ministering to the unfortunate in institutions, to the needy in their respective communities, and in some cases in remote quarters. Gifts to missions have been prominent in the reports but the local work has not been neglected.

Following the reports, convention committees were appointed to report at later sessions of the meeting.

the 1921 tobacco season in this belt. The bulk of the crop has been marketed. Locally, three-fourths or seven-eighths of a nominal production has been bought in by the manufacturers. The season has been unexpectedly satisfactory to farmers following a year of dire predictions, though relatively not as successful as one or two sales seasons in the past.

During the past two weeks growers have been inclined to "rush the market," according to some observers.

Breaks have frequently been heavy in comparison with the season's average, though the sales at no time have approached the record breaks of other years. Possibly conviction that prices would not go higher and a desire to "get the sales over" have caused this. Prices have ruled nearly 50 per cent higher than some pre-season predictions.

NEGRO BOLDLY ROBS HOME AFTER LOCKING THE DOOR

(Special to Daily News.)
 Asheville, Nov. 20.—With brazen effrontery a negro burglar entered the residence of Mrs. Olive Martin, of 42 Magnolia avenue Thursday night, barred the bedroom door, looted and ransacked the room while Mrs. Martin was making an effort to break open the door, and as he leisurely walked into the darkness turned and laughed in the frightened woman's face.

Mrs. Martin is an English woman who recently moved to this country. Her husband was out of the city at the time and only she and a small baby were in the home when a burly negro entered through a front bedroom window, crossed the hall and then locked himself in a second bedroom to take his time in looting the trunks and suitcases stored there.

The burglar was thorough in his work. He took all the silverware, about $20 in English and American money, check books and other papers, will have no terrors for the man who saves part of his earnings.

The rapid changes of modern industrial life sometimes leave a man without a job when he least expects it.

It is not pleasant suddenly to be cut off from one's means of livelihood, especially in a period of dull times when jobs are scarce.

But the man who has saved part of his earnings will be quite comfortable when thrown out of work, for his reserve fund will tide him over comfortably until employment is again secured. Instead of making it an unpleasant experience it will afford him an opportunity to enjoy a few days of rest and diversion.
