

At Auction—Small Truck Farms

PART OF DAVID MAY HOME PLACE ON GETHSEMANE ROCK ROAD

Saturday, November 26th, At 2:00 P. M.

This is part of the late David May home place, 4 miles north of Greensboro, on the Gethsemane Rock Road, Church Street Extension; and adjoining the Pleas McAdoo estate and the J. E. Latham land, and has been subdivided into five and ten-acre tracts.

This land is undoubtedly the most desirable piece of farm land in Guilford county that we have ever cut into small tracts; this land is cut so that each tract will have enough wood and merchantable timber for building purposes, and about two-thirds in open land, in a high state of cultivation, suitable for growth of small truck and general farming.

This farm is located on one of the best hard surface roads in the county, and in one of the best neighborhoods, convenient to schools and churches and one mile of White Oak Cotton Mills. This is a subdivision we invite you to look over—you will have to see it to appreciate it. Seldom you have an opportunity of buying small tracts of this character of land, with its location.

CONVICTS ARE TREATED TO PLENTIFUL REPAST

Rev. Mr. Williams Delivers Inspiring Message to the Corps of Men.

COUNTY HOME, A BEAUTY

Members of the Guilford convict camp, apparently ostracized from society, were not forgotten yesterday—Thanksgiving. At noon they were served with an abundance of food and Rev. R. Murphy Williams, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, and a friend to mankind irrespective of class, and Commissioners Foshee and Hankin were guests of honor.

Mr. Williams delivered an exceptionally cheerful and inspiring message to the men. He declared that they too have a right, strange though it may seem, to be thankful. All isn't lost; they may regain the respect of society upon their release from the camp if they but do their part. It is up to them.

The repast served included barbecued pig and beef, corn bread, opossum and Brunswick stew. Following the dinner, cigars were passed around and each man indulged in the luxury. It was a happy corps of men that enjoyed the day, which brought them a little of the human touch.

Mr. Williams stated last night that he was more than pleased with the way the convicts are taken care of. "These men," said he, "will soon be afforded an opportunity of taking shower baths. Showers are now being installed. The sleeping quarters are also being renovated. When everything is completed the camp will be a place fit for anyone. It will be a credit to the state." The camp is located in close proximity of the county home, east of the city.

Speaking of the new county home building, now almost ready to be occupied, Mr. Williams said: "The new county home will be a place any county in the state might well be proud of. It is a model home. No one need worry about the old and infirm people being properly cared for."

The new county home building when completed will be equipped with every modern convenience. The county is spending thousands of dollars on the building.

The commissioners are planning to provide new clothing for the inmates before they are quartered in the new structure. The new home will be such an improvement over the old one that Guilford citizens will be amazed at the wonderful transformation that has taken place at the county home plantation.

HORSE IS KILLED BY AUTO; THE DRIVER FAILS TO STOP

A horse belonging to Sim Austin, negro, was killed by an automobile near the Lutheran college on East Market street last night about 7:30 o'clock. The driver of the car did not stop and officers are looking for him. The horse was being led behind a buggy and the car was headed toward the city.

HENDERSON WATER BAN IS REMOVED ENTIRELY

Lakes Holding City's Reserve Refilled By Recent Rains.

TOBACCO SETS A RECORD

(Special to Daily News.)

Henderson, Nov. 24.—Henderson has been relieved entirely from the water ban which was placed by the Henderson Water company some four months ago, when the long drought allowed the water supply to become practically exhausted. Water is now available for watering lawns, washing automobiles, and general industrial and home consumption. The real crisis in Henderson's water supply only lasted about three days, but the citizens were urged to conserve until recent rains practically refilled the two large lakes holding the reserve.

Although Henderson's water supply has been sufficient to run a city of 25,000 population under normal conditions, additional streams were tapped during the unusual drought this year, and the water company now assures their patrons that a recurrence of shortage is not possible. The long dry spell this year was the worst that could be remembered by the oldest inhabitants, and the water company, assisted by W. A. Hunt, served well in relieving the situation.

Henderson's tobacco sales this week to and including Wednesday, when the market closed for the week in observance of Thanksgiving, passed the 5,000,000-pound mark for this season, and set a record for the Henderson market this early in the season. Each day this week more than 100,000 pounds have been sold with an average of approximately $28.45. Around 16,000,000 pounds of tobacco were sold on the Henderson market during the 1920 season.

The annual concert of the singing class from the Oxford orphanage was given in the chamber of commerce auditorium yesterday evening. The main auditorium and balcony were filled and many stood throughout the performance. The orphanage committee from the Masonic lodge, composed of S. H. Allen, J. E. Bagwell, and J. S. Royster, announced receipts and donations for the orphanage at Oxford, resulting from the concert as $600. The general expression was that the concert this year surpassed those of preceding years.

A general holiday, with all schools, tobacco market, industries and business houses closed for the day, was observed in Henderson, today. Thanksgiving services were held at several of the leading churches of the city and collections were taken for the orphanages of the state. Several hundred people attended the football game at Chapel Hill from Henderson, driving through the country in cars.

LIVELY QUARREL OVER FOUR PRINCIPLES THAT AFFECT THE FAR EAST opportunity for misunderstanding or double construction.

International supervision of Chinese customs must continue on the present basis according to the American point of view, notwithstanding the aspirations of the Chinese. There are many reasons advanced by the American delegates for holding to this view, not the least of which is doubt as to the power of the present Peking authorities to carry out any of their large engagements until conditions are more stable.

Continuance of international supervision of Chinese customs, finances, and even railroads is not regarded by the American delegation as in any sense inconsistent with the declarations in the Root resolutions in favor of the maintenance of Chinese integrity and independence. Other independent nations frequently have entered into contractual or treaty relations with other governments or private agencies for the supervision of public works and even of many functions of government.

Exercised Freely in Past.

It is held that as a sovereign nation, China now has the same power to enter into such arrangements in the future, having exercised that power freely in the past.

This conception of the proper solution of the problem naturally implies the framing of a number of treaties to carry out the conclusions of the conference. It pointed out that China already is partly to something like a score of treaties dealing with customs, and like subjects, and many of these are dissimilar. As only nine nations are represented in the Washington conference it follows that it will be necessary to secure the adhesion of the other nations having business relations with China to enter into such treaty or treaties as result from the negotiations here.

The attitude of the American government toward extra territoriality, as it will be set forth at tomorrow's meeting of the far east committee, is said to be that the United States is ready to give up her extra territorial rights as soon as the Chinese are able to administer justice competently and in full protection of the rights of American citizens. Analogous positions already have been indicated by Great Britain, France and several of the other nations, and tonight a more detailed outline of the Japanese view was made available from authoritative sources.

J. R. M'FARGUE PASSES AWAY AT HIS HOME IN WEST ELKIN

(Special to Daily News.)

Elkin, Nov. 24.—Early Sunday morning at his home in West Elkin, J. R. M'Fargue passed away after a protracted illness of many months. He was 76 years of age, a consecrated Christian and a consistent member of the Baptist church. He is survived by his wife, three daughters and one son. The funeral was conducted from the home by Rev. W. T. Baucum, interment following in the cemetery at Pleasant Hill church.

This morning J. R. Poindexter was painfully hurt while attempting to crank the engine of his car, receiving a severe gash across the forehead just above the left eye. Several stitches were required to close the wound, which, although painful, is not thought to be serious.
