KATO'S STATEMENT NOT OFFICIAL JAP DECISION

Vice-Admiral Merely Airing Personal Opinion As to 70 Per Cent. Fleet Ratio.

NO DECISION YET FORMED

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, Nov. 29.—Statements made by Vice Admiral Kato, of the Japanese delegation staff of naval technical advisers last night as to the attitude of Japan on the question of naval ratios were expressions of "personal opinion," Prince Tokugawa, head of the Japanese delegation, said tonight. The attitude of the Japanese Delegation, said Prince Tokugawa, was not now ready for announcement.

Prince Tokugawa said the Japanese delegation was discussing within itself the question of the wisest course to take as to naval ratios in the conference. He would not say whether a decision to press for a 70 per cent fleet ratio, urged by Vice Admiral Kato, had been reached. The prince stated, however, that Vice Admiral Kato's statement had not resulted from any conference within the Japanese delegation.

Prince Tokugawa made it plain that the statement of Vice Admiral Kato in which he said that 70 per cent fleet ratio was the minimum of safety for Japanese security had not been inquired or considered so far as the prince knew, by Admiral Baron Kato. He was anxious that there should be no confusion as to which Japanese officer had made this statement since Admiral Baron Kato is a delegate and Vice Admiral Kato only a technical advisor to the delegation.

Prince Tokugawa also said that the Japanese delegation would arrive at its decision on the question of fleet ratios or other matters without consulting officials in Tokyo. He indicated that the Japanese delegation felt that it was clothed with full authority to act for the government in this conference even though the government might hold other views when the work of the conference was completed.

"We are here," Prince Tokugawa said, "to consider the best thing to do for our country. We do not need to consult them (in Tokyo)."
"We can do what we want; they can do what they want."

CONDITIONS BETTER IN STATE THAN ELSEWHERE

A. W. McLean Thinks Agricultural Conditions in South Much Better Than in West.

(Special to Daily News.)
Lumberton, Nov. 29.—Agricultural conditions are better in North Carolina than in any other southern or any western state, according to A. W. McLean, a member of the war finance board, who arrived Saturday from Washington.

Speaking of business and financial conditions generally, Mr. McLean said he had had occasion recently to learn at first-hand of agricultural conditions in practically every state in the union and that conditions in North Carolina are better than in any other southern or any western state. Conditions in the south as a whole are much better than in the west, he says.

The large number of loans made by the war finance corporation have been made to banks in Iowa and Minnesota and other western grain-growing and cattle-raising states. Corn is selling on the farm in the west at from 15 to 18 cents the bushel, cotton at from 10 to 13 cents the bushel, and there is no market for cattle and sheep. Livestock are worth only about 25 per cent of what they sold for a year or a half ago.

Asked about the prospect for a rise in the price of cotton, Mr. McLean said he would not venture a prediction, other than to say this depends largely upon general business conditions. If business improves throughout the world, cotton probably will sell for a higher price. Europe is unable to buy our cotton in normal quantities, thus largely reducing the number of our foreign buyers. Those who desire the cotton are unable to pay for it.

"I see no hope of a general improvement in business here until economic conditions in other parts of the world become stabilized," he continued. "This cannot result unless the United States assumes not only an active, but a leading part in the work of stabilization and restoration of economic processes."

The war finance corporation has extended liberal credits to banks in North Carolina for financing the transportation of cotton and tobacco and financing agricultural needs, through the local banks in agricultural regions.

Under the law loans can only be made to banks that have made such loans to farmers. Loans cannot be made upon lands, only upon crops or obligations representing these agricultural commodities.

Speaking of the arrival of the boll weevil, Mr. McLean mentioned the importance of making every effort to combat them. He thinks farmers would make a good investment in taking a trip to the sections further south where the weevil has been putting in his destructive work and there study the problem as it is.

BUSINESS MEN OF EAST PLAN FINANCE PROGRAM

Will Raise $25,000 To $100,000 For Activities of Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce.

(Special to Daily News.)
Wilson, Nov. 29.—Decision to raise $25,000 as the minimum sum and $100,000 as the maximum amount to finance the activities of the Eastern Carolina chamber of commerce during its first year of activities was reached at a meeting of the directors of the organization at Wilson today. An executive committee was named, a plan of financing was decided upon, and prospects are regarded as bright by the leaders in the movement for a start of activities by the first of next year.

The plan of finance, covering a five-year period, is, briefly, that each chamber of commerce in the eastern part of the state be asked to have each member contribute 50 cents, with a minimum assessment against each chamber of $25. Banks in the territory will be asked to give one-fourth of one per cent of their capital stock and surplus and each county will be asked for an appropriation of $500. Further, a campaign for 1,000 members at $10 each will be waged in the territory covered by the chamber.

The executive committee, composed of W. A. McGill, W. H. Austin, George C. Royall, J. I. Morgan and A. M. Dumay will meet immediately to consider the man who will direct the chamber's work, a paid, full-time vice-president-manager. Another committee will present the plans and purpose of the organization to the public. First efforts will be centered upon the peanut industry, the raising of hay, meats, sweet potatoes and milk cows.

Stones was shot twice through the heart and his death was instant. The tragedy occurred near the home of Mrs. Fannie Woodall, where the two men met in the public road. Mrs. Woodall was the principal witness before a coroner's inquest held by the Harnett coroner. She testified that Stone was standing in or beside the road near her home when Johnson drove by and stopped. She heard loud talking and quarreling. She went to the door and asked them to stop, which they did for a time, after which the dispute was resumed, and she heard four or five shots. Both men used pistols.

Acquitted of Larceny. Clarence Richardson, negro, charged with the larceny of some clothes, was acquitted by Judge Collins in municipal court yesterday morning. Julian Turrentine was fined with the costs for a traffic violation.
