

Number of Routine Matters Disposed of By City Council

Dr. Harry Brockmann Is Elected City Physician—Street Names Changed—Building Regulations, Money Matters, Bond Issue, Water and Sewerage Matters Are Discussed.

The city council yesterday afternoon in regular session at the courthouse disposed of a number of routine matters, including the following:

Dr. Harry Brockmann was elected city physician at a salary of $200 per month.

The name of Julian street was changed to McCulloch, Lithia to Tate, and Schenck to Smith.

Authority was granted for the hiring of a firm of consulting engineers to make a report on the water and sewerage extensions.

A resolution was passed requesting Guilford representatives in the general assembly to present a bill at the special session giving the city certain powers of districting, zoning, and general building regulation.

Formal resolutions were passed covering the borrowing of $100,000 from A. B. Leach and company, of New York, this sum to stand against the sale of the water and sewerage bonds authorized but not yet disposed of.

A serial bond issue of $20,000 was authorized to refund the old 20-year North Carolina College health tonic bonds, which expire soon.

A monthly donation of $50 was authorized for the North Carolina Children's Home society.

Amendments were made to the recent traffic ordinance, curbing was ordered for Hughes street, and the purchase of an automobile for the police department was authorized.

The council discussed for a long time plans for starting the water and sewerage extensions. The water works development includes the building of a dam on Reedy Fork as well as the extension of lines in the city, and the sewerage extensions will carry lines to several streets which are not now served. City Manager Painter recommended that consulting engineers be employed to make reports on the work necessary and this the council agreed to. Mr. Painter himself will handle the engineering work on street paving.

Changing the names of Julian street to McCulloch, Lithia to Tate, and Schenck to Smith follows plans the council announced some time ago. Julian and McCulloch are really one street and so are the others, and the council thought it best to have one name for the entire street. It chose the names it thought would have most local significance. Some discussion attended the Schenck-Smith change, but the council thought Smith the better of the two.

Dr. Brockmann's election as city physician fills a vacancy of several months since the resignation of Dr. B. B. Williams. Dr. Brockmann will keep open office hours four hours a day, will handle the school work, including vaccination, and will answer calls.

A committee of directors of the North Carolina Children's Home society, in asking for regular financial assistance from the city, put the argument solely on economic grounds. "The home is doing work for Greensboro children, among others that no one else is doing or can do," said A. B. Joyner, one of the directors. "If the city had to do it elsewhere, the cost would be greater." J. J. Phoenix, superintendent of the home, H. W. Glenn, Col. Al Fairbrother, Dr. J. S. Betts, and C. E. Hudson appeared. Mr. Phoenix told of 187 children cared for this year and of plans for more next year. The home receives help from 49 counties, but had never asked the city of Greensboro for assistance before.

The traffic ordinance amendments include changing the speed limits to conform to the state. This limit will be 10 miles an hour instead of 15 in the congested district and 18 instead of 20 elsewhere. Cars must not be parked or left standing within 20 feet of a corner and section 7 was changed to "Elm street between the railroad and Market" instead of "Elm street from Lewis to Gaston." The change cuts part of Elm street off from the congested district.

In the proposed local bill which the council wants to have passed at the special session of the general assembly authority would be given the city to regulate height and bulk of buildings, the area of yards, courts, and other open spaces and in this connection to divide the city into districts, to regulate and restrict the location of trades and industries, to create special assessment districts whenever it is proposed to open any new street, and to provide a method of assessing damages and benefits when property is improved.

Answering a request from the police department that bootleggers could not be caught with Ford cars, the council authorized Mr. Painter to buy a Dodge for the officers if that would do. The Ford has friends, however, and the matter is not yet settled beyond the fact that the department is going to buy some kind of machine.

E. E. Willis asked the council to widen West Sycamore street to 30 feet. It now varies from 18 feet to 23 feet. Mr. Willis said all except five property owners had agreed to give the necessary property to the city. Mr. Painter and Mr. Willis will confer further after maps have been made.

The problem of negro poolrooms, which has been up before the council several times was partly settled when Mr. Suggs, the owner of the Suggs building on East Market street, notified Mayor Kiser that he would not allow his building to be used for this purpose. The council had a request for a permit there. Another request for a permit from J. H. Price for a negro poolroom at 209 Lewis street was refused. Chief Crutchfield and nearby property owners all requested that the permit be not granted.

VIRGINIA LEAGUE LIKELY BE A SIX CLUB CIRCUIT

Richmond, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News, Wilson and Rocky Mount Are the Teams Left.

(Special to Daily News)

Rocky Mount, Dec. 12.—With the meeting of the Virginia league directors at which a final showdown will be made and the forfeit money posted scheduled to be held in Norfolk this week, considerable gossip as to the composition of the Virginia circuit next season is going the rounds in local baseball channels.

What is regarded here as certain evidence that Suffolk will not be in the 1922 circuit is the consummation of a deal whereby the Cats disposed of J. Burns, D. Burns and Slappey to the Shreveport club of the Texas league. It is also stated that Black and two other players who came to the Suffolk reserve list have also been offered for sale, and this with the entire Cat reserve list gone there appears little hope for Suffolk's entering a club next season.

With the consummation of the deal with Shreveport and the subsequent elimination of Suffolk as a member of next season's organization, Vice President W. S. Moye, league director, for the Tarboro club, made the announcement today that Tarboro interests who had an option on the Tarboro franchise until December 10 had allowed it to expire and had evinced no real interest in securing baseball for the Tar Bables next season. Consequently Tarboro is regarded as eliminated from the 1922 circuit.

In view of these developments local moguls seem certain that next year's circuit will be composed of Richmond, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News, Wilson and Rocky Mount.

It is not definitely settled, however, as to what Rocky Mount will do although it is stated that the Tar Bables and Bugs will stick together in whatever action they decide to follow. A special meeting of the local stockholders has been called to convene at the chamber of commerce assembly rooms tomorrow evening at 7:30, and some definite plan of action for the showdown at Norfolk is expected to be formulated then. It is known, however, that definite arrangements have been made to raise the $5,000 forfeit money, but the placing of that sum is another question.

Because of the continuation of the W. Wilson suit at Richmond, Thursday, December 16, the date upon which the Norfolk meeting was scheduled to be held, this league directors meeting has necessarily been postponed. It is expected here that it will be held at Norfolk on the night of December 17.

5,000,000 AMERICAN CHILDREN SUFFERING FOR NOURISHMENT

Wonderful Discovery That Will Help to Prevent It

The Greensboro Drug Co., Our Local Druggists, Ask Greensboro People to Consider These Facts

No news in years has caused such widespread comment as that lately sent out by government health experts in Washington, saying at least 5,000,000 American children are weak or ailing because they do not get the right kind of food. The authorities explained that it is not a matter of underfeeding or over-feeding, but of wrong feeding; which causes malnutrition and all its allied ailments. If there were some way to add to their food all the vitamins necessary to promote normal growth and weight, thousands of little lives would be saved.

Dr. Phillip B. Hawk at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, has been engaged in making a long series of tests to perfect a new health tonic food which would combine all the necessary elements to promote strength and sustain life. Thus, for the first time on record, as a result of these tests, a perfectly balanced food tonic is being offered to the public, with its efficiency scientifically proven.

SUSTO is the name of the preparation, a concentrated tonic food, rich in the vitamins of Yeast, Rice, Eggs, and Milk, together with Ferrous Nuclein and Iron. These are the elements, absolutely necessary, not only to promote growth and development, but actually to sustain life, and without which the human body wastes away.

In Dr. Hawk's report he says: "In every instance where under-nourished infants and children were given SUSTO important body-weight increases were registered quickly. A notable case is that of a boy of eleven who had been under weight for three or four years, in spite of the best medical and dietetic treatment. The feeding of SUSTO produced a gain of six pounds in three months."

Similar tests were made on children suffering from malnutrition and anaemic conditions and others recuperating from illness. In every case SUSTO demonstrated its power to stimulate the appetite and increase bodily weight and strength. No medicine was used or needed—only a proper balancing of the child's diet. Feeding with the life-giving elements in SUSTO, you can almost see a child grow and get stronger. SUSTO builds firm flesh, strengthens worn-out nerves and increases energy for weak, run-down, ailing men and women. Feeble old people and convalescents registered quickly. Ask about SUSTO at the Greensboro Drug company.

CLOTHIERS HABERDASHERS HATTERS

Should Women Shoppers Come to a Man's Store?

Women who do the buying of their husbands' haberdashery usually shop in department stores.

Men who buy their own things go to a men's shop.

The result is, the two different classes of stores offer two different kinds of merchandise.

The store that sells to women offers men's things that their wives will think are attractive.

The store that sells to men specializes in goods that appeal primarily to the male sense of decoration.

Women who buy haberdashery for men only at Christmas are especially invited to shop at our stores.

Since our patronage comes almost altogether from well-dressed men, women who buy presents here are pretty sure to get something that will please.
