W. I. Anderson and Company Now In Handsome New Home

Will Have Formal Opening This Evening From 8 to 11—Public Invited—Building Most Modern In This Section—Has 4,000 Square Feet of Cold Storage Space.

The formal opening of W. I. Anderson and company's new home at 213 East Washington street this evening from 8 to 11 o'clock is expected to be an event of more than usual interest. This company, wholesale fruits and produce, has just completed and moved into the most modern building of its kind in the state, and perhaps in the south, and is inviting all its customers, friends, and the general public to call tonight this evening, and what provisions have been made for supplying them with all the finest fruits and produce, and enjoy music, refreshments, and good fellowship. The invitation is general, and many hundreds are expected to be present.

The building, one of the handsomest wholesale houses in the city, is 45 by 242 feet, running through the entire block from East Washington to Hughes street, equipped with the very latest cold storage facilities, and designed to enable the company to furnish the dealers, and through them the consuming public, with all the finest fruits and produce, with their freshness maintained as though just from the field.

It has two main floors and a basement, giving it a floor space of more than 28,000 square feet, 1,000 of which is under refrigeration, automatically operated. The basement extends through the entire length of the building.

The first floor contains, in addition to storage space, a reception room and other facilities for the convenience of customers and salesmen. On the second floor are the main office and space for dry storage. All floors are equipped with steam heat.

The building also contains special rooms for the ripening of bananas. They are equipped with steam heat and are so regulated and operated that bananas, if necessary brought here green, ripen almost as if on the trees.

Unusually convenient loading arrangements, moreover, have been made. The rear end of the building is so constructed that five huge trucks may be backed into the shelter so that their bodies will be on a level with the main floor of the building. These arrangements make loading easy and rapid, enabling the company to make quick deliveries.

Five trucks are employed to take care of the business of the company. Truck lines are maintained between Greensboro and High Point, Greensboro and Thomasville, and Greensboro and Burlington, and the city and surrounding territory are served daily.

The cold storage facilities, more than any other feature of the building, put W. I. Anderson and company's structure in a class by itself in this section of the country. The company is now able to keep approximately 12 carloads of fruits and produce under cold storage and thereby maintain their freshness for days and days.

The company is now in a position to handle a greater variety of fruits—fruits from practically all points of the globe, and to buy them in a great quantity. For instance, it has just recently handled 14 cars of apples in one order, and it is buying fruits and vegetables for the people of Greensboro and surrounding territory, which ordinarily are obtainable only in much larger cities.

The company, owned by C. E. Anderson, A. G. Ellington, and W. I. Anderson, has just attained its majority, having been organized in 1920, and has successfully served the trade, and the enlargement and improvement of its facilities for serving a growing city and surrounding territory are made in keeping with its policy to meet the demands of the times and give the public the best.

It is expected that a large number of out-of-town friends and customers, as well as hundreds of Greensboro people, will join the company this evening in celebrating its 21st birthday and the completion of its new home.

PUSH CO-OPERATIVE MARKET CAMPAIGN IN EAST CAROLINA
 (Special to Daily News)
 Kinston, Dec. 12.—With just three weeks left in which to complete their campaign to enroll 10,000 additional members in the North Carolina Tobacco Growers' association, officials of that organization in this section believe eastern Carolina will add thousands to its quota within that time. Not all of the eastern counties have been thoroughly thrashed over by the organizers. Many growers were enrolled in a recent "mopping up" campaign in Pitt county, and scattered communities have barely been touched. Dr. James Y. Joyner, chief of the organization committee, takes the stump this week in Duplin, one of the leading tobacco counties of the lower eastern belt. Duplin agriculturally is one of the most important counties in the state, and is expected by the association's leaders to become an organization stronghold. It has advanced rapidly in the ranks of tobacco-producing counties in recent years, and embraces several important markets within its boundaries.

Dr. Joyner will speak at Warsaw, Wallace and Beulaville.
