

CAN'T RAM RELIGION DOWN FOLKS' THROAT

Judge Bland In Goldsboro Makes Himself Quite Plain At Blue Law Trial.

OTHER GOLDSBORO NEWS

(Special to Daily News.)
Goldsboro, Oct. 31.—"I cannot find Paul Swinson guilty of selling goods on Sunday, for in my opinion it is not an indictable offense," declared Judge S. D. Bland in recorder's court yesterday after a preacher, a dozen of the citizens living on Williams street and other parts of the city and two lawyers hired by them, had tried all day to secure the conviction of Swinson on charges of selling gasoline and Coca-Cola on Sunday. There were two other warrants against Swinson, one charging him with blocking the street and a third with "committing a public nuisance." Judge Bland found him guilty of the last charge, stating that it was the manner in which he conducted his business and not the fact that he was conducting it on Sunday for which he found him guilty. "The courts are taking the position now," he said. "It is not our duty to ram religion of any kind down people's throats."

Rev. Charles A. Jones had testified that he had seen Swinson selling "something in bottles." He could not testify as to what it was. Other witnesses testified to the same thing.
The defense made fun of the honesty of the prosecution in trying to convict a man by "something in bottles."
The prosecution contended that Goldsboro was peculiar within itself and different from other North Carolina cities in that it didn't permit the sale of soft drinks on Sunday. However much this impressed them, Judge Bland had no time in telling them at the conclusion that it had no bearing on the state statute. He declared, "It is not our duty to ram down people's throat religion of any kind."
The funeral services of Mrs. W. T. Adams, pastor of the St. Paul's Methodist church of which the deceased was a member, and Dr. Zeno Wall, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, interment was in Willowdale cemetery.

Mrs. Yelverton has lived many years in Goldsboro. She was married to Mr. Yelverton 50 years ago. Mrs. Yelverton is survived by her husband and by four sons, Edward H., Leslie, Paul, and Harrison Yelverton.
Ed Edmundson, charged with murdering Albert Farmer near Mount Olive October 22, and Charles Farmer, brother of the slain man, charged with being an accomplice, are still in Willowdale cemetery.
The post-mortem examination was held at request of Edmundson's people in the hope of throwing the blame of the crime on the negroes. However, the verdict of the coroner's jury filed with the clerk of court yesterday declares that Farmer came to "his death by gunshot wounds, probably inflicted by Ed Edmundson."

A special school is held by the city police of Stone City, Ia., for traffic violators. The offenders are fined $5 each and then placed in a class in which they spend two hours rehearsing a long list of published traffic rules.

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD FOR MRS. F. E. SELLARS

Large Crowd Pays Tribute to Memory of Beloved Woman of Alamance.

OTHER BURLINGTON NEWS

(Special to Daily News.)
Burlington, Oct. 31.—The funeral of Mrs. F. E. Sellars, who died at her home here at an early hour Sunday morning, was held at the First Christian church yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. J. O. Lanford, D. D., pastor of the church, conducted the services and was assisted by Rev. P. H. Fleming, D. D., a former pastor of the church, Rev. W. H. Foster, M. W. Innes and W. B. North, all of this city. Interment was in the city cemetery. Mrs. Sellars had been ill only a few days previous to her death and the news of her death Sunday morning was a severe shock to the relatives and friends in the city and throughout the state.
Mrs. Sellars was one of the oldest residents of Burlington, having lived here for the past 45 years. She was 89 years of age and was the widow of Dr. F. E. Sellars, who died 23 years ago, surviving her 19 children, six sons and four daughters as follows: Thomas J. Sellars, Charles V. Sellars, J. Ernest Sellars, and Walter B. Sellars, all of Burlington; Fred W. Sellars, of Wellington, Kansas; John E. Sellars, of Columbia, Pa.; Mrs. Mary Walker, Mrs. Flora Brooks, of Burlington; Mrs. Elizabeth White, of Hixson, Va.; Mrs. Annie Jordan, of Gastonia. Besides these there also survive 25 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.
The deceased had been a member of the First Christian church of Burlington since its organization about 25 years ago and always manifested a deep interest in the church work. The funeral services were attended by a large congregation of relatives, friends and neighbors. The auditorium of the church being entirely filled. The floral offerings were numerous and most beautiful. The following business men of the city acted as pallbearers: J. M. Fox, W. H. Carroll, C. E. Fowles, J. F. Holt, J. Montgomery and W. K. Holt.
The engagement of Miss Mary Louise Rogers and Paul V. King, two popular young people of Alamance county, has been announced in this city. The wedding will take place Wednesday, November 8, 1922, and the popularity of the couple indicates that much interest will be shown in the approaching wedding by a large number of friends throughout the county.

The funeral services for E. W. Wilkins, who died at his home in this city Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, were held at the First Christian church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. J. H. Edmundson, D. D., and Rev. J. O. Lanford, D. D., of this city. Mr. Wilkins was 69 years of age and had been ill for several days, suffering a stroke of paralysis, which he died of. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Miss Mamie Wilkins, and two sons, Sam Wilkins, of Macon, Ga., and Tom Wilkins, of Raleigh. He spent most of his life in the Stone Creek section of Alamance county and became a resident of Burlington about a year ago.

Dr. H. E. Penick, of Charlotte, who is the youngest bishop of the Episcopal church in the United States, preached to a large congregation at the church of the Holy Comforter here Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Bishop Penick is a brilliant young man and delighted his hearers with an excellent sermon. Charles Moore's residence on Anthony street is being remodeled, enlarged and beautified. When the contemplated improvements are made the residence will be one of the most beautiful and conveniently equipped residences in that section of the city.
J. S. Morris, of Hartov, Fla., has returned to his home after a brief visit with friends in this city.
M. S. Satterwhite has returned from a business trip to Lynchburg, Danville and other places in Virginia.

(Special to Daily News.)
Southport, Oct. 31.—Bessie Cross Ruark, wife of Mayor Joseph W. Ruark, Democratic nominee of the 10th state senatorial district, died at her home here this morning after a lingering illness of several years. Her mother, Mrs. Cross of Sanford, reached here last night. Mrs. Ruark was diagnosed as a young child and her marriage was a resident of Southport. She was a member of Trinity Methodist church and greatly beloved. She is survived besides her husband by a young daughter and one son. The remains leave tomorrow morning for Sanford where funeral services and burial will take place.

MR. PARKER HEARD BY THE ELON FOLKS

He Is Candidate For House of Representatives—He Advocates Better Schools.

(Special to Daily News.)
Elon College, Oct. 31.—Last evening at 7:30 o'clock in the graded school auditorium, E. S. Parker, Jr., Democratic candidate for house of representatives for Alamance county, spoke to a large audience of men and women.
Mrs. J. W. Patton introduced the speaker of the evening and in Mrs. Patton's introduction she stated that we all were living in a wonderful age, that women had not become accustomed to the part they were to play in politics, that they should interest themselves on the needs of the hour, vote for law enforcement, if they did not do this why they became sinners.
Mr. Parker made a wonderful talk, inspirational, enthusiastic and, now and then a bit of wit and humor. He advocated education as being essential to the people of the day, being among the first to start the first brick school building in Alamance county at Greensboro in 1897. He also spoke on being an advocate for good roads.
After Mr. Parker spoke, D. J. Walker, clerk of the court for Alamance county, also called in the coming election spoke briefly on his line of work and thanked the people for their wonderful cooperation.

CORNERSTONE PLACED FOR A NEW HOSPITAL

Impressive Ceremonies Mark Event At Shelby With Masons Carrying Out Program.

(Special to Daily News.)
Shelby, Oct. 31.—Four hundred Masons from a Cleveland and adjoining counties, and four public school children, together with representatives of the women's club and the five trustees of the Shelby public hospital, formed a parade a mile long this afternoon on their way to the scene of the $100,000 public hospital where with Masonic ceremonies the cornerstone was laid.
Grand Master James H. Welch, of Hillsboro, and his staff were on hand to conduct the impressive ceremonies marked by music by the Hillsboro band, singing by the students and school children and a great oration by Stonehall J. Durham, who compared the selfish, thought and action of a 20th century citizen with the public-spiritedness and human brotherhood of the people today, commending the citizens of No. 4 township for voting a bond issue to build and equip a public institution to alleviate the suffering of mankind.

TOBACCO WAREHOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Farmville Building Burned With Loss Estimated at Several Thousand Dollars.

(Special to Daily News.)
Farmville, Oct. 31.—Early this morning fire completely destroyed the Big Four warehouse here, owned by H. L. Huggins and A. C. Bonds, and used for storing leaf tobacco.
The building was a huge wooden structure with about 26,000 feet floor space. When the fire was discovered about 2 o'clock the flames had already gained headway that it could be done other than save surrounding buildings.
The house was filled with tobacco owned by A. C. Monk and company, Knott and Newton, Monk and Huggins and Townsend warehouses company. As yet no exact figures have been given but A. C. Monk and company, the heaviest loser, estimates the contents as about 1,250,000 pounds and valued at about $100,000. The loss was partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.
