

Pithy Paragraphs

Friends, can't you ease up on the flapper, short skirts and prohibition jokes? These subjects were all right for a while, but there is such a thing as too much of anything—as the tramp said when he drowned in the beer vat.

The flapper was a shining mark in spite of her powder puff, and she had many aspects and characteristics that invited one to take pen in hand. But the advent of "long skirts" and the consequent meekness of the flapper have made the whippersnappers of her do drop.

Today, as every day, the two top-notchers get two tickets to the National theater where the pithy paragraph film is being run.

Here are today's pickings:

ASPIRIN IN NEW PERFECTED FORM

Aspirin is most effective in attacking and relieving pain, and thus is indispensable to those suffering from rheumatism, headache, neuralgia, lumbago, etc. Many suffering from these, however, have heretofore been unable to benefit from ordinary aspirin, because of their tendency to flatulence or heartburn.

Now comes the new pain reliever—a newly perfected aspirin with special beneficial qualities. TINGLES LAXO ASPIRIN not only relieves pain, but by means of a mild laxative it contains, it prevents in most cases the after-discomfort that might result.

A gentle laxative is also included. This corrects the cause of the trouble by ridding the system of the toxins or body poisons that so often are the cause of pain and restlessness.

It's the aspirin with the three-fold attack upon pain, colds, headache, neuralgia, rheumatism, etc. Be sure to ask for TINGLES LAXO ASPIRIN, the improved aspirin with the three points:

- It's absorbed easily
- It relieves pain quickly
- It's a gentle laxative

What's It Good For?
An old darky in Alabama called across the fence to his neighbor's son, who is a student at the Atlanta University—
"Look hyar, boy," he said, "you goes to school don't yer?"
"Yes, sir," replied the boy.
"Getting education, ain't yer?"
"Yes, sir."
"Larning 'rithmetic an' 'aggring on a slate, eh?"
"Yes, sir."
"Well, it don't take two whole days ter make an hour, do it?"
"Why, no," answered the boy.
"Wall, said the old man, "you was going ter bring dat hatchet back in an hour, wasn't yer? An' hit's been two whole days since yer borrowed hit. What's the use of yer education if you go ter school a whole year an' den can't tell how long hit takes ter fetch back dat hatchet?"—Miss M. M. C. 508 South Mendenhall street, City.

Business Tax Menace
"Here's one where the Jew furnishes another bit of amusement," drawled the man back in the shade, as we gathered around a crackling fire that night up in the Michigan woods. "One day last summer there was a Jew flailing up at that rocky bottomed bass bed. There were several boats close together, all trying to fish as close to the spot as possible. An Irishman in the boat next him got a 'strike' in the excitement of landing it he fell overboard. He went down twice. Isaac started to row towards him, and as he came up the second time, Isaac hollered, 'Burr, burr, burr, can I help your boat if you don't come up agin?'—S. B. Pomona.

He Was Settled
Counsel: "I'm sorry I couldn't do more for you."
Convicted client: "Don't mention it, guv'nor. Ain't five years enough?"—L. P. P. Box 1045.

Kobe: "Just about, liddy."—J. D. W. Box 1045, City.

Safety First
Able: "Oh, what a dream I had last nite."
Cohen: "What did you dream about?"
Able: "I dream I find a million dollars."
Cohen: "Den you woke up, eh, suppose?"
Able: "No, I put it in the bank first."—Box 194, Mount Airy.

Which Should Have Waited?
A Scotsman, attended by his collie, was walking through a fish market when he stopped to inquire the price of some fine-looking fish. While he was going ter bring with the fishmonger, the collie's tail drooped for a moment over a basketful of live lobsters, and one of the largest of them instantly clamped claws on it, causing the collie to go dashing off through the market homeward, yelping with pain while the crustacean hung on grimly.
"Mon, mon!" the fishmonger appealed after on speechless moment of tense indignation. "Whistle to yer dog!"
"Hoot, mon," the other retorted complacently, "whistle to yer lobster!"—P. O. Box No. 499, Greensboro.

Painful Confession
Billy was in tears when he came home from school. "Teacher whipped me because I was the only one who could answer a question she asked the class," he sobbed. His mother was indignant. "Why, I'll see her about that. What was the question, Billy?" His eyes lighted reminiscently. "She wanted to know who put the glue in her ink bottle."—Garland Wyrick 1201 Denim Br.

Miss Mary Evelyn Humble and Charles Henry Atkins Wed
(Special is Daily News.)
Eion College, Nov. 2.—A beautiful marriage occurred here Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock when Miss Mary Evelyn Humble became the bride of Charles Henry Atkins.
The marriage occurred at the home of the bride's grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Humble, where she had made her home for the past three months. The parlor was very pretty with its decorations of white and green, an improvised altar of ferns and big white chrysanthemums formed a beautiful background before which the couple pledged their troth. The bride was lovely in a tailored dress of dark brown and carrying an arm bouquet of gorgeous white chrysanthemums and fern. The bride and groom entered together and Dr. N. G. Newman officiated, using the ceremony of the Christian church.
Owing to the illness of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Wilbert Humble, there were only the immediate family and a few close friends present.
Mrs. Atkins is the accomplished daughter of Rev. W. B. Humble, of Moyock and is loved by all who know her for her beautiful disposition. They are now at home here to their many friends and have already gone to house keeping.

Advice Against Impounding Basins.
(Special is Daily News.)
Asheville, Nov. 2.—Advising against any immediate steps in the construction of an impounding basin on the Bee Tree watershed, but suggesting that other means be taken to avoid losses by leaks as the first logical means of conservation of water supply, John-H. Freeman, of Providence, R. I., consulting engineer, submitted a verbal report of his deductions to the city commissioners and city planning commission yesterday afternoon. He said there is evidence suggesting considerable leakage throughout the city, in main and in pipe connections. He advised that meters be installed and inspected regularly.
