

DEMOCRATS WAGE HOT BATTLE IN DAVIDSON

Clyde Hoey Delivers Strong Speech to Crowded House in Lexington.

TURNOVER IS EXPECTED

Lexington, Nov. 2.—There may be political apathy in some parts of North Carolina, but Davidson county Democrats gave convincing evidence last night that it has not struck them, when they packed and jammed into the courthouse to hear Clyde C. Hoey, and many were turned away because the sizable courtroom had no place for them.

Mr. Hoey devoted much of his time to fulsome praise of the progress of North Carolina, which educational, health, agricultural and industrial fields, and attributed much of the accomplishments to the beneficent influence of Democratic administration of affairs for 42 years.

The speaker took note of Secretary Hughes' appeal at Jersey City Tuesday for the voters to "stand by" President Harding by declaring that the president "doesn't stand at the same place long enough for anyone to stand with him."

Every section of the county almost was represented in the audience. Lexington high school football team has not entered the state championship in championship games in the championship race.

After holding Winston-Salem and Durham highs to close scores, the local players are likely to contend for the championship in championship games in the championship race.

A Randolph county man, whose name was not disclosed, stepped into Sheriff F. C. Sisk's office yesterday and said that he was wanted to pay poll tax that he was due.

Rather Small Crowd Hears Mr. Love in Wilkes County

North Wilkesboro, Nov. 2.—One hundred and fifty members of the Republican party in Wilkes county heard Walter B. Love, of Monroe, candidate for Congress in the seventh district this afternoon.

Maybe the position of the Greensboro Daily News will be known after the present campaign, for there are still some who do not seem to know it is independent in politics. The Democratic hand book puts it down as having a Republican leaning and Charles H. Cowles, Republican candidate for the legislature, referred to it as a "Democratic newspaper" in his speech this afternoon.

Major W. E. Moody, former president of the state federation of labor, today explained why he is a Democrat still and none too still at that. He was being interviewed upon his declaration for Democratic rather than Republican candidates in this election.

"I just think it is easier to get heard in our politics before a Democratic than before a Republican tribuna. Every man gets his chance to speak in a Democratic primary.
