

Methodist Protestants Hear Church Leaders Discuss Work

Annual Conference Now In Session At Henderson Featured By Number of Forceful and Inspiring Addresses—Various Committees Will Render Their Reports Today.

By G. B. WAY.
Henderson, Nov. 2.—Addresses by general agents of the denomination occupied the greater part of the afternoon session of the Methodist Protestant conference in session here. Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. G. L. Spencer of Graham. The first speaker was Dr. F. T. Benson, editor of "The Methodist Protestant," of Baltimore, Md., who presented in a very forceful manner the claims of the paper to the conference. He presented a strong argument in favor of the general conference organ, and asserted that the religious press is the only means by which the denominational interests and a denominational consciousness may be brought to the people of the denomination throughout the nation. Other speakers were Dr. H. L. Eiderdie, of Westminster Theological seminary, Westminster, Md., Dr. W. A. Harper, president of Elon college; Dr. F. C. Klein, general secretary of the denominational board of foreign missions, Baltimore, Md., and Miss Annis L. Forest, traveling secretary of the woman's board of foreign missions, were introduced to the conference. The second speaker at the afternoon session was Dr. Klein, who told of the work that is being carried on among the heathen nations. Rev. R. L. Davis, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of North Carolina, who was introduced to the conference at the morning session, delivered an address on law enforcement. Dr. Harper, who is a frequent visitor to the M. P. conference, delivered a brief speech, in which he spoke of the fraternal relations that exist between the Methodist Protestant and the Christian denominations. Dr. Harper exhorted the members of the conference to follow their leader, the president, and spoke of fellowship, leadership and "pushership," declaring that fellowship was the greatest ship that ever sailed the seas of the human realm. He declared that leadership signified followers and that "pushership" was necessary in order to make the leadership effective in the work of maintaining a church and educational institutions. George Cosner, secretary of the Henderson chamber of commerce was introduced to the conference and extended an invitation to the conference to an automobile ride tomorrow afternoon. The conference accepted the invitation. Letters were read from absent members of conference including Dr. F. T. Tagg, veteran minister, who in former years was a welcome visitor to the conference. Dr. Tagg resides in Baltimore. The session this evening was devoted to hearing addresses from fraternal messengers from two other state conferences, Dr. J. H. Straught, president of the Maryland conference, of Baltimore, and Rev. T. C. Casaday, president of the Alabama conference, of Birmingham, were the speakers, each bringing greetings from their respective conferences and speaking of the work of the Methodist Protestant denomination in general. The devotional service was conducted by Rev. A. O. Lindley, of Snow Camp. Tomorrow's sessions of the conference will be devoted to the hearing of reports from various committees, a program by the board of young people's work, meeting of the conference brotherhood, and a pageant to be rendered by the missionary societies of the Henderson church.

NEWS OF NEW BERN.

Department of Farm Extension For Craven County School.
(Special to Daily News.)
New Bern, Nov. 2.—A department for farm extension work will be set up at Craven county farm life school at Vanceboro as soon as a man fitted to handle the job can be secured. R. S. Frooter, superintendent of county schools, said today on the strength of a recent interview with Supr. G. C. Brooks, of the state department of education. Teachers of the county school system will open a two-day conference in Vanceboro tomorrow morning for the purpose of hearing plans for the conduct of the schools this year as outlined by Mr. Frooter, and to discuss school improvement with experts. The condition of Rev. W. A. Ayers, pastor of First Baptist church, has shown steady improvement through the day and a report is that he is out of danger. He underwent an operation at a local hospital Monday night after he had been stricken shortly after the Sunday night service with an attack of acute appendicitis. Inquiries as to his condition have been received from many sections of the state where he is well known. New Bern high who have in four games with eastern teams this season rolled up a total score of 109 to 0 will meet Washington here tomorrow in the first of the eastern Carolina championship elimination series. The locals defeated the Beaufort team by four touchdowns early in the season, but in later games the Washingtonians have shown decided improvement.

WINSTON-SALEM NEWS.

East Bend Will Build School Building Costing $22,000.
(Special to Daily News.)
Winston-Salem, Nov. 2.—East Bend, Yadkin county, will soon begin the erection of a $22,000 high school building. S. J. Honeycutt, who has had charge of The Sentinel's out-of-town circulation for three years, has been elected principal of the school and will enter upon his new duties next Monday. Capt. F. W. Auer, of New York, who conducted police school in Winston-Salem and Greensboro last winter, died at his home in his home city Tuesday, according to news received here. The business men of Kernersville have organized a chamber of commerce with about 40 members. R. B. Kerney is president. The body of Antonio Beral, the Italian who lost his life in a boarding house fire here early Wednesday morning, was shipped to Washington, D. C., tonight for interment in that city.

Representative Lyon Talks to Voters of Cumberland

(Special to Daily News.)
Fayetteville, Nov. 2.— Homer L. Lyon, congressman from the sixth North Carolina district, defended his own record in Congress and attacked that of the Harding administration when he worked up his campaign in Cumberland county here last night. Speaking from the same platform with Mr. Lyon was Miss Katherine Robinson, member of the Cumberland bar, the first local woman called on by the state executive committee for a Democratic speech. Miss Robinson spoke of state issues, while Mr. Lyon confined himself to national politics. The body of Antonio Beral, the Italian who lost his life in a boarding house fire here early Wednesday morning, was shipped to Washington, D. C., tonight for interment in that city.
