"Tangerine" at Grand.
 "Tangerine," the splendid musical play coming to the Grand theater Saturday night, November 11, enjoys the distinction of having eclipsed every record for big business at the famous Casino theater in New York, where it ran for a solid year. Its producer, Carl Carlsson, had no sponsor sent "Tangerine" to the Grand, but he turned his attention to "Tangerine," and devoted many months to his task of evolving a production that would heighten the reputation he had gained as producer of "Trene." His success is theatrical history, and "Tangerine" has been pronounced the most novel and brilliant satirical play ever set to music. In fact so complete is the whimsical story that it could be successfully presented without the lovely music of which 18 numbers embellish the sparkling score. Mr. Carlsson has selected the cast with great care and the result is a delightful performance in scenic surroundings of great beauty.

Richard Barthelmess Today.
 Richard Barthelmess goes back to the Virginia mountains, the location of his unforgettable "Tolable David" for his most recent picture, "The Bond Boy," which will be shown at the National theater today and tomorrow. As Joe Newbolt, impoverished son of aristocratic parents, he is forced to work until he is 21. The humiliating part of it is that Chase is the new owner of the Newbolt farm, having gotten possession of it when Joe's father, a visionary inventor, was forced to relinquish it to his one-time hired man, How Chase is accidentally killed in an unfortunate martial tangle, how Joe is arrested for murder and condemned, how he effects his thrilling escape, solves the mystery and brings about his own freedom and happiness, these incidents are dramatically woven into a charming love story in the screen version of George Washington Ogden's fascinating tale.
 With Barthelmess appears an imposing cast, including Mary Thurman, as leading lady, and Mary Allen, as the mother.
 Other screen attractions are one of the cleverest comedies of the season, entitled, "365 Days," featuring Snub Pollard and the latest Pathe News, Special music by National orchestra, Bert Holliswell conducting.

Just As Handy As a Typewriter Keyboard
 There are only 26 letters on the keyboard of a typewriter, only nine numerals and a score of symbols and punctuation marks—
 Yet with this slight equipment you can write the largest book that was ever compiled in the English language. Or a whole shelf full of them!
 The average number of classifications in these columns every day will not exceed the number of keys of a typewriter—
 Yet within this simple framework of classification, any buying or selling offer—any bargain or want—can be found and read without the least loss of time.
 The classified columns of the DAILY NEWS provide a daily service that satisfies particular needs at a glance!
 You are in these columns will get for you what you want when you want it.
