If Methodists Win Saturday They Will Claim to Rank Next to State Team.

EXPECT GREAT BATTLE

(Special to Daily News.)
Durham, Nov. 8,-Will Trinity

Durham, Nov. 5.—Will Trinity or Wake Forest rate third in collegiate football circles this year? Some of the fellows who made Phi Bela Kapna in gridology around Trinity college figure that this problem will be fust about worked out in the Trinity-Wake Forest hattle in Raleigh on Armistice day.

Here is what these wise guys say. Wake Forest tied Davidson 6-6. Trinity defeated Davidson 12 to 6. Carolina unquestionably takes first Trinity defeated Davidson 17 to 6. Carolina unquestionably takes first place with a clean slate and State thus far gets second place by having showed up to best advantage against Carolina. But should the Wilmington Light liftantry aggregation in their native hants Saturday, in the best of physical condition and with all the Wildington for a successful year, playing in fine style, say the gridology artists, over Steiner's Trinity warriors, they would have the right to claim precedence. Of course if they make a poor showing comparisons should take fourth place and Wake Forest fifth, for the Wildcats certainly made some people sit up and take notice when they tackled Georgia Tech and V. P. I.

Of course all this figuring could be upset by some of the important games yet to come. For Wake Forest has yet to meet State and Davidson to most of the superion. The ballion fresh have engaged in only three griditon battles and have won the last bout. They make won the last bout. They compared the superions. Still the wise ones claim that the race in the state will be just about run when the tumult and the shouting dies the captains.

And if one could have seen the terrific pace that Couch Steiner wax setting for his men on Hanes tield posteriary afternoon, despite an ocean of mud, the conclusion would have been reached that the coach, has been thinking on these things. Although all the past performances of the Iwo teams this year indicate that Trinity should have an easy win, the dope has too often been knocked in the head this season for the Trinity coaches to risk a let up in practice.

Should the Trinity team show apair of heels over the Wake Forest club in the game Saturday, there are some around Trinity who would like to see a challenge issued to Harry Hartsell's Wolfpack for a pest season game to determine which out fit should rank next to Caarolina in the state.

"Wonder if we couldn't begin to talk things up and get folks around here interested in such a proposition," mused one of the veteran Trinity players yesterday.
