

GREENSBORO DAILY NEWS AND TELEGRAM. Published Every Day in the Year by Greensboro News Company. D. R. JEFFREY, Manager. A. B. JOYNER, Advertising Manager. EARLE GODFREY, Editor. A. L. STOCKTON, Managing Editor.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1922

BORROWED BRIEFS.

Now the "wets" are proposing to form a third party. This makes Third Party No. 2887.—New York Evening Post.

That a Californian was drowned in seven feet of water indicates that "for medicinal purposes" California is doing her damndest.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Of course prices that are prohibitive can't take a drop.—Farmville Herald.

Ever notice the Germans never include the Kaiser in their war losses?—Brooklyn Eagle.

George the fifth is left, but George the fourth has at last quit.—Clinton Daily Citizen.

What the mothball says father is often spent on what the football costs son.—Washington Post.

Those who pride themselves on being hard-boiled usually are only half-baked.—Brooklyn Eagle.

It's not the Turk's guarded tent but his guarded tent that's worrying the allies.—Washington Post.

PARAGRAPHS.

The weather: Wednesday night breezes cut up a bit, the wind swinging around by the north and howling right fiercely, with a sharp drop in temperature. Thursday clear and cool, with easterly winds.

The Phillips woman apparently committed the murder of which she has just been convicted in a California court on account of idle and malicious gossip. Since she had to kill somebody, what a pity it is that it was not one of the gossipers who died under the hammer!

The Southern argument is that it is so busy it just naturally can't keep off the crossings. Well, we all hope that it will continue to get busier and busier; but does an increase in the general prosperity of the section carry the corollary that in time Greensboro's streets will be blocked practically all the time? If that is the case, where does the city get off?

With the Banner building, the Huntley-Stockton-Hill building, the American Exchange National bank, the O. Henry hotel and now the Jefferson Standard building all helping the looks of North Elm street, South Elm by contrast is looking more and more like the Raggedy Man. If someone doesn't get a move on pretty soon, that thoroughfare will be outlashed.

This from the Union Republican, of Winston-Salem, being the conclusion of an editorial article of November 2: "Here is the way the New York Tribune puts it: 'The public will be lucky if it escapes a period of carelessness and inefficiency in government, or worse, following a don't-give-a-damn election, such as this fall's seems about to be.' 'Thanks for the ad' would be little enough in return, from the Tribune.

High Point Enterprise: "There being no highway in the real sense of the word between Greensboro and the Forsyth capital, comments the Greensboro Daily News. The inference of course being that Greensboro folks don't like to pass through High Point." They do and they don't. Passing through High Point for the purpose of getting to Winston-Salem is a thing they are not particularly fond of—or even passing through Mechanicville. Not to speak for all of Greensboro, some of us would much rather stop in High Point than pass through it; but after all there are lawful occasions and exigencies that make necessary an occasional journey to the hyphenate town. Besides, a body feels it sort of incumbent to come in contact with the metropolis from time to time.

This from the Lexington Dispatch: "It is gratifying to the friends of J. F. Spruill that he won his race without needing a majority in Guilford county, especially since the Greensboro papers had doted so much on the prospect that if he were elected Guilford would have to do it. This is especially true in view of the uncalled for attack upon him after his election by the Greensboro News." The "attack" consisted in saying that Mr. Spruill had been guilty of an indecency in a campaign speech, which seemed entirely out of character for him; and the implication was that maybe he'd think it over and be careful in future. We have heard it said the Spruill performance would not have been regarded as indecent in Davidson, but we supposed that must be a slander on Davidson. Evidently, however, the Dispatch finds nothing wrong with it.

PROMISE AND PERFORMANCE.

Among the things that the country was told that it might expect when the Republican party took charge of the government two years ago was that the United States postal department should be operated for service rather than profit. But it seems that all that fine start that Will Hays made while he was postmaster general in the way of bringing a better feeling into the service and a fuller co-operation among the employes was short lived. From all available reports, especially among the employes of the railway mail service, the situation is worse today than it was under the Burleson administration. For the cuts that have been made in the service, and the reduction of the number of men on the R. P. O., runs exceed those of the Burleson administration. In fact it was under the Hitchcock administration that the cutting first started and this was continued under Burleson who went so far there was a reaction and he loosened up toward the last of his term. Then the Hays administration started, based upon the platform pledges of the Republicans and everyone thought that better days were upon us. But Mr. Hays retired for the motion picture business and Postmaster General Work took charge. Maybe it was the Hell and Maria Daves budget business that has put Mr. Work to work, but anyway the pruning knife has been abroad in the land, and cuts have been made that have reduced the service below the Burleson low water mark. Maybe towards the next Presidential campaign the screws will be loosened, but it is a fact that today the mail clerks have less space in which to work; fewer men to work the trains, and a volume of mail equal if not exceeding any in the post-office department's history.

To keep history straight here's what the Republican Campaign Text Book of 1920 said about the Republican attitude towards the postal service: "The United States postal service should be operated for service rather than for profit. There is no true economy in destroying the efficiency of the postoffice department by curtailment of the service it has to perform, or by failure to properly compensate employes whose expert knowledge is essential to the proper conduct of the affairs of the postal system. The postal service is at present materially below the proper standards of efficiency. Some of the most important probable causes are: 'Excessive reduction of the railway postoffice service and corresponding reduction in the working of mail in transit. 'Detention of mail in terminal stations and postoffices while undergoing or awaiting service. 'These conditions proceed directly from the policy adopted by the department in 1916, namely, the abandonment of curtailment in order to reduce the cost of the postal establishment, or facilities of proved efficiency, and the substitution thereof of other facilities and different methods."

It is railway mail service in the south being sacrificed for the pneumatic tubes in New York city? IF THE TWO-PARTY SYSTEM GIVES WAY. It is easier, says Mr. Gilbert, to see half a dozen parties in 1924 than to see three. Mr. Gilbert, by personal contact with men and events in Washington, has reached the conclusion to which the Daily News was driven some time since. If there is any sort of break-up of the two-party system, it will break into many pieces.

Mr. Gilbert finds that the present "liberal" program consists of recognition of Russia, revision of the tariff downward, revision of the tax laws with a restoration of the excess profits tax, and revision of the Esch-Cummins law to abolish the guarantee to the railroads and reduce freight rates. But he points out that the trouble with this program as the basis of a third party is the fact that, with the exception of recognition of Russia, it is all perfectly good Democratic doctrine, or could be made so with trifling modifications. If a liberal party started out on that platform, it would instantly be swallowed by the Democracy.

The only basis for a split from the old parties would be on some such political-economic-social question as that of labor. But if the labor people form a party of their own, the agrarians will follow suit; and there would be at least four parties, instead of three. At the moment there exists a farmer-labor combination that has actually elected a senator. But, the claims of labor leaders to the contrary notwithstanding, it is an unnatural, artificial combination, unable to withstand any severe strain. The farmer is a member of the capitalist, employing class quite as much as a member of the fraternity of labor. Many of the sacred precepts of organized labor are abhorrent to him. He will never stick long to a political party largely dominated by industrial labor.

Nevertheless, the tendency is to divide along economic lines. The farm bloc will be more powerful in the next Congress than it was in the last one. The labor vote coalesced in Indiana enough to defeat Beveridge. The tendency to organize political parties to serve the needs of particular economic groups is plainly apparent. But there are many more than three such groups in the United States; so, if the two-party system goes down, we shall have, not three parties, but such an array of small groups, as makes up the French chamber of deputies.

LAND BARON AND TENANT FARMER.

The North Carolina club at Chapel Hill has turned its attention to the problem of farm tenancy according to yesterday's paper, and we therefore look forward to something of interest on that subject in the News Letter before long. According to the newspaper story of the club's meeting, D. E. Scarborough, the speaker of the evening, broached the subject of state aid to the farm tenant in the purchase of land. He cited the experience of Denmark and in the country of California as showing that it is sound business for the state to purchase large tracts of land, subdivide them, and resell them to industrial farmers.

Certainly there are few things of more importance to the future of North Carolina than the settlement, if settlement can be made, of the problem of farm tenancy. In eastern North Carolina especially we are drifting into a condition approximating that of Ireland before the passage of the land acts. An enormous area in the eastern part of the state is held by absentee landlords, whose interest in the land is confined to the rents it can be made to produce under tenant farmers. Many of these estates were inherited. The owners live in town and their sole effort to make a living consists of the effort necessary to collect their rents.

Obviously to have any considerable portion of the land in such hands is a menacing condition for any state to face. Much was made of the alleged oppression of the 'po' farmer' by the revaluation of 1920; but as a matter of fact a great deal of the most frantic opposition to that revaluation came from these land barons of the east. If the lands were assessed for taxation at their real value, it would be necessary to cultivate them intelligently and intensively to make them profitable; and intelligent, intensive cultivation never has resulted from the tenant system. Only the man who owns the land he tills gets out of it all that it is capable of producing. Only the man who tills the land he owns is entitled to consideration by the state as a sort of farmer who is adding materially to our agricultural wealth. Absentee landlords may be able to live in princely style themselves; but as a rule their great estates are a source of weakness, not of strength, to the state.

We hope that the North Carolina club will be able to bring to light the facts with regard to this phase of farm tenancy. We believe that the truth about the feudal estates that are being built up in some sections of North Carolina would startle the state, and perhaps set us on the path to solution of the most dangerous economic factor in our rural life.

WINTER RACES THE ROAD BUILDERS. Whatever hopes may have been entertained of a finished road between Greensboro and Mehane for this winter are glimmering out. There is hardly a chance for the completion of the Gibsonville road. But there is an even chance or better that the winter's traffic will have a hard road, with the exception of the hill at Haw river. The way they are building base nowadays it is about as good a surface as the older concrete; rides better, in fact than some of that. It is getting well along towards December 15 when concrete and asphalt work is supposed to stop. The excavation of the two underpasses is to be let today. There is a short section at Rock creek upon which base has not been laid. If winter exercises its usual deliberation in clamping down, and if the excavation work goes well, the contractor should get these three pieces of base laid for the winter travel. It is likely to be a rather close race between contractor and winter. With a phenomenally light winter the asphaltic topping might be finished before spring, between South Buffalo and Gibsonville; but that will be finished is not within the probabilities. There is hardly any likelihood that the Trollingwood-Mehane top will be completed.

Concrete contracts provide for cessation of work December 15 and resumption about the middle of April, but the only absolute rule is that of a day's temperature. With the thermometer at 45 and rising, in the morning, a state highway contractor may lay base that day, if he chooses; if the thermometer is stationary at 45 the chances are that work laid that day will be rejected, and time and material wasted. Contractors who keep their organizations intact through the winter count upon several spells warm enough to lay concrete, and this is warranted by average temperature statistics. The comparatively late date when this sort of work is stopped by the weather, and the comparatively early opening in spring, together with the fact that grading operations can usually be carried on the greater part of the winter, have been factors of large importance in expediting North Carolina's building schedule. These factors have had their weight with scores of contractors who, have either come into the state or tried to come in.

AN IDEA BIG ENOUGH TO CARRY ITSELF.

The universal conscription idea stood up well at the New Orleans convention of the American legion. The broadest declaration, says the Legion paper, the Stars and Stripes, was that of a policy for governmental control of men, materials and prices in case of war. The Stars and Stripes continues: "In other words, the Legion records itself as demanding that for the next war we do not limit ourselves to drafting men and sending them to fight, but that we should also conscript men for all lines of labor at home, and materials, and the services of the government, or by the civil population. Here then is the Legion's suggested cure for profiteering, for the cost of carrying and the exemption of some workers while others are conscripted. Conscript all, and conscript all, at least in the case of price fixing in that case would be practically equal to conscription, at least in the case of price fixing. It is a big program, as unattainable as war itself. And in its basic idea it is not so different from the conscription of men, materials and services, but it is based on equality and fairness and united effort in time of national emergency. Some people will see in this program a great vision of democracy, a vision of the future of the nation thoroughly prepared for all emergencies, and thoroughly competent to wage war if need be with the least possible working of the least possible upsetting of the status quo of domestic affairs. All of the man power of the country would be apportioned, at equalized wages, to duty either at the front or in the field, and the material needs of the government would be immediately available at cost. All other material wealth needed for the life of the country, would be instantly under control as to price and distribution, and no man would be heard of. The nation would cease to consist of 100,000,000 individuals, but would be a unit of 100,000,000 working to win the war. Certainly there is no flaw in the logic of such a plan. It not only offers a great step toward that preparedness which the legion and many others have sought, but it answers one of the pleas of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the profit out of war. If those who imagine that war is made for the benefit of the steel trust, are sincere in that belief, they will welcome this idea of universal conscription of manhood and material. The idea is so big that it will need much discussion before the nation is ready to accept it. It is based on a common sense, and it is based on the plea of the pacifists. It takes the