

TICKETS FOR FOOTBALL GAME THANKSGIVING IN VIRGINIA SELLING FAST

Advance Sale For Carolina-Virginia Grid Struggle Unusually Large

CAROLINA IS FAVORITE

(Special to Daily News.) Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 21.—Advance sale of tickets for the Virginia-North Carolina game Thanksgiving day on Lambeth field has been unprecedented in the history of University of Virginia athletics according to Killis Brown, graduate manager, who has been almost swamped with enough applications for tickets to sell out several sections in the stadium.

As was the case in the Washington and Lee game the Virginia student body and supporters will have seats in the bleacher section on the west side of the field. The stadium will be reserved for visitors from out of Charlottesville.

From North Carolina several special trains are to be run to Charlottesville on the day of the game for the Tar Heel invasion is to be not only one of the football squad from Chapel Hill but by supporters from all over the Old North State.

Virginia enthusiasts are also planning to turn out in full force for what is expected to be the best game in many years between the two schools. Mr. Brown is selling tickets as fast as the applications come into his office. The price for seats is $2 regardless of location in stadium or extra seats.

If the business end of the football team is being kept busy the squad itself is even more so for the Orange and Blue men have entered upon a period of intensive training for Carolina. Yesterday afternoon the work was light but today the men went through a stiff two hours of drill under Coaches Campbell and Abel.

Carolina has something of an edge on Virginia if the records of the teams may be taken as an indication, but the Old Dominion warriors are full of fight and are determined to win from their old rivals this year. They understand that they are up against the strongest team in the V. M. I. and that unless they put out every possible effort North Carolina will add another to their string of victories. Since Carolina is equally determined to win, the game is expected to be one of the hardest fights in the south this season.

2 PITCHERS CHARGED WITH BREAKING LAW

Chicago, Nov. 21.—Investigation of reports that two major league baseball players are violating the rule regarding barn storming by playing winter baseball on the Pacific coast, was started today by Commissioner Landis upon his return from the east. The players mentioned are Bill Lewis, pitcher of the Boston Red Sox, and "Red" Oldham, twirler of the Detroit Tigers. They are alleged to have been members of a club which played in Los Angeles last Sunday. The barnstorming rule provides that "no player shall participate in any exhibition game after October 31, unless in special instances and then only with the unanimous consent of the advisory council."

"No permission has been given to Flery or Oldham to play baseball after October 31," said M. O'Connor, secretary to the commissioner, said today.

WAKE FOREST READY FOR SATURDAY GAME

(Special to Daily News.) Wake Forest, Nov. 21.—Final practice is being held daily for the gala day football classic that will be staged at Wake Forest Saturday afternoon when the gold and black colors mix in tangled competition with the red and white.

Coaches Levens and Wiley are whipping the squad of 22 men into excellent condition for the meet which will be held on the Wake Forest campus. The game is expected to witness a battle worth seeing Saturday. Last season after Wake Forest had lost to Trinity the Old Gold and black eleven staged a comeback and held the strong State eleven to a 14-6 game.

Wake Forest's line has been weakened somewhat by the absence of Johnnie Johnston from right end on account of an injury received in practice several days ago. It is doubtful whether he will be able to play Saturday or not. The remainder of the first string men are in fair shape and will be in the line-up of the greatest game to be played on the local gridiron in recent years.

GEORGIA AND KANSAS READY TO STAMP OUT THE ORDER OF KLANS

ACTION STARTED IN KANSAS

Governor Allen of Kansas, referring to the fact that Klans stand against the Klan has already been undertaken by his state, says: "The attorney general is filing with the Supreme court a petition asking for an order of injunction against the Klan in this state. It is not right to business because it is not chartered in this state. Its charter is granted by Georgia, and the Kansas statute requires that all incorporated organizations of this state be organized by the charter board of this state before such an organization is authorized to do business. None of the officers of this organization have ever sought to comply with this law."

"Although the organization boasts of its loyalty to law, it has deliberately refused to make any appearance before the board of state officers, as required by the Kansas statutes and file its articles of incorporation. A number of minor offenses and some of more serious character are being committed in the name of the Klan, and when we seek to find the responsible member of the Klan we are unable to do so in any community. Our decision therefore, to ask the Supreme court for an order of injunction against the organization is because either Klansmen, or men masquerading as Klansmen, are assuming the right in this state to put on masks and to take the law into their own hands."

Evidence is Collected. "The law officers have managed to secure sufficient evidence to enable us to serve this writ upon some of the Klans in this state. The petition is granted by the Supreme court. It will then be unlawful for any organizer to solicit memberships for the Klan in Kansas. It will be unlawful for Klans to hold meetings or to function as a secret body."

GERMAN GENERALS ARE PLANNING WAR, WARNS THE TIGER OF FRANCE

(Continued from Page One.) war for and who she had loved. He was not to be a man of the last part where she was granted time to think. No sacrifice was demanded of her except the will to assert herself, as the people she had vanquished at the present moment.

M. Clemenceau, showing little sign of fatigue, spoke for nearly an hour and a half. There was only one bit of disturbance. That was when a heckler in the balcony screamed a few words. "Put him out" came cries from various parts of the house.

The tiger never halted, continuing to speak as if he had no audience. A simple "Citizen." To the strains of the Marseillaise and the Star Spangled Banner, M. Clemenceau, of-time premier of France, who now proclaims himself a simple "citoyen" stepped upon the stage of the Metropolitan opera house, and faced an audience that packed the balcony and orchestra to the topmost gallery.

He entered the building by a side door and delivered a speech that would have filled the auditorium several times over, and that, denied admittance, lingered anyhow in hope of getting a glimpse of the picture. When he stepped from the wings there were cheers and cries of "Vive Le Tiger" and "Vive La France" mingled with the more polite handclapping.

Clemenceau took his place behind a low semi-circle of palms and chrysanthemums that obscured his squat figure almost to his waist. The chair provided for him was a small, cane seated affair, appropriate, as the Tiger said, for "a simple citizen." The management had provided a big throne chair, but the Tiger, visiting the auditorium late this afternoon, for a final inspection it would make him "look like Queen Victoria."

Above his head hung a cluster of amplifying horns to carry his voice to the big audience. Flashes of the two nations which the Tiger hopes by his tour to weld more closely, were entwined over the stage. The famous golden horseshoe of the opera house in French and American colors.

Audience A Select One. The audience was a select one. Evening clothes predominated, and in the upper galleries, an army of plain clothees lined the corridor through which he entered. Notables on the stage included General Pershing, the American ambassador to Great Britain, introduced the war premier, the grizzled veteran of Waterloo who had a finger in the history of the world, as "Le Pere La Victoire."

Explaining that the speech of "foreign relations, under whose auspices this meeting was held, was not a political one, but one of mere consequence to the well being of the American people, he then said that the service of France in the world, was the man who, when the hearts of men were faint, had led the French to

TO CONDEMN LAND FOR THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL

School Board Orders Proceedings Started for the W. G. Balsley Property.

OBTAIN WEST LEE LAND

The city school board last night passed a resolution authorizing the start of condemnation proceedings against the W. G. Balsley property on North Mendallin street for the use of the new high school.

Efforts by the board to buy the property have proved unsuccessful. Members said they had previously sought to arrive at a fair price by having an appraisal made by a committee of the Greensboro real estate board. An official appraiser will be named by the school board, and he, together with an appraiser named by the owners and a third named by the other two, will fix the price.

The Balsley property contains about six acres. Additional property in the vicinity has already been bought and it is probable that other pieces of property will be added so as to give there approximately 15 acres.

Further steps were taken last night by the board concerning property around the West Lee street school, which has been in the hands of the school, and the house at the corner of Cedar and Union streets, both of which are now owned by the board. The house at the corner of Cedar and Union streets, both of which are now owned by the board.

The board, furthermore, confirmed the purchase of the house and lot at 1010 S. D. street. Here again the property is to be added to the West Lee street school grounds.

Members were authorized for the new negro school on Cedar street, the bids to be opened December 11 at 8 p. m. This school will be the fourth to come out of the $1,000,000 bond issue. The school on Cypress street, is now well underway and the cornerstone was laid a few days ago. The West Lee street and the Ashboro street schools have been completed and the new negro school will be started immediately after the letting of the contract and it, together with all the others, will be ready for use at the opening of the 1923 session.

A new insurance system was also approved by the board. Insurance on all school property will be now turned over entirely to the Greensboro Insurance company, an alliance among the members of the exchange on a pro rata basis. A committee is to be appointed by the exchange to decide all details. Hitherto, the insurance has been handled by an annoying proposition to the board, with many local agencies seeking it.

The board members said, has tried to get the insurance company to pay a considerable amount. The board has been watching the process of newspaper formation from its first to last stage. The students were either members of the Carolinian staff or those interested in newspaper work.

The students were visitors of the workers in the Daily News office and these workers readily and most intelligently explained the fundamental principles of the newspaper process. The mechanical department appeared the most bewildering to these students for here linotype machines dropped out of the head upon the press. From here the students saw the making of the mats, and the rounding of the plates for the press, which turns out the newspaper. Every department of the office was visited by the students and their puzzled look, when they entered, disappeared when the morning copy of the Daily News was handed to them right off the press.

Those in the party were: Misses Nell Craig, Margaret Calvert, Claude Aycock, Lisbeth Parrott, Healee Watts, Joe Clark, Sam Davis, Sara Harrison, Annie Torrance, Juanita Matthews, Marion Platt, Celeste Jonas, Helen Clayton, Frances Waters, Virginia Harris, Iola Parker, Margaret Bridgers and Virginia Terrell and R. T. Thornton.

The board of governors voted that the A. A. U. should take direct control of women's athletics and athletic clubs throughout the country, making them subject to A. A. U. regulations.

A sub-committee to draw up plans for women's participation was authorized to be appointed later.

THREE LARGE SUITS FILED IN DANVILLE

Real Silk Hosiery Mills is Asking $100,000 From the Retail Merchants of Danville.

(Special to Daily News.) Danville, Va., Nov. 21.—Three big damage suits have been filed in the local courts, the trials scheduled to be heard during the coming months. The heaviest of these actions was filed by the Real Silk Hosiery Mills, Inc. with headquarters in Indianapolis, which concerns seeks to recover $100,000 from the Retail Merchants' association of Danville.

Pomona High School Licks Pleasant Garden by 17-14

Pomona high school won over Pleasant Garden high school in a fast game of basketball yesterday afternoon by a score of 17 to 14. Harvey, the Pomona right forward, led all others as a point getter.

Neese, the Pleasant Garden center, played the most sensational game for that quiet, but the inability to locate the goal was the hindrance of both teams. This is the second game the Pomona high school has played, and it has won both.

ROCKY MOUNT ELEVEN BEATS ROANOKE RAPIDS

(Special to Daily News.) Rocky Mount, Nov. 21.—With both teams fighting furiously but with a fine spirit of sportsmanship displayed throughout, the Rocky Mount high school eleven won the championship of group 3 in the high school elimination race this afternoon by defeating the Roanoke Rapids high school 12 to 6. The two teams had previously battled through five periods to a 6-6 draw at Roanoke Rapids last Saturday.

The locals scored in the first quarter after they had blocked a Roanoke Rapids punt. Dunn ripped off a substantial gain and Horne carried the ball across. There was no scoring in the next period, but in the third quarter the visitors launched an effective aerial attack that culminated with Gray carrying the ball over for their sole touchdown. The local eleven emerged victor in the final period when Sutton intercepted a pass and gained 20 yards or more. Several short gains placed the ball in the shadow of the goal posts and Horne again carried it over. Munn missed the point after goal in each instance.

The game was one of the best played high school contests ever witnessed here and attracted large attendance. Munn, Calhoun, Sutton, Horne and Munn starred for the locals and Gray, Vick and Vinson for the visitors.

Rocky Mount will meet New Bern in the next elimination contest at Goldsboro Friday.

VIRGINIA DIRECTORS TO MEET IN WILSON

(Special to Daily News.) Rocky Mount, Nov. 21.—The regular annual meeting of the directors of the Virginia league will meet at the Cherry hotel in Wilson Saturday night, November 25, at 8:30, according to the call for the meeting which was issued yesterday by President W. H. Moyer.

At this meeting President Moyer is to submit his annual report and the regular election of officers is to be held. The affairs for last season will be definitely checked up and the look for the 1923 playing season discussed. With the stipulation that these matters make up the agenda for the meeting, the session of the league is expected to be of great importance.

Although the meeting is but four days off, the outlook for baseball here next season is still very hazy. At a mass meeting of fans last week a committee was instructed to make a canvass of the city and see if sufficient citizens could not be secured to undertake the club for next year as the Tar Heels, Inc., present owners of the franchise in the Old Dominion circuit, are unwilling to assume such responsibilities as they assume for a year when through lack of interest and poor attendance several thousand dollars was lost by the club. They want citizens of the city to take small blocks of the stock so that the proportionate loss next season, if there is any, will be much smaller.

While nothing definite could be learned this morning as to the progress that had been made by the canvassing committee, Tar Heel officials let it be known that they would have a representative at the Wilson meeting.
