

Pithy Paragraphs

Upon the roster of the immortals, that glittering galaxy of Greensboro's whose miniature masterpieces have been selected for the National screen is now inscribed the name of Braxton Craven, Trinity, N. C., for his best about little Bill who dubbed himself Billious.

Winners of the two pairs of National theater tickets given daily for the two best in this column, have opportunity to see the pithy paragraphs film. Winners on this film are awarded to the extent of five dollars. Isn't it worth thinking a few inches? We'll say it is. Try your luck.

How are these for today?
FIRST PRIZE.
 A Charge to Keep. (Clerk to man walking in shoe store to buy a pair of shoes): "How firm a foundation."

A Long Visit. Mike, an Irishman who lived in the county, visited his brother, Pat, who lived in the city. He stayed several weeks and had not mentioned going home at all, so one day morning Pat arose early and was crying as though something terrible had happened. In the morning, Mike had arisen, saw him crying and said, "Pat, what is in the world is the matter? Why are you crying so?"
 Pat—"You won't come to see me any more?"
 Mike—"Yes I will Pat, what makes you think I won't?"
 Pat—"You won't go home so you can come again?"—R. H. Williams, 1024 N. Main St., High Point.

Used an Old Trunk. Doctor to patient—I want you to make a mustard plaster and put it on your chest.
 Doctor (several days later)—Well, did you do as I said?
 Patient—Well, doctor, I didn't have a chest, but I put it on an old trunk.
 Doctor—Alma, Sides, 103 Meadood Bldg., Greensboro, N. C.

Mistaken! A negro half-crazy went to register for military service.
 "What is your name?" asked the official.
 "George Washington," was the reply.
 "Well, George, are you the man who cut down the cherry tree?"
 "No, sah, I am just 19 years old and hain't done no work since I's

Claire Dux

Soprano, Chicago Opera Company

NATIONAL THEATER

Wednesday, December 6th

CLAIRE DUX is known by opera lovers the world over as an artist of rare charm and brilliant dramatic power. Her appearances in American cities have added laurels to her triumphs on the concert and operatic stage of Europe, and, like other great artists of today, she records exclusively for Brunswick.

Ask your nearest Brunswick dealer to play Dux records for you.

"The Passing Show." Although there seems at times to be the widest difference between the church and the stage, there is nevertheless a close affiliation between the people of each. The stage is full of former-chor singers. Clergymen seeking the heights of oratory make good use of the dramatic intonations and gestures that are a part of every actor's training. Great and notable plays and musical parts in both church and stage. It is not so strange, therefore, that the stage has its important associations with the church through sons and daughters of religious leaders. These thoughts are brought to the mind through the announcement that included in the big Winter Garden company which will present "The Passing Show" at the Grand theater on Thursday night, December 7th, is Sam Howard, one of the Howard brothers of Winter Garden fame, sons of a cantor and all of them former members of the choir which their father led.

"Received Payment." Charles Maigne directed Corinne Griffith in "Received Payment," which will be shown at the Imperial theater today and tomorrow. The picture is based upon a story by John Lynch and is novel in treatment and plot.

The screen version has been prepared in such a manner that the spectator is held in suspense until the climax. Several of the scenes are taken in a theater and for this purpose the Brighton Beach Music Hall near the more famous Coney Island was used. A huge cyclorama was borrowed from a Broadway theater and hung in the seaside show house. The stage setting was the idea of Miss Griffith who has won considerable reputation as an artist and designer. It is one of the most picturesque stage settings ever used for a production and Miss Griffith won much praise for her artistic designing in this set. A Sennett comedy and Select News will also be seen in the same program.

"One Week of Love." "One Week of Love," which opens today at the National, film patrons of this city are in for a hilarious time of it. The picture is quite the most exciting and impressive piece of work that has been threatening to explode upon us for weeks. Certainly Myron Selanick, who produced the picture has never sent us anything quite so enthralling. Here are the ingredients that make the picture one of unusual appeal: A twin-starring combination, Elaine Hammerstein and Conway Tearle, playing together for the first time; a story by Edward J. Montague that one may call really "big" without blushing in embarrassment; direction by George Archambault that fulfills all former promises made by this imaginative Frenchman; and a supporting cast that is not dwarfed even by the full-power starring combination.

The story concerns a society girl who suddenly tires of the earth and worldly pleasures and decides to take a jaunt in an aeroplane. Unfortunately, she flies in the same spirit that she dances; and when her plane accidentally comes down to earth, a lot of her high-falutin' notions come down with her. She lands right in the nest of outlaws, the chief of whom is a sort of Captain Kidd of the mountains.

From this point on the story is conclusively and totally absorbing so that one wishes for an extra eye to view all the goings-on.

Added attractions include an Educational comedy and Pathe News.
