MANY COUNTIES HAVE NO HOME AGENTS NOW

Mrs. McKimmon Protests Action in Abolishing Offices Over the State.

CALLS IT FALSE ECONOMY

(By Associated Press.)
Raleigh, Dec. 16.—Asserting that a "false idea of economy" is causing some of the newly elected boards of commissioners in several counties to "sneakily" discontinue the work of home demonstration agents, Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, in charge of this department in North Carolina, today issued a statement protesting such action and outlining accomplishments of the workers.

"Discontinuance of these agents would be one of the worst mistakes that any board of commissioners could make," said Mrs. McKimmon, "because each worker is an investment rather than an expense. They have done much in boll weevil infested counties in aiding the farm women to secure an income aside from that given by general farm operations.

"Not only are the agents helping in canning work, in home beautification, in making the home life of the farm more satisfying and real, but they also are helping to bring an income to the farm home—and this the county fathers seem to forget.

"Some of the officials can see where the farm agent can help because he gives assistance directly in the field with the main income earning crops, but they neglect to observe how the canning work also is helping, how the eggs, the dressed poultry, the little surplus from the garden and other things about the home are being used to bring in cash when cash is so badly needed," she said.

Several delegations of women have visited Mrs. McKimmon complaining about the action of boards of commissioners, she stated.

"I feel with these women that the very worst time to reduce expenses by discontinuing the work of the home agents is when the boll weevil is present," she said. "The commissioners do not know what a hardship they are placing on the women and girls who are profiting by the work of the agents."

MRS. MARSH HOSTESS TO AN OXFORD CLUB

Several Delightful Social Events Take Place There During the Past Week.

(Special to Daily News.)
Oxford, Dec. 15.—Mrs. Marsh Ray entertained the Thursday Bridge club at her home on Hancock street. The guests and visitors thoroughly enjoyed the charming hospitality of Mrs. Ray, who was assisted in doing the honors by her sister, Miss Gertrude Jordan, of Savannah, Ga., who is spending the winter with Mrs. Ray. Thomas Glenn Parham celebrated his sixth birthday on Saturday afternoon at his home on Broad street. The little host invited 35 of his friends to enjoy the important event with him. Attractive souvenirs were presented to each guest. The merry little folks enjoyed the happy occasion very thoroughly.

"Mrs. Wigge of the Cabbage Patch" was presented at the Oxford college on Friday evening by Miss Beulah McNemar, a delightful reader. This is the fifth of a series of lectures and

VESSELS NOW TRAVEL CAPE FEAR AT NIGHT

By Being Able to Navigate the River at Night Shows Wilmington to the Front.

(Special to Daily News.)
Wilmington, Dec. 16.—The big Norwegian sea-going freighter Terrier completed the discharge of several thousand tons of cargo at the Seaboard Air Line terminals late yesterday afternoon and instead of lying moored at the dock all night, awaiting the light of today to proceed to sea as has been the custom at this port in such cases for years and years, immediately cast off and navigated the river to sea in the darkness of the night without encountering accidents of any character.

The passage of the big steamer from her docks to sea last night is a new departure at this port, and one likely to establish a time and money saving precedent that will be followed in the future by agents handling vessels at the port of Wilmington. In the past there has been considerable reluctance as to allowing big vessels to attempt to navigate the Cape Fear between Wilmington and the sea other than in the day time, because of the belief that pilots would be taking an unnecessary risk.

In recent years keen port competition has changed this idea of danger. Firms, corporations and individuals now find it difficult to secure cargo for distribution unless they can offer a quick turn-around. In other words can unload the cargo with the greatest speed and allow the vessel to return to sea as early as possible. Other cargo at the minimum of time thereby cutting down the overhead costs of operation.

By taking her departure from this port at 7 o'clock last night and not waiting until the break of day this morning the steamer Terrier saved not less than 12 hours and thereby a considerable sum for her operators.

TEACHER SHORTAGE FACING THE STATE

Mid-Year Resignations and Other Causes Are Placing Many Schools in Bad Shape

(By Associated Press.)
Raleigh, Dec. 16.—Mid-year resignations and other causes have resulted in a serious shortage of teachers in North Carolina, resulting in a demand for well-qualified instructors for the opening of the new school year in January, according to an announcement made today by officials of the placement bureau of the Education association.

"There is an unusually heavy demand for teachers at this season of the year," reads the statement. "Some of these vacancies are occurring in the largest schools of the state, but there are many openings in the rural sections of different counties.

"The fact that many of the mountain schools, which opened early in the fall or late summer, are completing their work at Christmas time will help relieve this situation, but even with these additions there still are vacancies which cannot be filled with the registrations with the bureau at present.

"Well-qualified teachers can secure places through the placement bureau. Teachers holding lower grade certificates can, in places where they have had successful teaching experience. Prospective teachers who do not hold certificates should take up with the certification bureau of the state department of education the matter of what certificates they will be entitled to before they begin looking for work.

"Superintendents and school committees are not willing to employ teachers who have not had the training and this is one of the causes of the shortage," the statement concludes.

ROXBORO NEWS.

Booster Trip Postponement Disappointment to Roxboro Folk.

(Special to Daily News.)
Roxboro, Dec. 16.—Due to unpromising weather the booster trip from Greensboro to Roxboro was indefinitely postponed. This was a great disappointment to Roxboro, but it also if it had known what good "cats" had been prepared, with very chaste "drinks," followed by the best "smokes," all to be served by pretty girls. A menu was planned that would have read well around the tables of the most exclusive hotels. And then some addresses of welcome and a tour of inspection that would have been an eye-opener were to have followed.

Tobacco raisers have been very well pleased at both warehouses over the prices received. The deliveries continue good and the Person county quality is holding up as usual.

The many friends of Jeff P. Long, of the Coffin neighborhood, were pained to learn of his sudden death. His body was found in a pig pen, with his face considerably mutilated by the hogs. It would appear that he fell either on going into the pen, or afterward, as he was still weak from an auto accident. Mr. Long was a substantial business man and successful farmer.

Mrs. Martha Hamlin died on Monday at her home four miles west of Roxboro. Her body was interred in the family burying ground. A large number of friends and relatives will mourn her departure.

Inspector Smith, of the American Railway Express, called on Friday last, in response to a request made by the chamber of commerce to Superintendent Buckner at Roanoke for free delivery and pick up of packages. After investigation Mr. Smith announced that he was convinced of the need of this service and would give it his approval.

Mrs. Lenora O'Brian died at the family residence near die on Sunday morning, and was buried at Mt. Lebanon Monday.
