BORROWED BRIEFS. Civilization is just a slow process of building more emergency wards...

The poor we have with us always, but the rich are often against us...

Furnaces are like husbands. If you don't watch them they go out...

With the sultan out of a job, the upkeep of all those wives may become something of a problem...

What America would like to see is a British promise without a double last name...

The English voters seem to have taken as their motto, "All's well that ends well..."

Such is the decision of Christian civilization with regard to the near east...

Oh, well, it is nothing new. In fact, right in this same country occurred the first recorded instance...

Why shouldn't men pluck their eyebrows? They don't intend to be eyebrows by the women...

Christmas seals? You can't do it early, but you can do it now.

The late shopper is now on the homestretch and he is a desperate man.

Oh, yes—better get another batch of Christmas seals next time you are down town.

But when you pick on a Turkey that is 800 years old, of course you will find him a tough bird.

The weather: Another day of solid gloom, after some hours of clear weather the night before.

The administration has come to the conclusion that this country must take a hand in the settlement of the reparations dispute.

The late shopper, to be sure, is not so numerous as appearances might indicate. A lot of those in the grand final rush are early shoppers...

Massachusetts man says Henry Cabot Lodge has accomplished more harm as an obstructer of world peace and the natural expression of liberal thought than any man since Nero.

The chances are beginning to run heavily against the delivery before Christmas of a package mailed immediately...

The reflection on the churches of North Carolina is not the fact that 50% of the men in jail claim to be church members...

We trust it is hardly necessary to insist that we are no alarmist, but in our opinion only a situation of extreme gravity would force President Harding to call Ambassador Harvey home.

Hundreds of citizens have seen and admired and are proud of the new Huntley-Stockton-Hill store as a Greensboro institution...

THE WORSHIP OF THE GOLDEN CALF.

There is bitter irony in the fact that the same issue of the newspaper that carried the appeal of the Greek patriarch to the Christian nations to prevent his deportation from Constantinople...

A GREAT HIGHWAY ENTERPRISE.

The casual reader—South Carolina, Massachusetts or China—of an article elsewhere in this morning's paper might perhaps leap to the conclusion that North Carolina road-making activities are devoted mainly to a single road.

BOOKS ON BUSINESS.

Is a business man a tool-using animal? Philosophers have set up as a distinction between brute and human the fact that man alone among living creatures knows how to multiply his physical powers by the employment of mechanical devices.

In general is a subject whose importance cannot be exceeded by any collected or organized information available to the student of business...

It is unthinkable that the highway map will be long permitted to show these two reproaches. The commission probably has not, will not have left out of the existing appropriation, enough money to take care of any part of this neglected roadway.

EVOLUTION OF THE KINGDOM.

And he said, So is the Kingdom of God, as if a man should cast seed upon the earth, and should sleep, and rise, night and day, and the seed should spring up and grow, he knoweth not how.

STILL OPEN.

I feel it is my duty to report that despite the combined efforts of a score of roughnecks and as many more of the law-abiding citizens...

"PIDDLING."

The report in your issue of Dr. William Louis Poter's utterance on the floor of the state Baptist convention gives me very great pleasure...

SHEARS AND PASTE

The North Carolina general assembly is scheduled to assemble on Wednesday, January 3.

THE EVIL OF RED TAPE.

Several days ago, when it became apparent that strenuous efforts were necessary to provide New Bern's homeless population with places of residence, some one suggested that the barracks houses at Camp Glenn be secured.

HAD ROADS IN GUILFORD.

I was very much amused at the criticism which Mr. Roberts made of the Virginia roads and it might be well for him to learn more about the roads in this state.

largely as an emergency measure to give employment to New Bern fire sufferers, the commission let it to contract for hard surface. This is Fort Barnwell to Jasper, end of the brick leading west from New Bern.

If that's the best the schools can do, the money put in them is lost. But we don't judge education that way now. Some day when we tend toward pessimism, we find somebody who in the schools has found himself, who shortly after leaving them does something in statecraft or in industry which thrills the world about him...

When new facts no longer fit into old theories, we make new theories large enough to give these new facts room. To explain these facts we are compelled to recognize that our selves are more than we are conscious of.

CONGRESS SEEMS ANXIOUS TO TRY IT OUT ON A SMALL SCALE FIRST

have to go 75 miles from Greensboro to find roads that are bad. I live less than 10 miles from Greensboro and about the same distance from High Point and I have yet to see a road that is worse than the one we live on.

There is about four miles of road here between Guilford College and Deep River church that could be made an excellent road with very little work and it would mean a great deal to the community as all progress in any community depends on the roads.

When the road bond issue was put to a vote two years ago I was very enthusiastic and was one of the very few in this section who voted for it.

There is any one interested in this road, let me hear from you. I am proud of the progress that has been made in road building in our county but I do think that some of these isolated sections should be pulled out of the mud and given a chance for civilization before so many hard surface roads are built.

of the state government could be secured. Whereupon the attempt to obtain the houses was abandoned.

The committee felt that if they continued to follow up the matter the houses might possibly be secured eventually, but by that time everybody would have forgotten the fact.

This is just another instance of how red tape winds its way around governmental matters. A naval officer, who was here a few days ago, told the committee he had seen a serious blunder.

It looks now as though he knew what he was talking about—New Bern Sun-Journal.

"H. L. S." Far-away Tahiti of the South Seas, bathed in its memorial sunlight and redolent of the fascinating life of the great men, was washed away at New York Thursday when a letter of Robert Louis Stevenson's, written 24 years ago near Papeete to a friend of his there, was given to the public eye by one of three Tahitians on a visit to these shores.

Like a rose faintly colored, lone and faded, found on some evening coat long ago tucked away and brought forth unexpectedly in later years to revive in its own memories of his youth, this letter of the immortal "H. L. S." with its accompanying verses unfolds once more for lovers of the cult of "Stevenson" a heart that revives one's faith in the immortality of the soul.

Let the verses be to lovers of Stevenson the benediction that his heretofore known verses have been to millions of men and women and little children:

Therefore, my Donat, threefold dear thy gifts; Dear, firstly, being welcome in them selves.

Next, for remembrance of enchanted isles, And, last and most, my Donat, being thine.

Blank verse, I know, in Gallic ears; A mighty senseless sound appears; Ah, Donat, I lack space and time To put thy kindness into rhyme.

What age can wither or what custom stale the unshaking charm of "H. L. S.?"

Like the sunlight of his "enchanted isles" that gave him home in his later years, and "boms under the hill" when mortal life was no more, the candle lighted by his gracious spirit still throws far its beam, illumining when his benign effluence a world made better by his presence. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

SAM GOMPERS FLUNKS ATTEMPT TO EMBARRASS THE CABINET OFFICER

(Continued From Page One) Fayetteville, Dec. 16.—Through the cooperation of military officers at Fort Bragg, federal officers after three months' search, have succeeded in laying hands on Leon N. Yellar, a former soldier, who is believed to have been the owner of 57 quarts of bottled-in-bond whisky seized in a rooming house here on September 28. Yellar was in Fayetteville two weeks ago but eluded capture by hiding in a wardrobe which was so small that he fainted while officers searched for him.
