Gasoline is now quoted at 24 cents a gallon on the local market and the hundreds of autoists who are burning thousands of gallons every week are pretty well gratified at the reduction and the fact that even a still greater reduction may be expected is awaited with more than passing interest.

Just for the sake of being in the swim, we'd like to state that the Daily News received a telegram this morning from Hong Kong, China, saying that the Hanchuan had been sighted by a...

Of course there is hardly any one that will contend that if the city says it will move the trash from the curb, but that the city ought to do it, and that neglect along this line reflects discredit upon the city.

However, there is no getting away from the fact that the sanitary department has imposed upon them a task that with the present equipment they cannot handle, and it is rightly a matter of serious consideration for the board of aldermen, and really it appears that an auto trash wagon that will move more and at a later rate of speed than is now possible with the mule teams, is imperative. Some action along this line will be welcomed by the citizenship.

Since the grading of cotton for the furnaces of Nash, Edgecombe and Wilcox counties has been arranged for at the expense of the government, and it is solely a matter of choice with the farmers, it looks peculiar that some farmers might still stand out against or overlook such a standardization. It is in the interest of the buyer, who really does the grading to trust no mistakes and to make the grade as low as possible. Heretofore we have sold cotton that way, but now the government would standardize it and without mentals and firms for advertising vinegar "bees" under one or more of the names mentioned. Many of these advertisers make extravagant claims for the product and ask a fancy price for it which, the yeast specialists of the department say, is out of all proportion to its original cost or to its actual worth. In some of the advertisements which have reached the department the sellers assert that the substance when mixed with water and molasses or sugar will produce beer or wine. Other promoters go so far as to say that the fermented mixture is beneficial in the treatment of rheumatism and kidney trouble, claims which have no foundation in fact.

an interest either way tell the grower and the buyer alike what the grade is. It doesn't cost anything to get this knowledge and every cotton grower should avail himself of the opportunity and tell his ginner at the time that he wants samples sent to the grader.

One of the live issues at the next session of the legislature will be that of the State Highway commission's efforts to secure the returns from the automobile license taxes paid the State, and a greater part of which goes back to the counties and the districts from which it is received. It is understood that the main argument that will be used by the commission will be that the funds are now not being properly spent. In many counties, coming in such small amounts that they are practically of no avail, and in all of them for only temporary work. It is the plan of the State Highway commission to have the legislature devote these sums to the building of a course of roads across the State, north and south, at many points east and west, for at least one or two connecting highways, and the better part of it all is that Uncle Sam will furnish the money for the building of these highways and that the automobile tax will furnish an annual fund that will keep them up. Whether or not the counties of the State are going to be willing to lop off this plan for the greater cause of road building over the entire State remains to be seen.

"VINEGAR BEES"

Housewives Warned Against Substance Alleged to Make Vinegar, Beer, Wine, and a Kidney Cure.

The Department of Agriculture is receiving many inquiries regarding a substance offered for sale for making vinegar or alcoholic beverages under the names "Vinegar Bees," "Beer Bees," "Australian Bees," "California Bees," "African Bees," and various other designations. These names are being applied, apparently, to a kind of wild yeast or ferment which, as far as can be learned, was originated by the mountaineers of Tennessee and Kentucky.

The primitive process for making "bees" was to expose to the air a mixture of corn meal and molasses until it became impregnated with wild yeast and other bacteria. The ferment so produced was employed locally in making a sort of vinegar or certain alcoholic solutions, adding it to a mixture of water and either brown sugar or molasses, which was allowed to work or ferment.

The recent inquiries seem to have been stimulated by a terrific induc-mentals and firms for advertising vinegar "bees" under one or more of the names mentioned. Many of these advertisers make extravagant claims for the product and ask a fancy price for it which, the yeast specialists of the department say, is out of all proportion to its original cost or to its actual worth. In some of the advertisements which have reached the department the sellers assert that the substance when mixed with water and molasses or sug-

Saved to buy a Farm

"I own more than a home—I own my farm. I began when I was 18 years of age to put money in a Savings Account, determined to keep at it until I had enough to buy a farm, free of mortgage. It took me 20 years to do this, but at the age of 38 I had done what every one can do if they will bank money—I bought a farm and paid cash for it. I am now 40 years of age. * * * If you are a farmer and desire to have a farm of your own, why not start a Savings Account here?"

You can bank with us by mail. May we tell you how?
