PRINCETON AND YALE IMPROVE

Football Teams of These Two Institution Show Improvements Recently

By HAMILTON (United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Nov. 4.—Yale, Harvard and Princeton are not the only colleges in the east which have football teams, even if the majority of experts in the country over do apparently have that opinion. Cornell, Brown, Colgate, and other colleges are forever buttressing the triumvirate and messing in.

Harvard and Princeton on the Yale team, strong football constitute the par excellence around these parts. The sport calendar for the final games ring in football fans are on three elevens.

Cornell held the upper hand for a largely through the expert play of Percy Haughton, who has a life and fire and pep into the eleven than it ever believed it could possess.

But this year seems to be the start of a ascendancy of the stars at Princeton and Yale. Yale is getting off to a mighty good start under the tutelage of Tad Jones, and Princeton, in spite of Speedy Rush's loud wails of anguish, is giving a good account of itself.

Yale has a fine backfield in Legere, Bingham and Jacques, and a fine field general to help this trio along in Traver Smith.

Princeton has a good backfield too, with a fair quarterback in Jack Eddy to help them along. A remarkably good second string quarter is found in Ames Tibbott is as good a kicker as the east has turned up so far this year.

Harvard, on the other hand, does not seem so strong as in recent previous years when she went to walk rough shod over Yale's cohorts. There are no Mahan nor Brickleys. But Haughton has a penchant for rising to emergencies and by the time his big games are done he probably will have a much stronger team in the field than he is now credited with.

VENEZUELA NEED A NEW SERVICE

American Citizens In South American Country Points to Misunderstanding

A RIDICULOUS STORY

The News That Booker T. Washington Was Leading a Rebellion Against the American People With Success One of Jokes.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Many American citizens in Venezuela some months ago received the shock of their lives. They read the news that the late Booker T. Washington was leading a negro rebellion against the U. S. Government that he was even then passing through Richmond Va., en route to Washington, at the head of an army of 30,000 men.

Americans, after the first shock, recollected the quality of the U. S. "news" received in Venezuela and dismissed the story with a smile. In the same manner they dismissed of the report, a week after the Chicago conventions, that both had nominated a man named J. M. McGurk for president.

Preston McGowan, United States Minister to Venezuela returning to his post after a vacation here related the incidents in discussing steps necessary to better the understanding between this country and the Latin-American nations.

"News facilities must be improved," he said, "News is the big thing that is going to bring the two continents together for proper political and commercial relations."

"News of the passage of the Adamson 8-hour law and the prevention of the great railway strike had not reached Venezuela Sept. 4, when I left there and exporters fearful of having their products tied up in American ports, were not shipping their goods."

"The step taken by the United States in establishing a real exchange of news between North and South America is one that should earn the congratulation of thinking people in every country in this hemisphere. We do not know about South America as badly as South Americans need to know about us. The average American has got his views of South America from novels, the movies and tales of comic opera revolution."

"He knows little of her vast commercial and agricultural possibilities. He knows nothing of the people themselves."

"All this ignorance can be broken down by good news service, bringing the life of each nation to the other's doorstep each day."

CIVIL WAR IS NOW THREATENING GREECE

Paris, Nov. 4.—Civil war is threatened in Greece as a result of clashes between revolutionary troops and loyalists.

Following the capture of Katerina, on the Gulf of Saloniki, midway between Saloniki and Larissa, by a revolutionist force of 600 men, King Constantine has issued orders to his army to defeat every position they hold to the last man rather than surrender to the rebels. At Katerina a loyalist force of 150 fled before the superior rebel army. They retreated, according to Athens dispatches more than twenty-five miles to Larissa in the valley.

WANT SOME OF FORD PROFITS

Dodge Brothers Sue for Dividends to Prevent Use of Assets for Extending Business as Planned.

Detroit, Mich., November 4.—John F. and Horace Dodge, stockholders in the Ford Motor Company, obtained a temporary injunction in the Circuit Court here Thursday afternoon restraining Henry Ford from using the assets of the company to extend the business as planned, instead of distributing profits in dividends.

The Dodge brothers alleged that increased labor costs and unstable business conditions coming at the end of the war make reckless extension of the business unadvisable.
