FRIDAY MORNING FEAR LYNCHING Few matters occurring tomorrow will be of as much interest as that of whether or not your number has been drawn for you to appear and cite your exemptions or whether you are to prepare for service in the United States army. It is for this reason that all eyes will tomorrow be centered on the room near the Senate chamber in Washington where the master lottery wil take place. This publication has made arrangements for the prompt communication of the numbers to this office and there will be issued shortly before the noon hour an extra edition, provided the work of the drawing is carried through in the expected time, carrying not only the numbers drawn, but the names of the persons in Nash and Edgecombe counties who hold these numbers. This extra edition will also carry the order in which the registrants are called to appear before the exemption boards in the two counties.
