John J. McGraw's Success in Baseball Due to Good Fortune Scrambled With Real Ability.

possible as anything else in the success of John J. McGraw. That as a wonder as a baseball manager, it is doubtful if McGraw would be able to produce the same results that have characterized the efforts of several other big league managers if he didn't have the wealth of his backers to draw from, leaving him free to choose at will from among hundreds of ball players. The cases of Eddie Roush and Dick Rudolph are perhaps the most prominent. Roush is near the top among National league batsmen. Rudolph is Boston's most effective pitcher and was one of the main reasons why the Braves were able to battle their way to a National league championship and a subsequent world's championship. Both these men were once Giants. Roush was kept mainly doing bench duty while Rudolph scarcely got that far. Milton Strick is another example. Prei Morkle is a fair idea of a ball player discarded as a has been, and who is doing great work. There are many others McGraw has cast them aside to make room for men he thought worthy to bet for with the men making up his team. He has been successful in winning pennants and has to his credit one world's championship, but if he would gather the stars he has let slip from his grasp and form them into one team the chances are he would have a machine that would be able to crush the present galaxy of stars with which he is trying to fit his way to a pennant.

A little more than a year ago McGraw set out to gather in a surplus of star with which he threatened to make a runaway race of the National league pennant. Among these was Hans Lohr, Detroit, (didn't ever finish the season and is used now only as a pinch hitter. McGraw considers him dead all, yet it is only a brief stretch of time since he went into a trench and was a game for the Giants by the brilliance of his fielding and hitting. It is one thing to have money behind and still another to be able to build a championship team.

NO MORE RACES THIS SUMMER

Big Match Races For Wednesday Have Been Finally Called Off, Because of Bad Weather Conditions.

The excessive rains in this section for the last several weeks has rendered the new track at the Fair Grounds in such an unfavorable condition for races that the big match races that were to have been held Wednesday have been called off for good. The races were postponed from last Friday and were to have been held Wednesday, July 25, at 1:30 o'clock. This with the calling off of these races, there will be no more contests on the Rocky Mount race track in all the fall races are held.

Many of the best horses being trained here have been sent North and many are getting a good view of the track together with the unfavorable weather conditions, the management in charge of the arrangements for the races has thought it best to call off the contests for good.

There will be no more races this summer as far as Rocky Mount is concerned and there will be considerable disappointment among the lovers of horse racing to know that these contests have been called off. The man in charge of the event stated that it was almost impossible to get the track in a good enough condition as they are now and for that reason they gave it up.

These match races were to have been one of the biggest racing events ever staged in this section and some of the fastest horses in this section were to have taken part.

However, these followers of the track will now have to wait until the big race season of the fall before there are all the new races. The race of the fall will be excellent and many of the horses who are going North from here are coming back in them. So when the big contest comes off in the fall, we are to see them as they will be going to be best ever held in this section.

The recent racing in Eastern Carolina has brought some fast horses for this section and also some noted horse trainers. In view of this fact, the races in this section are better than ever before and the contests are being staged. This year's prospect to show nothing and the people in the Eastern Carolina track will have the opportunity of seeing still better contests in the future. The Rocky Mount track is one of the best in the State and has never to be a big drawing card for this city. Over fifty horses have been trained here and the trainers in charge vouch for the excellence of the local race course. Being one of the best in the State in Eastern Carolina and the people are looking forward to the future.

LIGHTNING DAMAGES GREENVILLE GARAGE

Greenville, N. C., July 21.—The National garage building on Fifth street which is in course of construction, was very badly damaged early Thursday morning, owing to the recent heavy rains which so softened the foundations that they gave way. All of the rear of the building crumpled to the ground and a big portion of the roof was rendered worthless. The night watchman said he was sitting in an automobile near the rear wall when a heavy flash of lightning came and it must have struck the building as he was struck by the shock. The damage to the building is said to be over two thousand dollars.
