

WILMINGTON GAZETTE.

THREE DOLLARS PER ANNUM.

PUBLISHED (WEEKLY) BY ALLMAND HALL.—TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1864.

[Vol. VII. No. 411.]

THE Subscribers to the Wilmington Gazette are informed that on the 31st of December ending, the 5th year's subscription will become due, and that their accounts will be brought up to that period, and presented for payment. Those who live at a distance, are solicited to inclose the amount they owe (which will shortly be made known to them) by post.

After the first of January 1865, subscription to the Gazette will be Three Dollars a Year, if paid in advance, or Four Dollars, payable as usual.

Advertisements will be inserted, as usual, at 75 cents a square for the first week, and 50 cents a square for each continuance.

A discount of 25 per cent. will be made to subscribers who advertise by the year.

To those who are acquainted with the labour and expences of newspaper printing and the present enormous rate of living in Wilmington, I would presume it unnecessary to say any thing on the propriety of this alteration in the terms of subscription; to others, however, it may be proper to observe, that the present expence of printing and circulating the Gazette, is at the lowest computation 1800 Dollars a year, (exceeding by one third its original expence) which must be paid in actual cash; and to meet this demand there is a subscription of but 1500 Dollars, from which may be deducted at least 25 per cent. for bad debts. Hence it is evident that the present proceeds are unequal to the imbursements. To sustain the Gazette on such terms, would be unwise in its proprietor, and could not be desired by its patrons.

I take this opportunity to acknowledge myself indebted to those of my subscribers and other customers who have been punctual and honest in their dealings; but I cannot agree with a certain honorable writer, that I am under obligations to those who refuse to pay after being indulged for several years, or to those who under specious promises of payment, ungenerously withhold from me the rewards of from three to eight years labour.

The Gazette will be continued to its present subscribers, on the proposed terms, unless countermanded by the first of January next.

Subscriptions are taken by the year only (except transient persons) and an order to discontinue the Gazette after the commencement of a new year, cannot be complied with until the end of that year.

Valuable Medicine.

A JUDICIOUS writer remarks, that "to live with satisfaction to one's self and others, to procure as many comforts of life as are consistent with our mental and bodily constitution, and to avert impending danger, or, in other words to preserve ourselves from the injurious attacks of external agents, are nearly the whole of what relates to the practical part of human life." If then to live with satisfaction to ourselves and others is so desirable, how can we accomplish it when deprived of that which is more to be esteemed than gold and treasure? that which enlarges the soul—that which, when possessed, leaves little more to be wished for—that which, when wanted is the greatest of wants—even that which is the greatest of all blessings, namely HEALTH! The principal source of misery, then, being the loss of this great jewel, it behoves us to find a remedy for those diseases which have hitherto baffled the skill of the Faculty, namely, nervous, consumptive, and hypochondriac. If any one man has been more successful than another, it is Doctor Solomon, who has brought his Cordial Balm of Gilead to such perfection that it never fails removing the worst and most crabbed disorders of this nature. It always exhilarates and cheers the spirits, braces and invigorates the whole frame. Such a medicine, for its healing, balsamic, friendly, and sanative qualities upon the debilitated constitution, deserves the wondrous encouragement it meets with from all ranks who have been fortunate enough to have recourse to it.

"A persuasion of the incurable nature of Consumption," says May, in his "Essay on Pulmonary Consumptions," "has thrown considerable obstacles in the way of improving the treatment of that cruel disease; and the medical world, acting under the influence of this persuasion, have made little progress in ascertaining the most rational and effectual mode of curing it." He further adds, that "the chilling conviction of the fatality of this disease has checked the ardour of investigation which upon other occasions has excited the exertions of the most industrious and ingenious medical writers of the present age." If this is the case, alas! what is the condition of those labouring under asthma or consumption? are they to be left a prey to all the calamitous train of evils a weakened constitution, and a mind bereft of the cheering ray of hope drag with it? No! No! (with due submission) a remedy, nay a cure, and a perfect one is to be obtained, and has been in numberless instances performed, in consumptive cases of the most deplorable nature—that remedy is the Cordial Balm of Gilead, a restorative unequalled, a brace and invigorator of the whole animal functions. This remedy, this Balm is now in the highest repute; nor has its merits been lessened by the hand of time, the test of all things; every day adds more encomiums to the virtues of this exalted medicine.

That consumptions, so universally considered as incurable, however hereditary, inveterate, or of long standing, may now be with certainty removed, and that the constitution may be restored, tho' emaciated to so great a degree that existence is considered as nearly at an end; is highly, fully, and beyond a doubt exemplified, in a recent letter from John Carter Mulliner, Esq. of Sho.ley, near Ipswich, dated 29th Aug. 1861.

Sir,
Gratitude impels me not only to thank you, but also to request you to make my case public for the benefit of others. My family have always been consumptive, having lost two sisters and a brother; and I should certainly have fallen a victim if your Balm of Gilead had not saved me. I have been under almost all the faculty of eminence near me; particularly

Dr. Hawes, of Cavendish, so eminently famous for consumptive cases. You have my hearty concurrence to make my case known. Finding relief from a small bottle, when nothing else afforded me the smallest benefit, I persevered till a 5^l case completely cured me. I assure you I will recommend the Balm of Gilead to all I know labouring under similar complaints.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
JOHN CARTER MULLINER.

Those persons who have unfortunately made use of that dangerous mineral Mercury, would do well to weigh the consequences before it is too late, and resort to those medicines of established celebrity and character for a permanent and radical cure, and thereby establish their health, the most valuable of all jewels, upon the most firm and lasting foundation. In Scorbatic complaints, Lues, &c. Mercury, Antimony, and Aqua-fortis, have been recommended and tried, but they have reduced the patients who have made use of them to the most deplorable state, and have left complaints which the skill and abilities of the first Physicians have been unable to cope with. These disorders fly before the effects of Anti-Impetigenes, prepared by Dr. Solomon, of Liverpool, which restores nature to her pristine state in the most gentle manner, even when Salivation has failed, and leaves the whole frame firm and healthful. The numerous and respectable number of signatures will speak more than any encomiums we can bestow upon it.

INTERESTING.

The lamentable state in which the physical art stands at this day with respect to the Venereal Disease, cannot be better described than it is in Dr. Bell's preface to his Treatise. He says, that "although much information may be obtained from two works just published on this complaint, as well as some other recent ones, there is still much left for others to elucidate." He goes on and says, "such is the effect of his EXPERIENCE and OBSERVATION, that further advantages are daily accruing from the labours of individuals in THIS DISEASE, as well as almost every other." Here then is a confession from a candid, worthy, and respectable Surgeon, founded on "experience and observation," that "farther advantages are daily accruing from the labours of individuals;" if so, who can claim so great a portion of praise as Dr. Solomon, whose labours have been indefatigable, and who has at a great expence brought the Anti-Impetigenes to perfection, and into universal use and request? In venereal cases it has not its equal for certainty, safety and efficacy—mercury may perhaps be opposed against it, but the ANTI-IMPETIGENES enters the list willingly, for upon the wreck of this destructive mineral its fabric is erected, strong, firm, and lasting! Men of character, liberality, and education, possessing public confidence as clergymen of unassailed reputation, have recommended numerous objects of those cruel diseases, the Scrophula, King's Evil, Scurvy, &c. to Dr. S's care, to whom this wonderful remedy was applied with the most unbounded success, and those who were reduced to the very jaws of death by mercury and the Venereal Disease, have been snatched from destruction and restored to their relations and friends with renovated health and vigor, and those bones which were almost starting through the skin, are covered with flesh, firm and healthful—such are the virtues of the Anti-Impetigenes, and such are its wondrous effects upon the human body! the antidote to mercury, and the purifier of the blood and lymph.

Pamphlets on its efficacy containing a great number of surprising and well attested cures delivered gratis.

The above valuable medicine is sold genuine by LLOYD & ANDERSON, Front-street at 3 dollars per bottle, with ample directions for its use.

IMPORTANT.

In 1765 STERNA fought the ballanic air of Italy to invigorate his debilitated frame. Had Solomon's Balm of Gilead been then promulgated to the world, Yo-sick might have spared himself the trouble of taking such a journey, and though it must be confessed that STERNA had great abilities as a Surgeon, and more so as an author, yet he also was a prey to the hypochondria, so that with dejected spirits and infirm health he travelled through France into Italy, and there died in 1721. If then a tour to France and Italy as we I as to Lisbon have in general failed of restoring the sick, the weakly, and infirm, were it not more laudable to adopt remedies more certain and efficacious at home? Those remedies are established beyond a doubt to be the Cordial Balm of Gilead, and the Anti-Impetigenes—in no instance do their wonderful powers relax of their sanative quality. High as the Faculty now stand in the opinion of the world, their sanction is daily given to these admirable preparations, the latter of which is described by the great Cullen of Edinburgh (by whose Nosophy on the Practice of Physic every physician is directed) as "disorders originating from depraved habit, or affections of the skin." For these dreadful calamities, which comprehend scorbatic, leprous, scrofulous, and venereal complaints, the Anti-Impetigenes is happily adapted, counteracting the effects of mercury on the human body; and as to the Cordial Balm of Gilead, the prints of the day, that inestimable "Guide to Health," and other productions, continue to waft its praise to all civilized countries. It hourly saves the CONSUMPTIVE, ASTHMATIC, and DEBILITATED victim from the jaws of death.—

Certificates of cures, too voluminous to be inserted in a newspaper, from the most respectable characters, who have voluntarily given their testimony of its efficacy, may be had gratis. It is sold with directions by LLOYD & ANDERSON, Front-street, price 3 dollars a bottle, and by one respectable Agent in every town of the Union.

INTERESTING.

The greatest of all blessings, health, was never more fully communicated to the afflicted in general than by the Cordial Balm of Gilead, so justly celebrated for the relief and cure of

- Nervous Disorders
- Female Complaints
- Weaknesses
- Lots of Appetite
- Impurity of Blood
- Head ache
- Relaxation
- Bilious Cases
- Debility
- Indigestion

Prepared only by S. Solomon, M. D. F. R. H. S. of the University of Physicians.

The Cordial Balm of Gilead is an immediate restorative and corroborant; a most powerful remedy in female obstructions and suppressions, and in cases of retention at maturity; also in weakness, morbid discharges, and irregularities about the turn of life. Youth of either sex, who have practised a secret and destructive vice, and thereby relaxed, weakened and debilitated the whole nervous system, will find the Cordial Balm of Gilead the most powerful, certain and effectual restorative.— This medicine possesses wonderful efficacy in all nervous disorders, fits, head-aches, weakness, heaviness, and lowness of spirits, dimness of sight, confused thoughts and wanderings of the mind, vapors and melancholy, and all kinds of hysteric complaints gradually go off by the use of this salutary cordial. In sickness of the stomach, in flatulencies and obstructions, it is a safe, powerful and efficacious remedy.

Pamphlets on its efficacy, containing a great number of respectable and surprising cures may be had gratis.

CAUTION.

The astonishing demand and general approbation which this medicine has experienced, have induced many persons to publish Medicines under names similar to the above—persons are therefore respectfully informed that Doctor Solomon's Cordial Balm of Gilead is sold in bottles, price three dollars each (or one large bottle containing six small ones for 15 dollars) by LLOYD & ANDERSON, Front-street.

Where may be had SOLOMON'S Guide to Health, price one dollar, and the celebrated Anti-Impetigenes for the Scurvy, Scrophula, Lues, &c. price three dollars a bottle, with copious directions for its use.
